Physical description of property and statement of historical significance:

The Lebanon Racket Club is a one-story stucco, flat roof commercial building. The north facade is divided into five bays with a new recessed entry with black glazed tile in the center bay and new two-light fixed window set above a low, black glazed tile wall in each side bay. The pilasters which divide the bays extend to the parapet. There are three pilasters on the otherwise blank west facade.

The Kirkpatrick Motor Company was operated by Hugh Kirkpatrick who was one of Lebanon's mayors, and had the early Ford dealership in town.
