Mem'ries light the corners of my mind,
Misty water color mem'ries
Of the way we were.

Scattered pictures of the smiles we left behind,
Smiles we gave to one another
For the way we were.

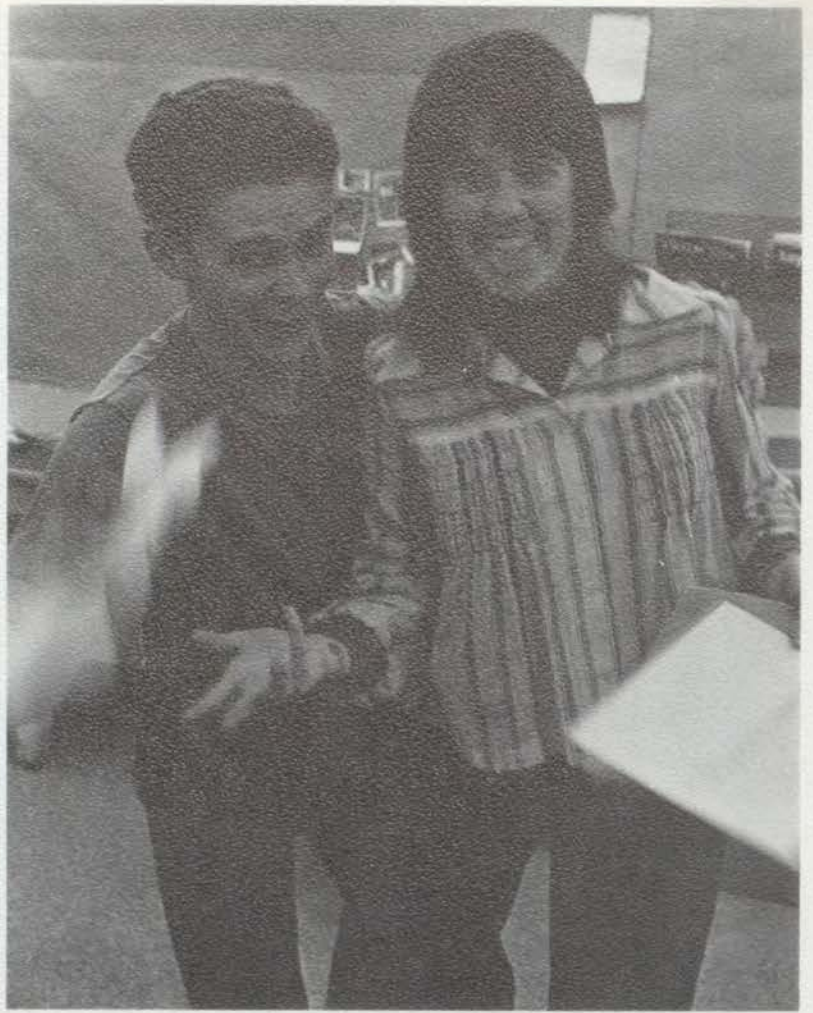

Can it be that it was all so simple then or has time re-written every line?
If we had the chance to do it all again, tell me would we? Could we?

Mem'ries may be beautiful, and yet,
What's too painful to remember we simply choose to forget.

So it's the laughter
we will remember,
whenever we remember the way we were . . . THE WAY WE WERE.

"The Way We Were"

Registration

Registration brought in the excitement and suspense for a new year. Although school had not quite started, the anticipation of the year could be felt among all. Over 400 Freshmen made their way in, not sure where to go or what to do, while the Sophomores roamed the familiar halls. Juniors, who had finally become upper-classmen, went through the lines with ease. With the knowledge that this was their last year, Seniors eagerly paid their cap and gown fees. New teachers appeared, as anxious as new students.

Through it all, the students looked ahead to the promise of new friends and classes.

Homecoming

The festivities of Homecoming 1974 began with the traditional Serpentine as the Varsity Rally led the student body downtown. The spirit and enthusiasm of Homecoming began here as they made their noisy way down Main Street and to the Warrior field.

The theme chosen for Homecoming 1974 was "A Season for Warrior Victories." Each class put in many hours of work as they constructed a float to fit the theme. The class of 1975 won the float competition for the second consecutive year with their subtheme, "Autumn . . . a time for Warrior Wins." The crowning of Queen Beth Eastwood by Senior Class President, Jay Gould, highlighted the Half-time activities.

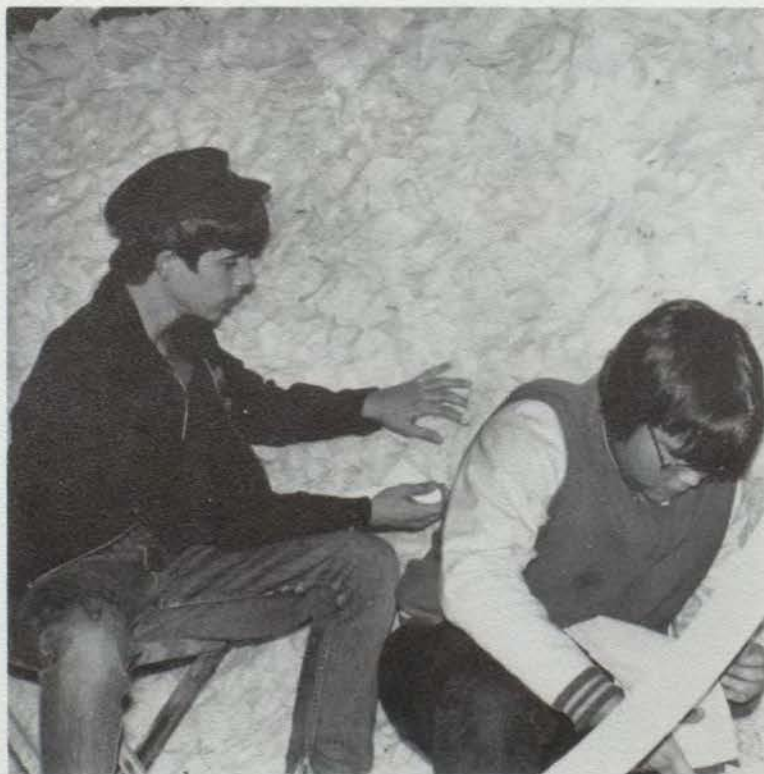

Although the Warriors suffered a defeat at the hands of the West Albany Bulldogs, 20-15, the spirit of the evening was evident.

Winter Formal

A tradition revived, the Winter Formal was held on the evening of December 21. Sponsored by the Senior Class, the theme chosen for the dance was "Knights in White Satin."

Decorations of silver snowflakes and Christmas trees, along with small tables and candlelight, provided a mellow atmosphere in the cafeteria.

Couples enjoy the atmosphere while dancing to the music.

Thieves Carnival

"Thieves Carnival," the fall production was performed November 14, 15 and 16 under the supervision of Miss Susan Loomis and Student Director, Robin Hassenger. It was a delightful comedy that took place in the resort village of Vichy, France.

The main characters included rich, bored, Lady Hurf, who was constantly looking for entertainment. Her two neices, sophisticated Eva and naive Juliette, possess abundant doweries. They are pursued throughout the play by two fortune hunters, Dupont Dufort Senior and Dupont Dufort Junior. Lord Edgard the guardian of the neices attempts to protect them. The trio of thieves, Peterbono, Hector, and Gustave masquerade as Spanish Grandees to take advantage of Lady Hurf.

The comedy ends with the unmasking of the thieves while Juliette and Gustave reveal their love for each other.

Lord Edgard (Kelly Toombs) crumples with sorrow.

Spirit Week

Class meetings, planning of slogans and the painting of posters started the fun-filled week known as Spirit Week. Posters soon covered the halls with colors depicting individual classes.

Lunch hours were spent by some of the classes walking down the halls chanting yells for their class and the team. A pep assembly held Thursday afternoon summed up the spirit raising projects of the week. Each class performed a skit or some other kind of entertainment.

The classes were kept in suspense until the winner was announced at the wrestling tournament Friday night. With the Senior and Junior competition judged equal, the classes were both awarded the trophy and so ended the truly exciting week.

Junior Miss Pageant

Under the bright lights in the Gore School gymnasium November 9, Mr. Bill Frazier, the MC, presented the eight contestants for the 1974-75 Junior Miss Pageant.

The girls were evaluated by six judges from Albany. Points were awarded on the basis of poise and appearance, physical fitness, and creative art. An interview, which was conducted in October, was considered in the scoring along with the individual's scholastic achievement. The winner of the Pageant was Cheri Sue McAllister. First runner-up, as well as the recipient of the Miss Congeniality award, was RoseAnn Salisbury. Cheri Sue represented Lebanon in the State Junior Miss competition held in Portland this spring.

Twirp Week

A new women's lib movement? No! "Twirp Week" was a school tradition where for one week the girl was required to pay for things and carry books for the boys. It started on Monday with Sally and Linus -- Blanket Day; Tuesday, Popeye and Olive Oil -- Spinich Day; Wednesday, Blondie and Dagwood -- Dagwood Sandwich; Thursday, Pebbles and Bamm Bamm -- Dress Alike and Walk to Class Day; and Friday, dress like Mickey and Minnie Mouse -- Cheese Sandwich Day.

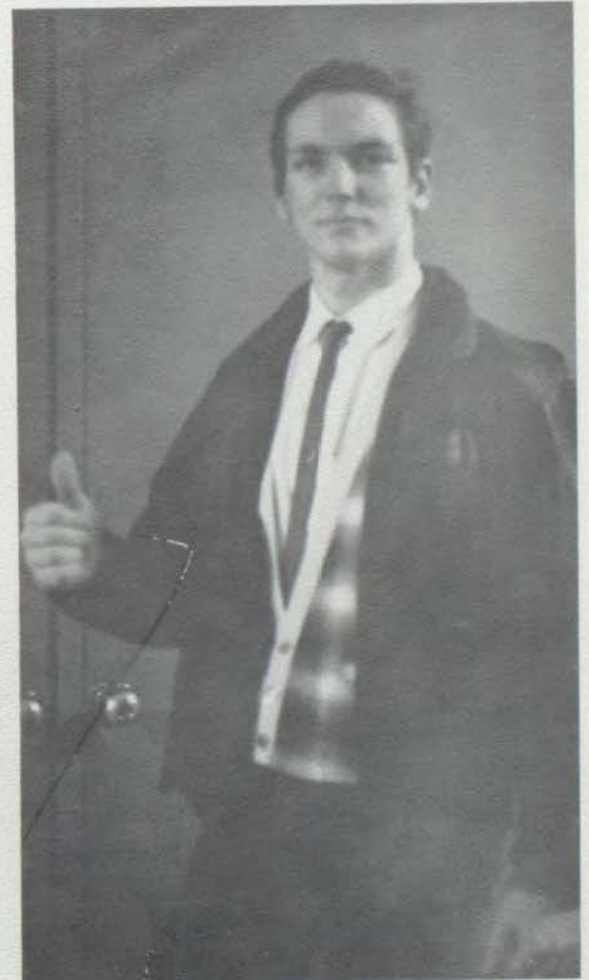

People who participated in Twirp Week had an enjoyable week which ended in a weekend date.

Eve (Laura Salisbury) is tempted by the apple tree (Yvonne Lee and Laura Greve).

February 27, 28, and March 1, the comedy, "The Diary of Adam and Eve," was presented in the cafeteria. The play by Mark Twain was performed in the round. The actors worked in street clothes without the aid of fancy sets, lighting, props, or amkeup. The purpose was to show the theater as a group of actors communicating an author's message, rather than the glitter and glamour of the technical end of theater.

The only speaking parts were Eve, Adam, and the Snake. Seventeen other people represented animals, trees, lean-tos, and all remaining props. The only real prop used in the play was an apple.

Adam (Dewayne Lawhon) uses a lean-to for shelter.

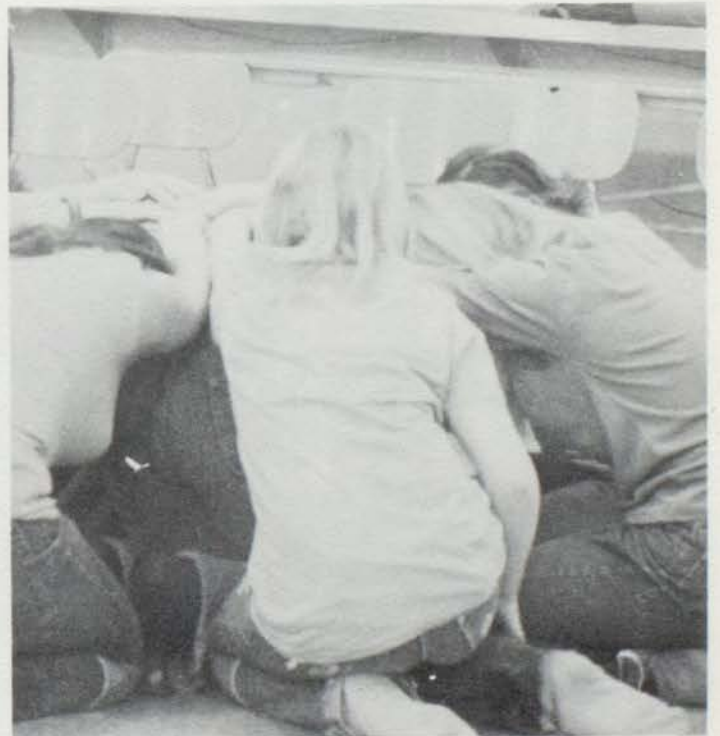

Eve (Laura Salisbury) takes a bite of the forbidden fruit.

Bike Racks

Through the support of many environmentally conscious students, newly constructed bike racks were finally put into use.

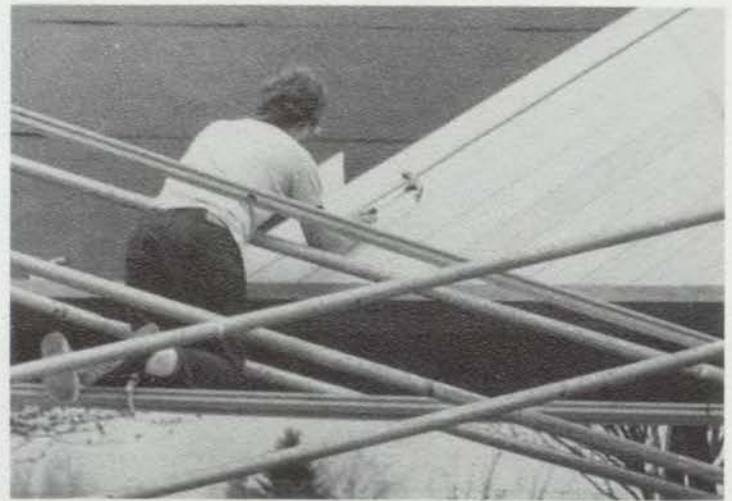

The idea for new bike racks had been mentioned several years ago, but with the lack of funds it was dropped.

Key Club boys were instrumental in the building, and with donations of various clubs, the dream became a reality.

The $2,000 project helps encourage more students to ride bikes making for cleaner air and the saving of energy.

A wide assortment of music was presented in many concerts throughout the school year. Both band and vocal departments combined their efforts for the Fall Band and Choral Concert. Additional performances were held on December 16, for the annual Christmas Concert. The groups who participated in these concerts were the Crescendos, Concert Choir, Boys' Glee, Beginning and Advanced Girls' Glee, The Grant Johnson Memorial Jazz Concert, an annual event, brought together bands from local elementary schools as well as Corvallis High School. Proceeds from the concert helped further interest in jazz to deserving musicians. A special double assembly program featuring a vocal group from Linn-Benton Community College, presented varying types of modern music to the student body.

Pep Assemblies

Pep Assemblies were held to rouse school spirit and to interest students in the sports of the school. Due to the free-choice policy, attendance and student participation in the assemblies decreased. Those attending the assemblies helped build spirit to a high level. Class competition varied from "jitter-bugging" to tug-of-war and a bubble-blowing contest.

The most successful pep assembly was held during "Twirp Week" with the students dressing up in clothing of the 1950's. Varsity cheerleaders created and performed a dance routine to the song, "Rock Around the Clock," and designed 50's yells especially for that day. In hopes of perpetuating spirit on from the assembly to the game, nearly every home game was preceded with a pep assembly.

House at Pooh Corner

On May 9, and 10, the adventures of Winnie the Pooh were presented in the musical, "House at Pooh Corner." The play, performed in the auditorium, involved students from every class.

The musical is based upon the A. A. Milne books, Winnie the Pooh, and House at Pooh Corner. Although primarily intended for children, the musical was performed in a way that appealed to young and old alike. The characters in the play ranged from a young boy, Christopher Robin, to a pair of marsupials named "Kanga" and "Roo."

The production was under the direction of Miss Susan Loomis, and additional assistance was given by the Student Director, Mary Zippler.

Graduation 1975

Adopting the motto, "I am not afraid of tomorrow, for I have seen yesterday, and I love today," by Wm. Allen White, the class of 1975 ended their high school days.

The carnation was chosen as the graduation flower, while their class colors, pink and burgandy, decorated the gymnasium on June 3, 1975.

Administration

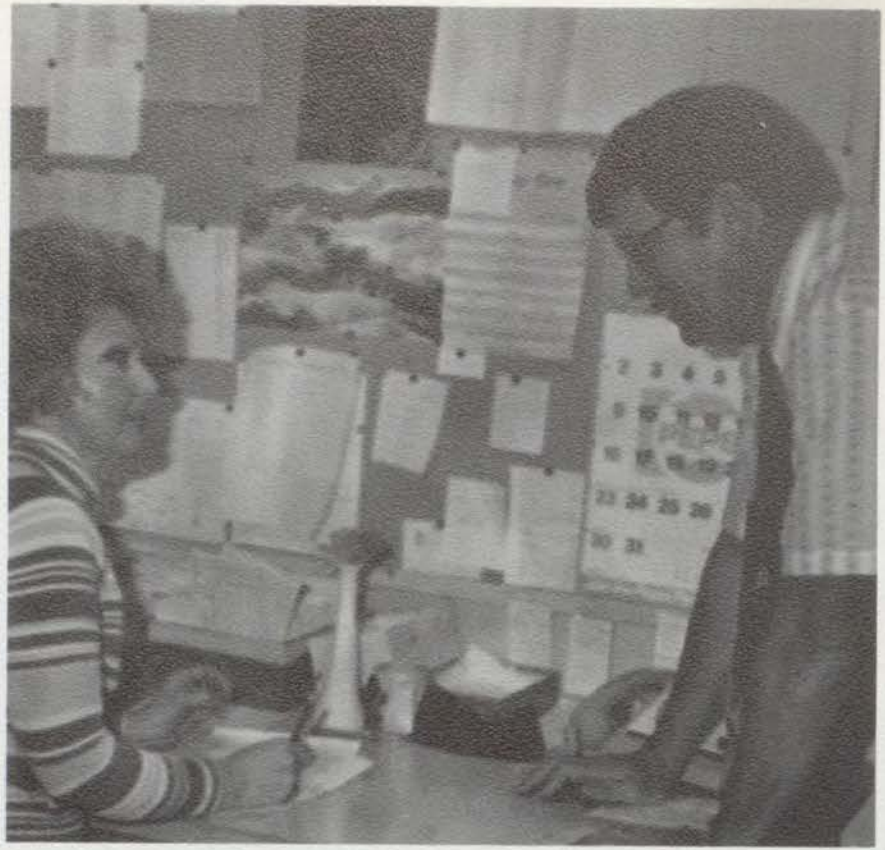

The Administration was the governing body entrusted with the welfare of the school and faculty as well as the student body.

Headed by Dr. George Henderson, the administration was directly responsible to the school board.

It was the administration's responsibility to hire teachers and handle student discipline. Evaluating the curriculum and making executive decisions were also under the supervision of the administrators.

Some of the problems encountered in the previous year, such as the shortage of gasoline and the high cost of heating oil were faced by the administration again.

As a new vice-principal, Mr. Evan Richey was in charge of discipline, attendance, and related actions. Student and faculty parking, and custodial responsibility were also under his direction.

Mrs. Betty Sanderson and Mr. Evan Richey discuss attendance procedures.

School Board

The School Board, directing body of the school, is a group of citizens elected by the community for staggered two-year terms. They seriously discussed problems of the school and acted on faculty and student recommendations.

The board set the rules of behavior for students as well as for faculty members. It also was in charge of paying bills and deciding on the school's budget. Nearly every action taken by the school was the board's responsibility.

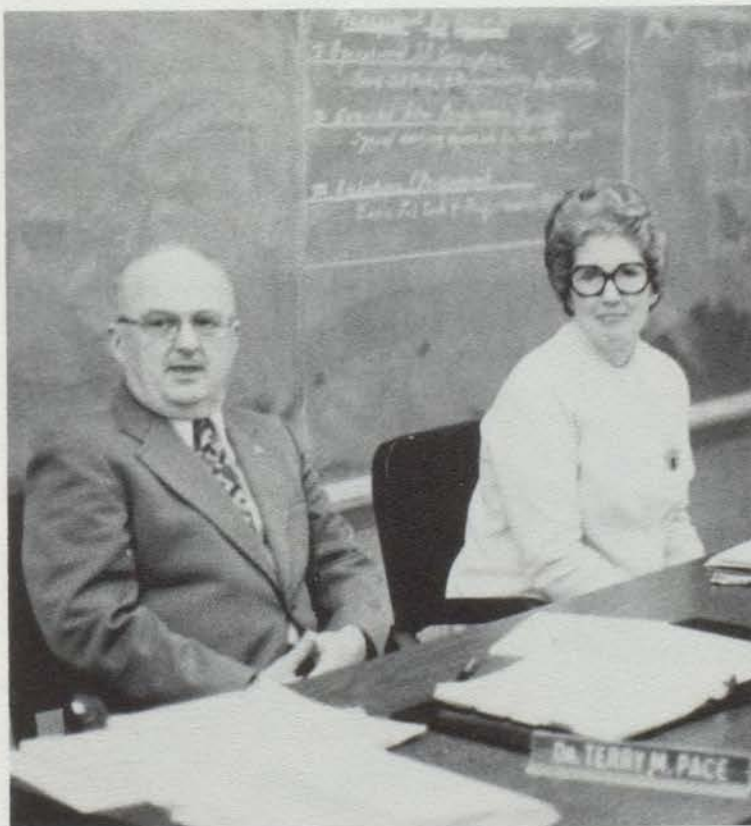

Christmas vacation, shortened because of possible bad weather later in the year, was a major decision of the board. Because of a higher amount of energy available to the community, both rally and activity buses as well as field trips were again started. Restricted by the fuel shortage of the previous year, these were discontinued. Of major concern for the board this year were a new gymnasium, expansion of the Science Department, and the lunch menu prices.

Business

The competent staff of the Business Department provides a wide selection of courses suited to a variety of students whose future plans are in the business world.

Courses include, Fundamentals of Typing, Vocational Office Procedures, Marketing, Shorthand, Briefhand, and Accounting.

The Stenographic Procedure class under the new supervision of Mrs. Sherry Brubaker helped students experience the atmosphere similar to that of a professional secretary.

A new addition to the marketing program was the creation of the D. E. Shoppe located in Room 20. The purpose of the Shoppe, open from 8:00 to 8:50, was to provide an early snack for students and teachers who had missed breakfast.

Guidance

A competent guidance staff of six women and four men strove to fulfill the needs of the students. Their job involved counseling of every kind: personal, academic, social, college and vocational. They tried to make the students aware of different careers with a large amount of information available, and they stressed this on a personal one to one basis. Each counselor specialized in a certain area, such as organizing testing programs, visitations of colleges and armed forces, and other important areas.

The department started a Senior paper, "The Future Times," which was a monthly issue that details many things important to Seniors. College visitations, information available, and due dates for such things as scholarships and tests are included.

The Health Department, a very important side of guidance, is staffed by a full and a part time nurse. They take care of all health emergencies and any injuries that occur during the school day.

Fine Arts

The Fine Arts Department consists of the music and art areas. The Music Department was created to bring out the individual abilities of the student. Through various bands and vocal groups open to the students, they are encouraged to continue their musical interest.

The Art Department was designed to bring out those special creative abilities that belong to the art student. The students become involved in design, painting, crafts and other activities in displaying their abilities.

Language Arts

The Language Arts classes which were required of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, had a well-rounded curriculum to benefit the students.

A new addition to the Language Arts Department was Mass Media. This course was offered to Seniors as a Language Arts credit. Its purpose was to inform the students about the changes and influence that the media has had on today's society. They studied radio, television, newspaper, motion pictures, still photography, electronic music, and periodicals by reading about them. They also made publications of the various media.

Publications, under the direction of a new advisor, Mr. Les Adams, had two staffs which produced the school newspaper, "The Hi-Lite" and the yearbook, "The Warrior".

The Language Arts classes, publications, and two foreign languages, German and Spanish, rounded out the department.

Math

Important teaching devices, computers, have been added to the Math Department. These innovations have increased the students' comprehension and speed in achieving understanding and answers to difficult math problems. Learning with these machines enables students to cope with future educational and work demands where these skills may be necessary for advancement. Jobs are continually changing from manual to automated methods.

The Math Department maintains the traditional courses extending from basic math to math analysis. Students were encouraged to explore the various elective classes once they had fulfilled their requirements.

In addition to the new co-educational P. E. system, the Physical Education Department has welcomed two new teachers to its staff, Gail Byers and Jim Roth. Coach Byers was a former Lebanon Union High School student and teaches P. E. and health as well as coaching the girls gymnastics and track. Coach Roth also teaches P. E. classes and serves as assistant football coach and freshman wrestling coach.

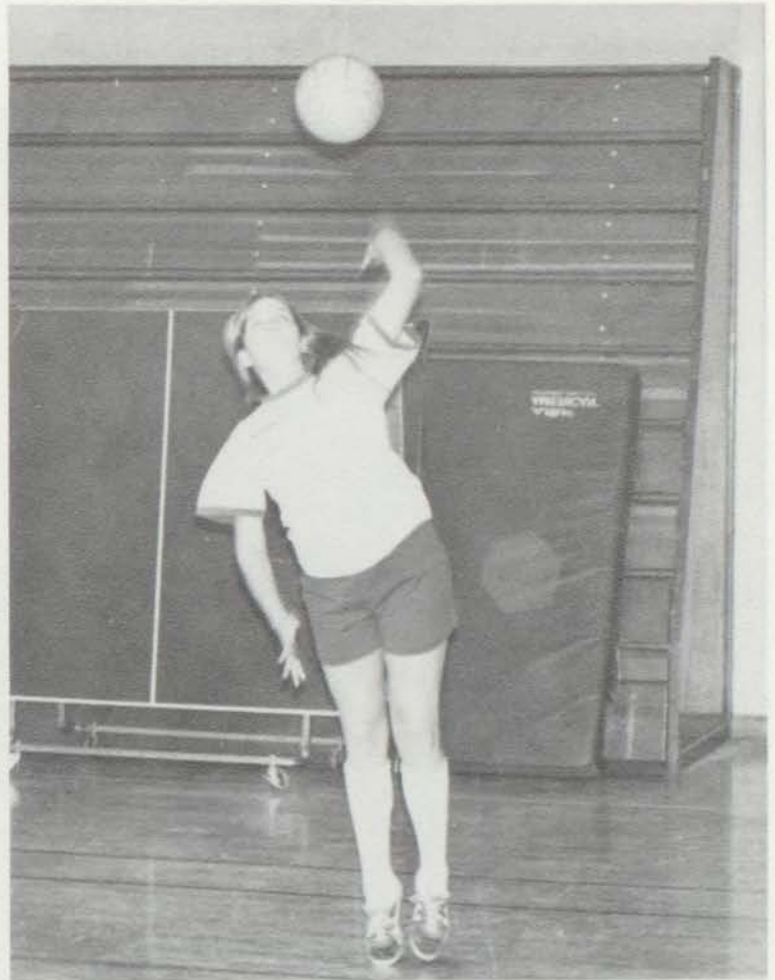

The department added two new electives opportunities for the students. The classes, slimnastics and weight training, were both designed to help keep students in shape.

Science

The Science Department, headed by Mr. Henry Burrige, consists of Ideas and Investigations in Science, Introductory Physical Science, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Environmental Science.

This year's curriculum was highlighted by field trips to the University of Oregon, Linn Benton Community College, and Oregon State University. There the students were able to observe a wave tank and wave tunnel, and were able to visit the Engineering and Science Departments. This gave the students a broader insight into the programs available for their higher education.

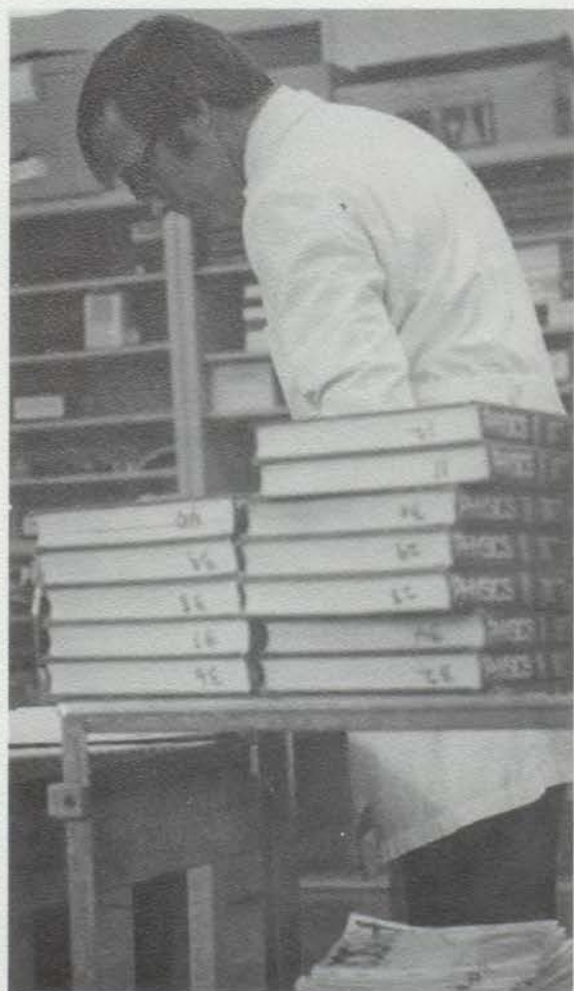

Some of the classes were able to observe a plot of land over a period of time and record the changes they noticed each time they observed it.

Social Studies

New graduation requirements have resulted in the expansion of the Social Studies Department. The Department Head, Mr. Joe Hellberg, and staff put together new courses including areas such as Prejudice and Discrimination, Family and Marriage, and Our Endangered Environment.

Each nine weeks, students are offered a variety of courses. Seniors are required courses in State and Local Government and State and Federal Taxes. Juniors can choose electives for four nine weeks though they must include Federal Constitution in one of these four. Sophomores also may choose from a variety of courses in World History.

The system enables a student to explore areas of his own interest. The Social Studies Department hoped the variety of courses would help the student become more aware and prepared for his future.

Vocational Education

Mr. Robert Hodson talks to Wade Shaff about problems of the Wood Shop classes.

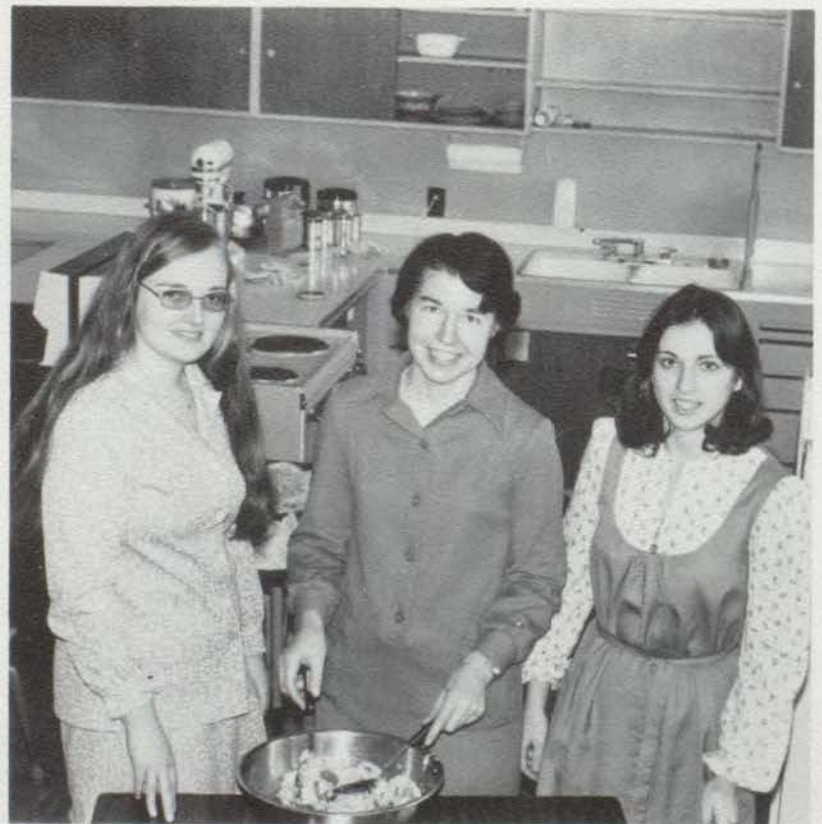

The serene look of knowledge is known by all of Mr. Gary Hughes students.

The Vocational Department has been considered one of the best in the United States. Consisting of three major parts, Agriculture and Shop, Drivers' Education, and Home Economics, its function was for the involvement of the students. All of the classes offered were electives and therefore chosen by the students individually. Many of these followed a course of study with different branches. One example is Agriculture Principles to Agriculture Productions, and then from here one can choose Livestock Techniques, Horticulture or one of the other classes that follows this branch.

The Agriculture and Shop classes covered Drafting, Mechanics, Machine Shop and Farming classes. A total of eleven men worked as teachers for these various classes. Training for a vocational school was the ideal these subjects were centered around.

Drivers' Education was staffed by three qualified men. In the class, as well as on the road driving, fundamentals were taught. Safety was heavily stressed and one of the main reasons for the class. It was a semester in length and only offered to students who were fifteen and had obtained a driver's permit.

Cooking and sewing were the common skills taught in Home Economics but there were more such as child development, home decorating and many others. They offered the regulars: Home Economics I, II, III, and IV, Senior Home Economics, Food Services, and a new course, Life Skills. One of the specialties of this class was that it was open to boys - teaching them Home Management and other basics they will need in life.

Special Education

The Special Education Department was designed to fulfill the special needs of the individual student.

Because of the small number of students in the classroom, Mrs. Janice Powell and Mr. John MacNeill were able to give the students the attention not usually obtained in ordinary classes. Students enjoyed having volunteers from study periods assist them in assignments.

The special assistance given to the students helped them overcome learning difficulties, and profitable knowledge was gained by both the teachers and the students.

Instructional Resource

In an effort to make a better learning area, the Instructional Resource Center staff reorganized the library by dropping unsightly shelves, providing various display cases, pamphlets, audio-visual equipment, special interest magazines, and a large number of new books. Additional aids were offered to the History and English departments which were located directly adjacent to the main Instructional Resource Center. Mr. Ashley Leppink, head librarian, and Mr. Don Erickson, Head of the Audio-visual Department, worked together to run the library efficiently. Secretaries along with students, enrolled in Library Science, helped keep the library organized. With the total cooperation of the staff and students, the Instructional Resource Center was run smoothly and efficiently.

Mrs. Esther Williams sorts through some books.

Newly arrived books are shelved.

Custodians

Custodians and maintenance people provided an extremely necessary function in maintaining and cleaning the school. Their responsibilities required many hours of labor long after students and teachers had gone home for the day. Their dedication to the school was clearly evident. They cleaned up the rooms, halls, gym, and locker room plus other areas of the school.

The maintenance engineers helped by making all necessary repairs and additions needed throughout the school.

Mr. Lenord Bolt dusts off chalk board after hours.

Mrs. Rosy McPherson folds piles of P. E. towels.

Maintenance men worked on the chemistry room looking for a gas leak.

Cooks

Under the careful guidance of the cooks, the new Ala Carte in the student lounge was successful. They were also responsible for serving everyone with the help of some students. These students learned the many ways in which to prepare and distribute the meals. Although it was necessary to eat in only 45 minutes, the cooks coped admirably.

Secretaries

The new addition to the office, which was finished last spring, is now used to its fullest potential. In these offices the secretaries perform their many duties which include answering the telephone, keeping the books, and taking attendance in an effort to run the school more efficiently. Without these secretaries the school would not be run in an orderly manner.

Concert Choir

Concert Choir members are students who have shown special interest and advanced talent in music. The group sang at the Fall, Winter and Spring Concerts as well as at a special performance in Powell River, British Columbia, during spring vacation. On the way to Powell River, the choir gave an additional concert at Yelm, Washington. At these concerts the group sang a rock cantata specially written by two members of the Concert Choir.

To raise money for the trip the members participated in chicken catching, a bike-a-thon, flea auction, pronto-pup sales, car washes, and a bake sale.

The Advanced Girls' Glee sings with a piano accompaniment.

Advanced Girls' Glee is open to second year students with a proven vocal ability who have a true enthusiasm for music. Membership is limited to girls having one year of previous singing experience in Girls' Glee. The class studied forms of music ranging from the classical to the modern era.

During the year they sang at four scheduled concerts held in the fall, at Christmas, winter, and in the spring. The purpose of the course is for girls to improve themselves in preparation for a possible future in the art.

Boys' and Girls' Glee

Beginning Girls' Glee is designed to enable first-year students to master the fundamentals of vocalization, harmony, and pitch. It helped the girls recognize their vocal qualities and potential and served as a prerequisite for advanced Girls' Glee. Their vocal abilities were displayed throughout the year in concerts where a variety of popular songs were sung.

Serving as a first-year singing class, Boys' Glee prepared boys for more advanced classes by stressing voice training and breath control. The boys participated during the year in a number of concerts.

Crescendos

The Crescendos rehearse a song for an upcoming concert.

The Crescendos were composed of both girls and boys who have enrolled in Concert Choir previously. An audition was also a requirement for becoming part of the group. Started last year, the Crescendos continued to provide musical entertainment for various clubs and community groups throughout the year.

They performed at the fall, Christmas, and spring vocal concerts. They also sang at the Lloyd Center during the Christmas season.

The Crescendos have sung for the Optimist Club, Christian Women's Club of Lebanon, and Distributive Education Clubs of America.

To help raise money for a trip to Powell River, British Columbia, the group sang at a dessert co-sponsored by the Concert Choir.

To become a member of Stage Band, each student had to demonstrate his musical ability through an audition or have been in the group the year before. Besides having a proven musical talent, each member must express a willingness to put forth the effort necessary to make Stage Band successful.

In the class, members studied the theory and practical application of jazz and popular music. As part of the class, students attended concerts, competed in contests, and performed at dances.

At the Grant Johnson Memorial Concert, Stage Band performed to raise money for a scholarship to be given to a music student. During spring vacation, the group traveled to Reno, Nevada. There, they competed with bands from all over the country in several presentations.

Marching Band

Marching Band consisted of students who were interested in music and who devoted extra time to giving numerous concerts. At the football games they entertained the crowds with various formations that synchronized with their music. To join Marching Band students had to audition and then were selected according to their basic musical knowledge, technique, and skills in music.

Jazz Ensemble

Martha Vawter, Susie May and Stacey Mudrow accompany the lively music of the Jazz Ensemble.

An extension of the band program, Jazz Ensemble was composed of students who excelled in specific instruments. Each had shown a willingness to perform and demonstrated superior abilities in music.

Mainly a performing group, they attended numerous band competitions. Included was a trip to Myrtle Point, where they were named "The Outstanding Band," other showings included Monmouth, Corvallis, the Portland Jazz Festival, and the Reno Jazz Competition.

Part of the Jazz Ensemble was the Combo which performed at dances and concerts during the year. It performed in several concerts at Lebanon High, one of which was the annual Grant Johnson Concert.

Outstanding soloists in the band were: Susie May, alto sax; Stacey Mudrow, tenor sax; Mike Rose, electric guitar; Shawn Perron, trombone; and Kelly Bilyeau, drums.

Art

With the addition of new facilities, the Art Department included eight new courses to the Art curriculum.

Among the new courses offered were painting, calligraphy, commercial art, leather, jewelry, pottery, drawing, and printmaking. Four new modular Linn-Benton Community College units housed the new equipment making these classes possible. Better storage facilities, furniture, and individualized supplies were made available to interested students.

With all the additions the programs faculty was increased by one member to compensate for the expanding classes.

Theater Arts

The Theater Arts Department is designed to give interested students an opportunity to develop their acting abilities, creativity, and imagination. In Theater Arts I, students were introduced to the basics in the field of theater. Set design, make-up techniques, costume design, and basic acting techniques were covered in the course. As the students became more confident in their knowledge and ability, they planned childrens' plays and produced them for grade school classes. Students in Theater Arts II became involved in advanced acting skills, improvisations, directing, choreography, and play writing. The creation of sets, programs, posters, and special effects were the responsibility of Technical Theater, which is designed for students interested in the technical aspects of play production.

Kings, Queens, Bishop, Knights, and Pawns are always on the minds of chess members. The strategic moves and counter-moves toward protecting the Queen are of the most importance. One move could mean a difference between a win or a loss in an important match.

Chess was often forgotten in the rumble of basketball, gymnastics, track and others of the more action packed activities, but the team was surprisingly large. To practice, they played each other where tensions sometimes grew short, but they had fun.

Sea Sprites

"The Music We Grew Up With" was the theme chosen for the annual water show given May 15, and 16, by the Sea-sprites. The girls used music from the forties, fifties, sixties and seventies along with synchronized skills and swimming artistry to present their Pageantry. Each girl participated in a solo, duet, trio or group routine as well as being in the finale. Posters and props were used during the shows to add to the mood of the spectacle. Large appreciative audiences attended both the Thursday and Friday night performances.

Hi - Lite Staff

The paper staff produced the school paper, The Hi-lite, which was published and distributed every two weeks to some 1500 student body members.

To improve publications, the paper staff attended a clinic at the University of Oregon where they were briefed on the lay-up of pages, writing leads, and full stories. They also accompanied Mass Media on a field trip through the Oregonian and the Oregon Journal in Portland where they learned more about the process by which newspapers are made and the special processes involved.

Student activities included gathering and writing up the news, laying up dummy pages, being aware of upcoming events, and editing accurate and concise information with maximum efficiency. Another important job was that of the photographers. They took the candid, worked in the dark room, and developed the film and pictures.

As an interdenominational organization, Bible Club aimed to involve all christian students in prayer, fellowship, and Bible study. The purpose of the club was to present christianity, to encourage student tolerance of differing beliefs, and to help students of various faiths share basic religious ideas.

The club activities included progressive dinners, carolling, gym nights, and a snow trip. The members met once a month and had guest speakers. The club also supplied the library with magazines paid for from the club fund. The magazines were, The Straight and Narrow, Campus Life, Youth in Action, and the Guide Post.

Biology Club

Headed by Mr. Lyle Brown, the Biology Club met twice a month with the purpose of encouraging the students' interest in biological sciences. The members planned projects and field trips that would be interesting as well as educational for the group. The club members were involved in building an aquarium to put across the back of the biology room. The club visited the Primate Center, the Portland Medical Center, the coast, and the Environmental Control Center. Club activities included experiments with environmental pollution problems.

The major objective of Distributive Education Clubs of America is to prepare young men and women for a career in the competitive world of business.

The club was in charge of managing the student store which was run at noon and during sporting events. As a project, DECA created the D. E. Shoppe, where they sold pastries and juices in the morning.

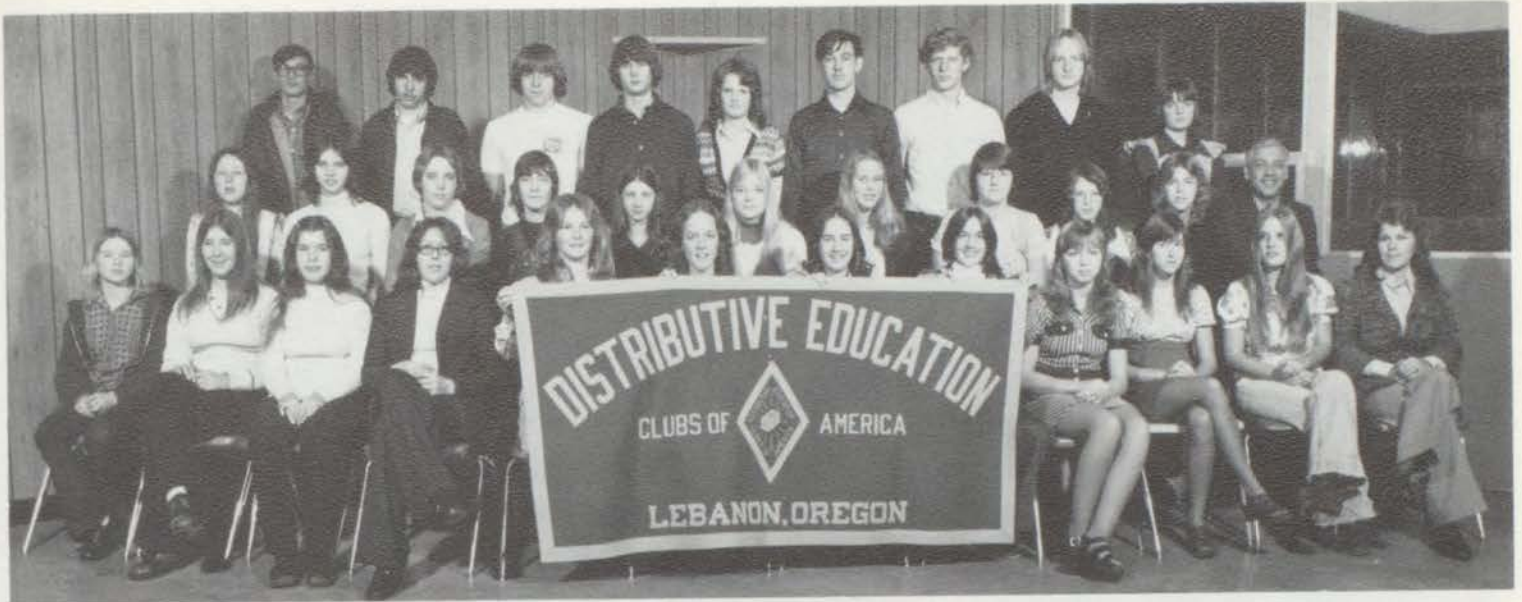

In March, the DECA members went to the State Career Development Conference where they competed in such events as advertising, public speaking, display, or submitting a research report on a related area of Distributive Education. The goal of these competitors was to attend the National Career Development Conference held in Florida.

FBLA consists of students who are interested in the business world, and who have taken at least one business course. Under the guidance of a new advisor, Mrs. Sherry Brubaker, Future Business Leaders of America planned and carried out service, social, and fund raising projects.

As a general service project, the club adopted an American Indian child and supported it financially throughout the year. Club activities included ice skating at the Lloyd Center, pizza parties, and providing Halloween candies for patients at the hospital. FBLA also participated in the March of Dimes campaign in conjunction with FBLA chapters nation-wide.

In the spring, members competed in the District Skills Competition in skills ranging from shorthand to accounting. Winners went on to the State Convention held at the Hilton Hotel in Portland.

Debbie Sweet, Ben Atchley, Jeff Moseman, Becky Moseman, and Tim Weller have early morning Bible study.

Headed by Mr. Keith Stroup, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes tried to promote a christian attitude and good sportsmanship in athletics. The members met at various homes and at lunch to plan activities, discuss common problems, and for Bible study. They also shared experiences within the group and participated in socials, games, and recreation together.

The club had guest speakers and met with other schools for christian fellowship. They attended a conference where many of the "big name" athletes came to speak to the student athletes.

Future Farmers of America

The Future Farmers of America is an intra-curricular involved club. That is, it is taught in class as well as in the club. Agriculture and FFA go hand in hand to teach the students and members as many aspects of agricultural life as possible.

Living in the Willamette Valley is ideal because of the versatility of farming. The club each year awards proficiency plaques in areas ranging from horticulture and forestry to livestock and agribusiness. Having fun is also important, so many activities are held throughout the year to involve students. Some of these are Donkey Basketball, a yearly fishing trip, and holiday parties.

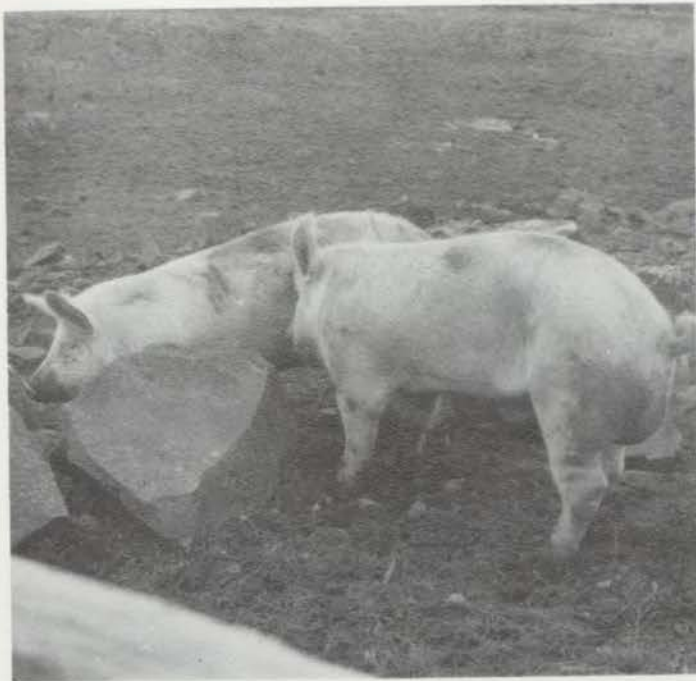

Each year an awards banquet is held for the parents. The members sponsor this to recognize their parents for their help in the past year. Even though it is in April, this is the beginning and end for their new year.

Better homemaking is the purpose of the Future Homemakers of America club. Through many activities the club helped accomplish this. Twice a month the club met to listen to speakers and to plan activities for the year. A shopping trip to Portland was one of the more popular activities. The members experienced firsthand the importance of selective shopping when buying for a home. Guest speakers contributed their knowledge to the club on many subjects such as weight control.

Holiday parties increased enthusiasm and let each member of the club become better acquainted with fellow members.

Fire Squad

Richard Denker and Susan Scott inspect fire extinguishers.

In order to enlarge the club, Fire Squad changed its rules and allowed Junior and Senior girls to join.

Club responsibilities consisted of checking for fire hazards in the building, learning to work fire extinguishers, and maintaining fire equipment. Each member had a station he was responsible for during each fire drill.

Painting the Senior Citizen Center and selling programs at football and basketball games were services provided by the Fire Squad.

Each month, the club held meetings to check on the members attention to their fire stations and to plan activities. Concluding the year, the squad awarded a scholarship to a Senior to help further education.

Forensics Club

Forensics, more commonly known as the Speech Club, traveled to compete in various contests around the state. Members joined the club because they enjoyed speaking and testing their skills while contending in different types of speeches on their own levels. Improptu, interpretation, and debate were just three types of speeches used in tournament competition.

The club met throughout the year to carry on business, to get together, and to just have fun. They learned to overcome their fears of talking in front of people and further developed their abilities and talents by speaking for the club at meetings.

German Club

The purpose of the German Club was to give the students a better understanding of the language and customs of the German people. At many of the business meetings and functions, the group spoke German to create a more authentic atmosphere.

Club activities were centered mainly around projects to help with the financial fund-raising needs of members who plan on traveling to Germany. These included a raffle and a banquet sponsored by the club as money-making projects.

The group also went to the University of Oregon Language Department after which they sampled German cuisine at a Bavarian Restaurant in Eugene.

They were responsible for cleaning up the football field after games, and they helped with the upkeep of River Park. In their spare time, they worked at the Recycling Center.

During the Christmas season, they held a party for underprivileged children from the Lebanon area.

Some of their money-raising projects included a cheese sale, a Read-a-thon at the city library, and a bake sale which was held at the Moonlight Sale in downtown Lebanon.

In the Read-a-thon the girls read aloud for eight hours for which they received donations from students and citizens. The money they received was then donated to R. I. F. (Reading is Fundamental.)

Girl's League

Through interesting activities, entertaining meetings, and other opportunities, Girls' League involved many girls in worthwhile school affairs. One activity sponsored was the sale of M & M Candies. This gave every girl a chance to earn money for Girls' League as well as for herself. With the money earned, the club was able to support their own projects and to help other organizations with theirs.

Each month, a necklace was given to a girl from each class who best represented a designated trait, such as friendliness. "Teachers of the Month" were selected and honored at each meeting as another service to the school.

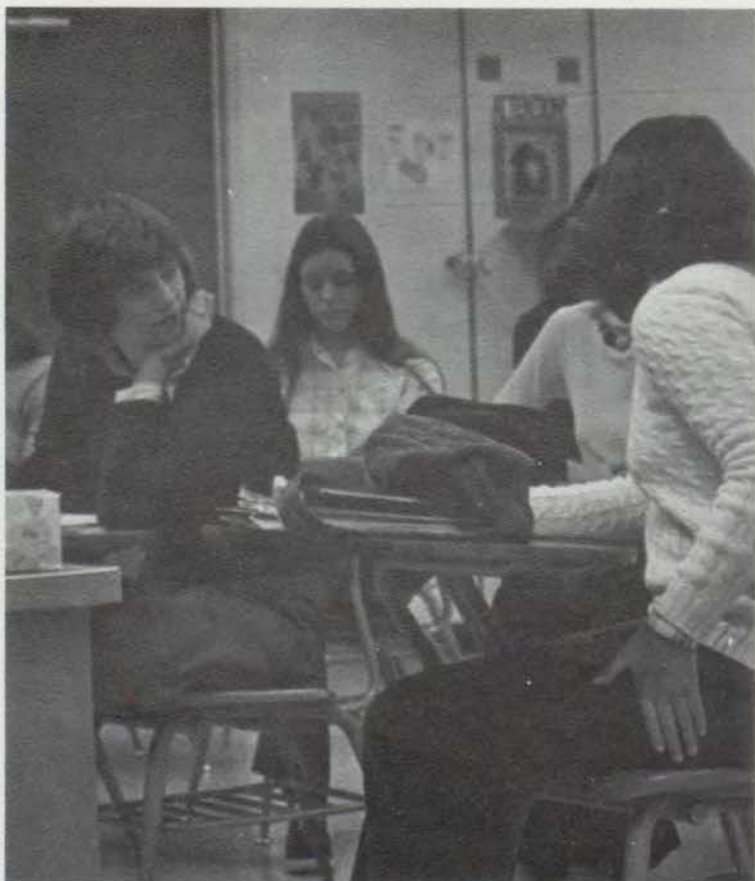

The most popular meetings sponsored by the Girls' League Council included "The Dating Game" and "Let's Make a Deal." Local merchants supplied prizes for girls who dressed to "Make a Deal." In the spring an Ice Cream Social for the senior citizens proved to be a successful event.

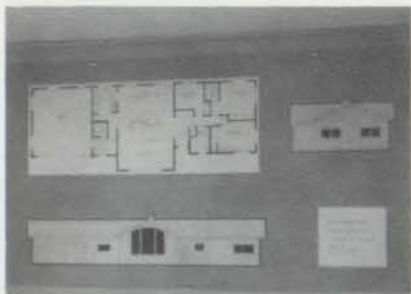

Graphic Communications

The Graphic Communications Club was headed by Mr. John Hughes. Their activities included planning a public service project, pizza parties, and a three-day spring camping trip. Club members participated in the Vocational and Industrial Clubs of America skills contest held at Linn-Benton Community College, where they used their drafting abilities in school competitions.

Graphic Communications was open to any student having two or more years of experience in the art of drafting. The club met twice a month, and the members learned modern techniques, geometric construction, and mechanical design.

The Health Careers Club was founded for those who have an interest in the health services. Primarily, the club was involved in helping students become aware of and explore the various occupations within the health area and to help them decide if they wished to further their education in that line of work.

The club raised funds for various educational purposes. One of these was for the use of a scholarship to further the education of a student interested in going on to college for the study of medicine.

During the year, the group actively participated in the March of Dimes program. Another project of the club was to give the members experience by having them do volunteer work in the childcare centers, nursing homes, and with the bloodmobile.

A new item this year was the interviewing of two different people from the health field by two members who later reported at a meeting about each speaker and his job.

Speakers from various health areas included dentists, doctors, nurses, and ambulance attendants. Movies, slides, and field trips helped acquaint the members with opportunities these jobs had to offer.

Honor Society

Service, leadership, initiative, and good character were the qualities that National Honor Society strove to instill in its members. To become a member of Honor Society, a student must have a 3.5 grade point average and good character references from every teacher. New rules provided that each member must also show his or her grade report to the advisor each semester. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors became initiated into the club in the spring. At the initiation ceremony, members also received Honor Society cards and pins.

Traditionally, sophomore members serve at the Upper Ten Percent Dessert, and junior members usher at Commencement. The members also are responsible for cleaning the Student Lounge after school at designated times.

Members of the club served at the American Field Service Banquet which is held annually to raise money for the local program and to honor the AFS students in the area. They also donated $100 to the AFS fund.

Jorgen Johansen and Patri Fanesi, foreign exchange students, spoke to the club to give them an idea of their native countries.

A mock United Nations Security Council meeting was held at Portland State University in the early fall and was open to members throughout the state. Members benefitted from the atmosphere of an authentic UN Security Council. Attendance at the State IRL Conference helped gain an insight into the procedures of the United Nations.

Sponsored by the local Kiwanis, Key Club was a growing club. They sponsored many service projects for the school and the community. Among these projects they hosted a Christmas party for the underprivileged families and children of the Lebanon area. They bought presents for the children and provided refreshments. With help from other clubs, they built the bike racks in the front of the school. Besides helping with the football games they also maintained the Key Club booth where they sold pronto-pups and soft drinks to earn money for district and international conventions. Along with the money from the booth, they obtained money through paper drives. They were able to send seven people from the club to international convention in Houston, Texas, where one of the members, Gary Yahn, was voted international trustee.

Irrational Set

The Irrational Set, previously known as the Math Club, is a club composed of those students interested in a future in math and computer sciences.

Their activities included a field trip to LBCC and OSU computer centers, cleaning the Student Lounge, a $50 donation to Key Club toward the purchasing and installation of bike racks, and a donation of $50 to the Student Lounge if that committee should have a further need for funds.

The club sponsored a $100 scholarship to a student who plans on attending college. It is based on math teachers' recommendations and the student's score on an annual math test.

Club meetings included discussions of computers and a guest speaker from the Math Department of LBCC.

Octagon Club

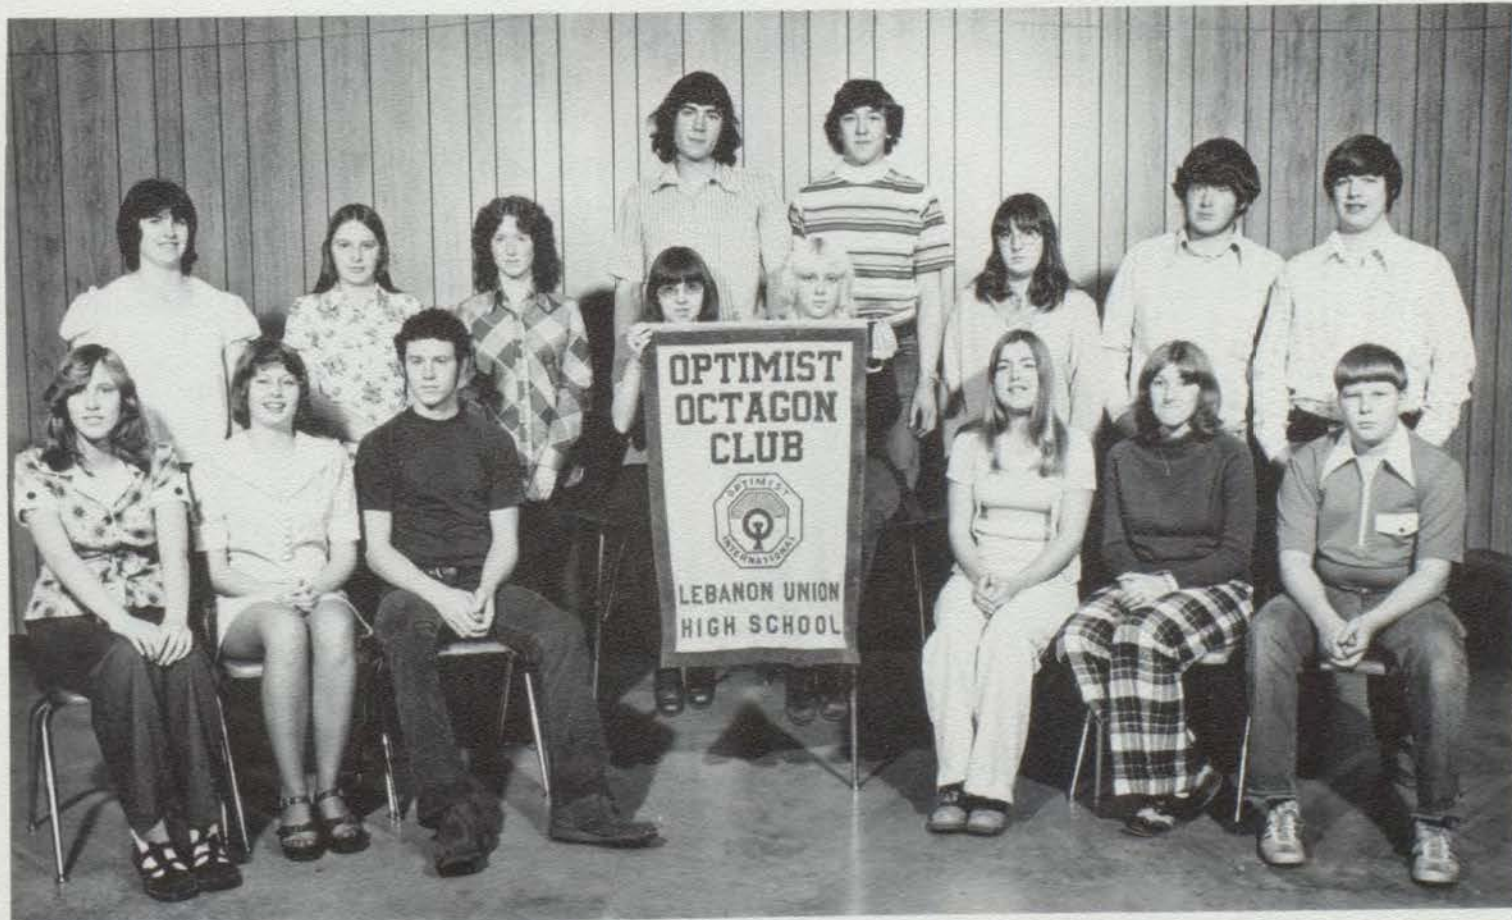

Despite being a new club, membership of the Octagons was quite large. The group, originally related to the Optimists, was started late last year with the hopes of helping the community. They achieved their goal by such activities as pulling weeds, picking up garbage, and painting house numbers on curbs.

Tools of the trade.

The Officials' Club, headed by Mr. Dean Stepp, began its first year as an organized club. The club, open to any high school student, met once a week to study rules and to test members' understanding of them. The purpose of these meetings was to make the members as knowledgeable as possible and to enable them to make the right decisions during athletic contests.

Members of this club officiate at the elementary and middle schools during football, volleyball, and soccer games in the fall. In the spring, they umpire softball games and officiate at track meets.

Cary Thurston officiates during intramural basketball.

Pep Club

The Pep Club joins in to sing the fight song.

The purpose of Pep Club was to promote spirit in all sports activities and to get more students involved. Its plans and goals were to get all girls in Pep Club active. They also helped the yell leaders with pep assemblies and at games. Other activities were to make up motions to the yells and to participate in doing them at football and basketball games. The highlight of the year was during the wrestling season when the club held Spirit Week. During the week, school spirit was raised to an all-year high.

Varsity Rally

Cheering on the varsity athletic teams and promoting school spirit were the main objectives of the Varsity Rally Squad.

To achieve better skills and techniques, the six girls attended a five-day cheerleading clinic held in July at Lewis and Clark College in Portland. The girls competed against squads from other schools and were judged on spirit, accuracy, and appearance. They received three superior ratings and one excellent.

Supporting the varsity sports was just one item covered by the cheerleaders; they also recruited boys during the football season to help with developing spirit. The group of boys named themselves the Boys' Rally Association, and carried their spirit into the winter sports events as well.

The Varsity Rally Squad not only supported athletics throughout the year, but they worked hard to get the entire student body active and involved through Pep Assemblies.

J. V. Rally

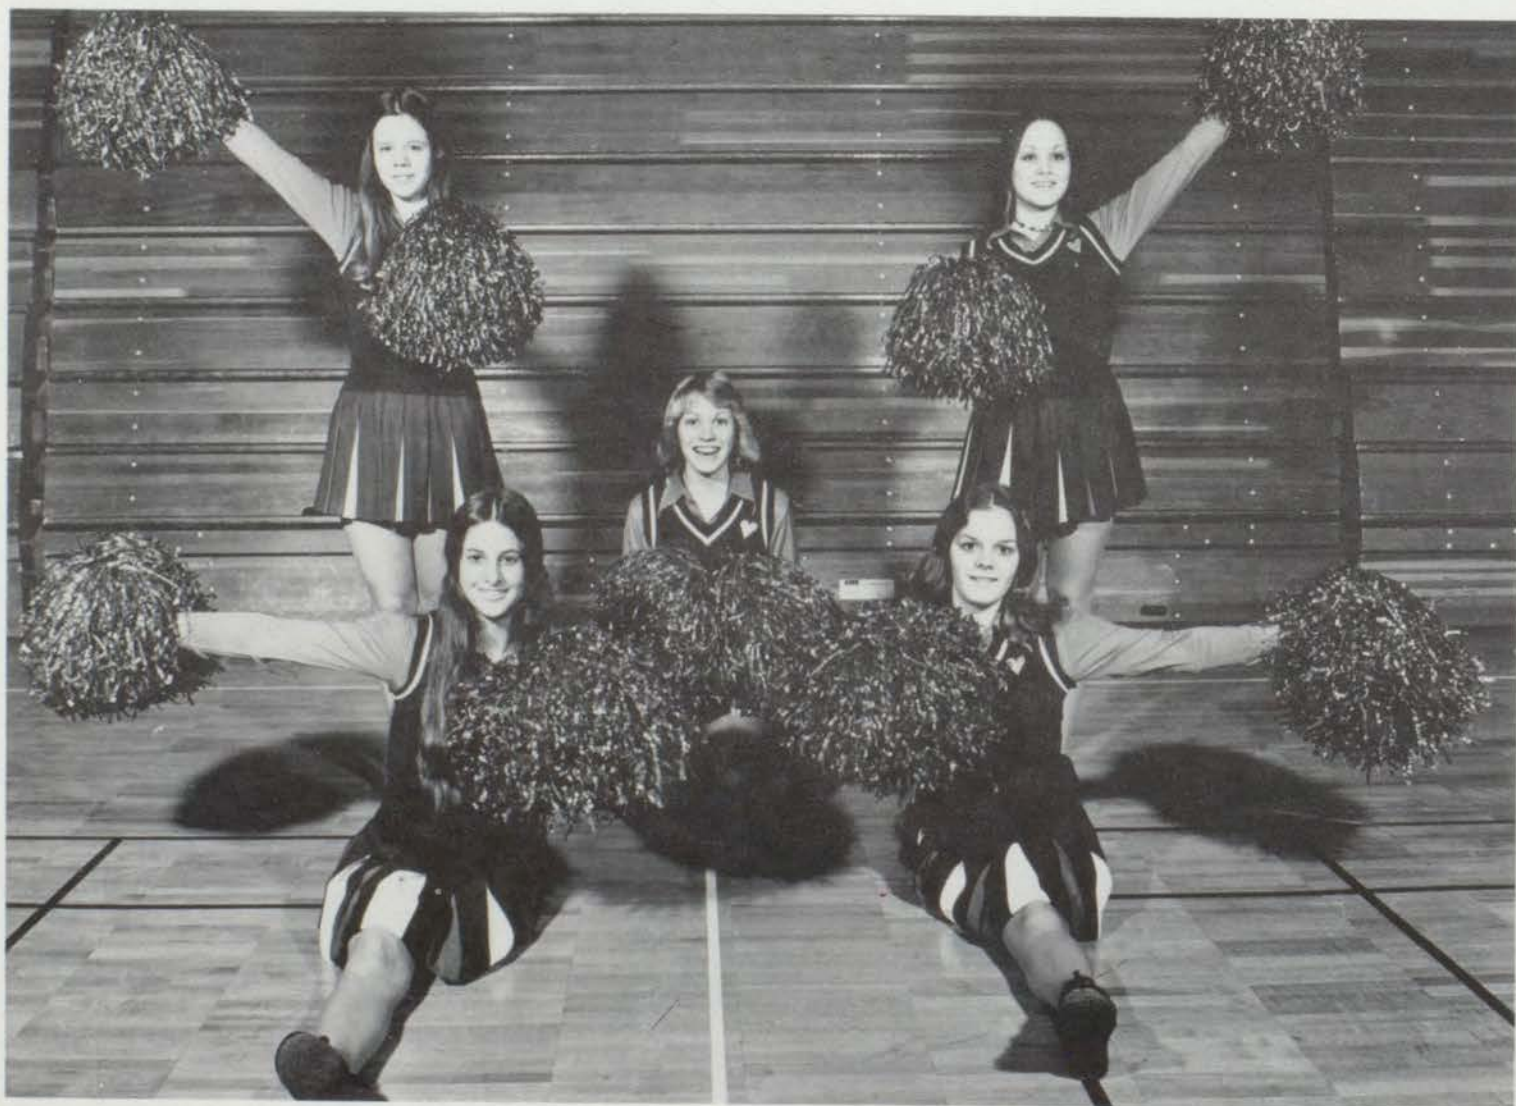

Cheering on the football and basketball teams was just a portion of the responsibilities fulfilled by the Junior Varsity rally squad.

Selected in try-outs at the end of the prior year, the girls were required to create a dance routine and motions to a yell. They were then voted on by the members of the student body.

High lights of the year enjoyed by the JV rally squad members were the opportunities to design a dance routine for basketball halftime entertainment and participate in pep assemblies.

Ski Club

Designed to promote skiing among students who share enthusiasm for the snow, the Ski Club provided each member with a patch and a card verifying membership in the organization. The card, if used at Hoodoo Bowl, reduced chair-lift rates for those who ski frequently.

To finance a four-day trip to Mount Bachelor, the club organized bake sales, car washes, and paper and bottle drives. They also sponsored a "Ski Swap." Here, skiers from Sweet Home, Albany, Corvallis, and Lebanon came to buy, sell, trade or give away ski equipment. For transportation, the group formed car pools to save money and stayed at the Inn of the Seventh Mountain. The club also went up to watch the freestyle "Hot Dog" competition at Hoodoo where the skiers executed precision jumps and turns on the slopes.

Spanish Club members provide musical entertainment at a monthly meeting.

Spanish Club met twice a month to plan activities for furthering interest in the Spanish culture. Two of the many activities of the club included a Christmas party and informal cultural reports by the members. Singing Spanish songs, preparing Spanish foods, and a trip to a Mexican restaurant in Portland benefitted the members. The club also sponsored a bake sale to help finance their activities for next year.

Local AFS student Patri Fanesi shared slides of her native country of Argentina with the Spanish Club. Thus, members became better acquainted with the differences and similarities of the United States and Argentina in culture and government. A slide presentation on present-day Mexican-Americans and their problems highlighted another meeting. The film was co-authored by two members for a social studies class.

Student Government

Student government is composed of three different groups.

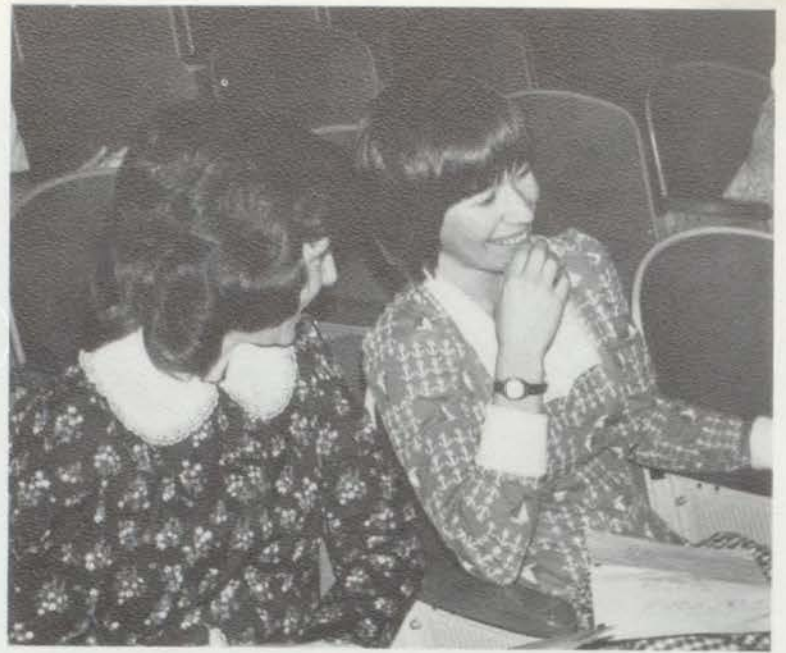

Club presidents belonged to the Inter-Activity Council which planned activities to give to the House of Representatives for consideration. They were later sent to the Senate for presentation to the administration.

These three groups working together sponsored many activities throughout the year.

Favorite hats, and funky ties, were some articles of clothing worn on specified days to get the whole school involved.

Also, with the help of student government, a stereo system was purchased for the student lounge.

The efforts of the Student Government proved successful in creating a better atmosphere for the school.

For those students who wished to express themselves in the make-believe world of drama, this was the place to go. Thespian activities centered around acting and all aspects of the stage. Of course, this also included directing, lighting, make-up and costumes, and many other jobs which were necessary for putting out a good production.

"Thieves Carnival" and "Diary of Adam and Eve" were two of the three plays they produced. Most of their time was spent in rehearsing, but they managed to find time for parties, at least one or two each play.

The purpose of the club was to develop any talents they might have, and they used many different ways of defining these skills. The members were a close group and able to express themselves openly. All this makes for a better person and a better production.

The Lebanon Warrior football team, lead by head coach Dave Johnson, finished with a 3 win 6 loss season. The Warriors, for the second year, used the "run and shoot" offense. The "run and shoot" offense was better known and more easily defended by the Valley League teams as they have started to use this offense, too.

As the season progressed, the Warriors were hampered by many injuries to the offensive and defensive units. This affected the overall season but not the Warrior attitude. The Warriors had put it all together for the first couple of games until they met Crescent Valley. Although this was the first loss of the season, team moral remained high.

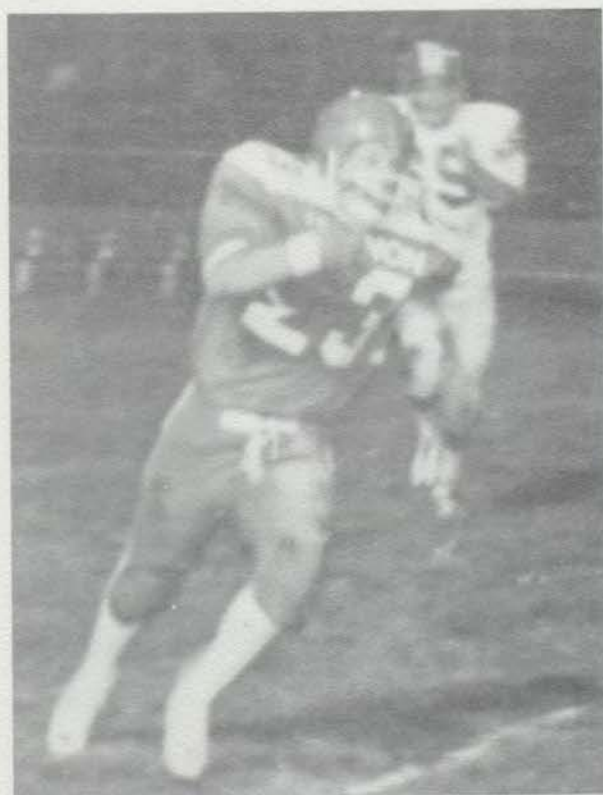

The whole idea of football is that it builds strength, mentally and physically, and that it makes the athlete a better individual. This idea was put to the test during the season, and the Warriors did have a winning season because nobody ever gave up, and the spirit of everyone remained high. The most rewarding thing about the whole season was that the athletes were able to say "I gave my all for Lebanon."

The Junior Varsity team, led by coaches Mike Wilkinson and Dick Weisbrodt, had the best record of all the Warrior football teams with 4 wins and 5 losses. The J.V. offense had a solid front line with a good running backfield and passing game. The defense had a strong front line and good speed in the defensive secondary.

The record doesn't really tell the whole story about the season; many of the games were lost by only one touchdown. The real story is told by the statistics which record individual effort and ability of the athletes. The Junior Varsity year of football is one in which the players gained experience and knowledge of the game as well as the desire to be a future member of the Varsity squad.

Chet Croco (73) and Coach Weisbrodt discuss the last play.

Dwight Middleton (22) breaks tackles against Calapooia.

The Freshman Football team, coached by Mr. Tolley Lauretti and Mr. Jim Roth, finished with a season of no wins and six losses. Even though their season was less than successful, the freshmen athletes learned the new offense and defense which they will use in the future. The freshmen also gained valuable game experience as well as a better knowledge of the game.

The freshmen didn't have good size on the offensive line but made up for it with speed in the backfield and on the ends. The defensive unit was also small but possessed a toughness and stamina that made them strong.

The coaching of the freshmen is a very important job in any program. The coaches have the responsibility of teaching players the run and shoot offense and preparing them for Junior Varsity and Varsity in the up-coming years.

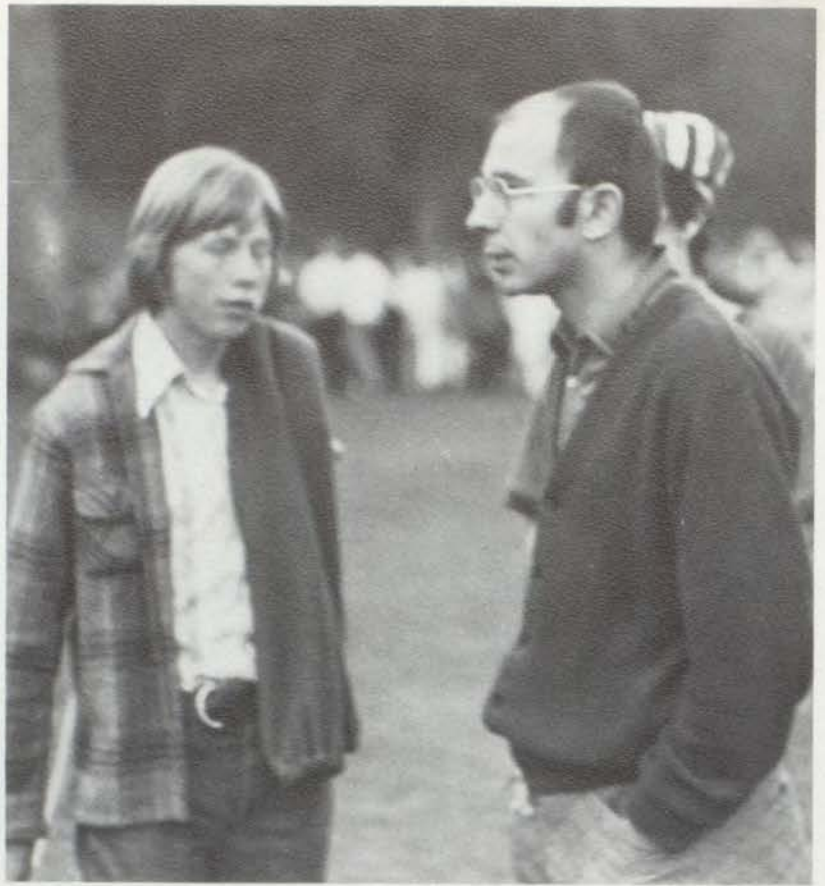

Cross Country

After countless hours of training in the summer months and in the fall, the harriers began the season. Coached by Spencer Stucki, they prepared themselves with long sprint workouts. The season, a building year for Lebanon's predominately underclassmen team, will give the squad valuable experience for future years.

Even though the team was mostly inexperienced, they displayed boundless stamina, courage, and determination in their efforts to achieve a successful season.

Captain Marty Gall, the only senior letterman, received the "Most Inspirational Award," for his own determination and encouragement of the other team members.

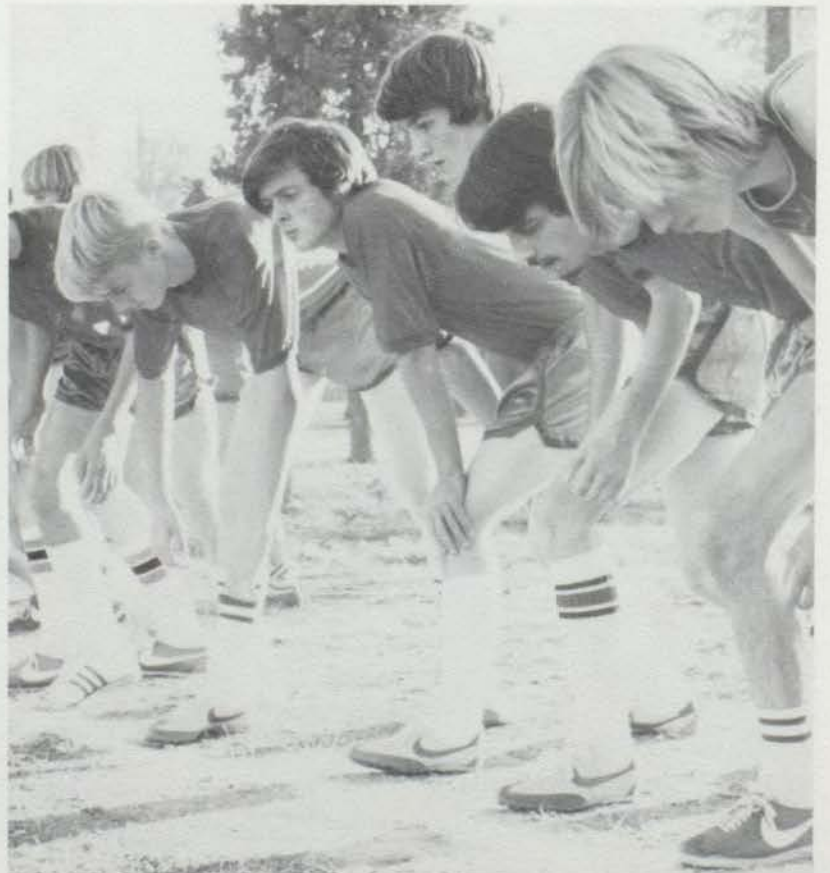

Cross Country requires strict discipline and a concentrated team effort. Conditioning is essential to enable runners to cover the rugged River Park Course and still have that burst of speed that makes a winner, a winner.

Starting the year with six returning lettermen, the Warrior's gymnastics team had high hopes of placing gymnists in the district competition. Led by coach Mr. John Foster, the boys team experienced their first victory in the team's two year history by defeating a strong Corvallis team and then placing ninth in district. The girls team had a new coach, Mrs. Gale Byers, at the helm. They tasted victory four times out of their eight-meet schedule and placed seventh at district. Although this year's team didn't match up to early season goals they had set for themselves, it ended as a very good year.

Volleyball

This was the first year that Lebanon High had its own girls' volleyball team. Before, Volleyball was only played in P.E. classes. Throughout the Valley League, however, volleyball has been gaining interest and popularity and has become a promising new sport for girls.

The Warriors, under the skillful coaching of Pat Dodge, had a winning season, and got the new competitive sport off to a great start. As most of the girls will be back, next year, there are high hopes for success next year.

During the wrestling season, the Mat Maids had three main functions. They maintained the wrestlers' spirits by painting and hanging posters around the school. On the day of a match, they provided favors, such as candy and cookies. Their most important function was to accompany the wrestlers to the matches to keep time and statistics.

Under the skillful direction of Head Coach Dick Weisbrodt, who was chosen High School Wrestling Coach of the Year, the Warrior grapplers had another outstanding season. Besides having a fine seasonal record of 8 wins and 3 losses, the Warriors took the district 8 championship for the third year in a row. Among the 16 who wrestled at district, five were able to go to state where two were able to place.

Junior Varsity wrestling was an extension of the Varsity program as it enabled the wrestlers to have actual mat experience. This was very important as each team was allowed to take two wrestlers per weight to district. Members of J. V. were able to challenge the varsity grapplers for the much coveted varsity weight positions. The season was a monumental one as the wrestlers recorded 8 wins while only suffering 2 losses.

Eddie Mankin starts out in the "referee's position."

In the beginning of Lebanon wrestling, there was the Freshman team. It was the starting point where a grappler learned the fundamentals of the varsity program. It was also a building area where the varsity coach could prepare himself, the wrestlers, and the program for upcoming years.

First year coach, Jim Roth, was confronted with the largest freshman team in many years. They finished with an outstanding season of 7 wins and 4 losses. The highlight of several Freshman boys' careers was the opportunity to wrestle on the varsity team.

The varsity basketball team had a challenging season, ending with a record of 5 wins and 16 losses.

With only three returning lettermen, the Warriors experienced another building year. A handicap for the Warriors was the lack of height in comparison to other valley league teams. However, they made up for it in quickness and agility.

The Warriors took first place honors in the annual Holiday Tournament which was held on December 27, and 28, in the Warrior gym. The competition included Estacada, Silvertown, and Willamette of Eugene.

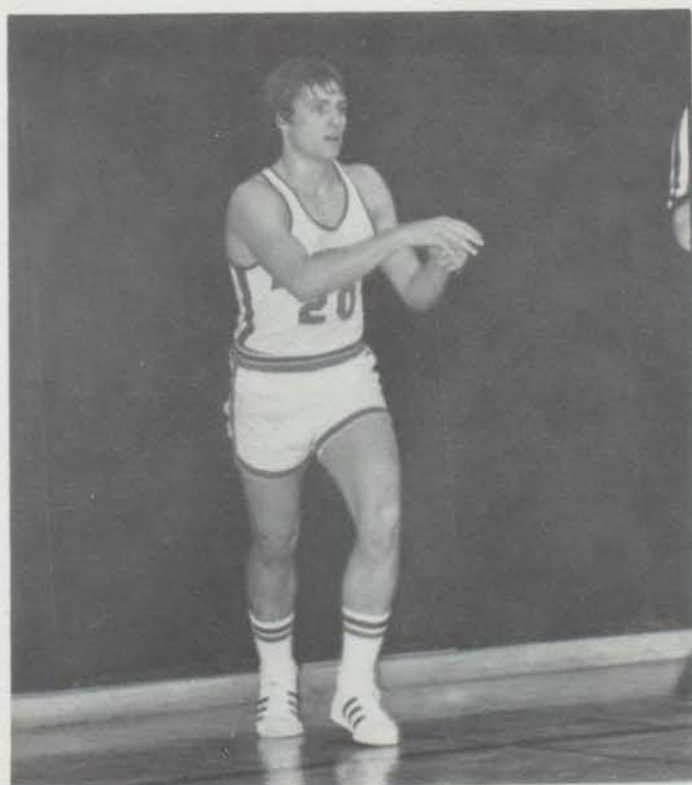

Under the guidance of second-year head coach Dean Stepp, basketball was a year-round project with practice throughout the summer, as well as in winter. Although the season was rather a letdown, Warrior basketball ended on an upswing.

The Junior Varsity Basketball team, whose strength lay in good teamwork and a love of basketball, ended the season with a 10-11 record. Being the youngest team in the league, with only two players who played other than freshman ball, their attitude toward the game was outstanding.

Sophomore Basketball

Sophomore basketball had a winning season sporting a record of 11-10. The boys worked well as a team after having played Freshman ball together. Their outstanding attitude and the desire to win were important factors in their triumphs over their opponents. The ability to move the ball and the ever important hustle needed to have a winning ball team were present in both the offense and defense of the Scouts. All in all, they tried harder. The Sophomore year was very important to each individual ball player and the Lebanon program as it was a building block to prepare the boys for Varsity and J. V. action.

Terry Darling shows good form on a jump shot.

Because of the large turnout, Freshman Basketball was divided into two separate teams, A's (Chiefs) and B's (Commanches). The Chiefs, whose season record was 15-4, finished second in their league. With a season record of 16-1, the Commanches were the B league champions.

Two key factors in the success of the Freshman clubs were evident throughout the season. Good overall balance of height, ability and command of skills enabled the teams to overpower all the other little Freshman teams. A superior attitude toward the game and the sport was also important to the Freshman success.

Swimming

Chris Davis assists in breaking the 400-yard freestyle relay team record.

Swimming and diving have long been recognized as individual sports, but the individuality combined with a team effort showed that the Warrior team was a powerful one.

With the boys' record at 7-3 and the girls' at 5-5, Lebanon made a good showing at district with third and seventh places respectively. Ted George led the boys' team by capturing district titles in the 200 and 100-yard freestyle. He then anchored the boys' 400-yard freestyle relay team to take second place.

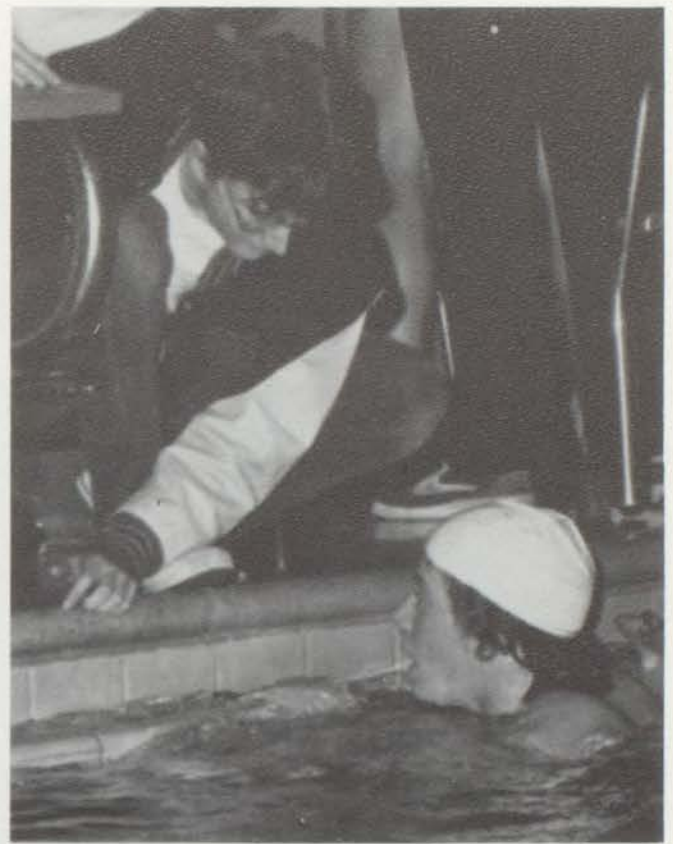

The season was climaxed by the boys shattering eight team records while the girls made two new marks of their own. Ted George broke five individual records and then helped break the 400-yard freestyle relay record.

Babs Crosman checks her lead in the 500-yard freestyle.

 Row 2: Lisa Taisey, Mimi Denker, Tracy Hildebrand, Cherie Sue McAllister, Erika Johnson, Chris Davis, Penney Johnston, Peter Foster, Toni Young, Carol Gibbs.
 Row 3: Sandy Bennett, Julie Reynolds, Becky Moseman, Julie Cruise, Kary Crosman, Debbie Zehner, Kevin Kutsch, Wendy Gardner, Manager, Kim Oglesby.

The Varsity track team was coached by Mr. Dale Reynolds and Assistant Coach Mr. Bill Machamer. The team showed strength in some running areas, the 220 and the 440. The pole vault, until recently one of the more indistinct field events in Lebanon, emerged as a strong event.

Because of a change in State Meet procedures, the district ran their meets in the same way to produce uniformity. In accordance with this change, the boys' and girls' meets were combined.

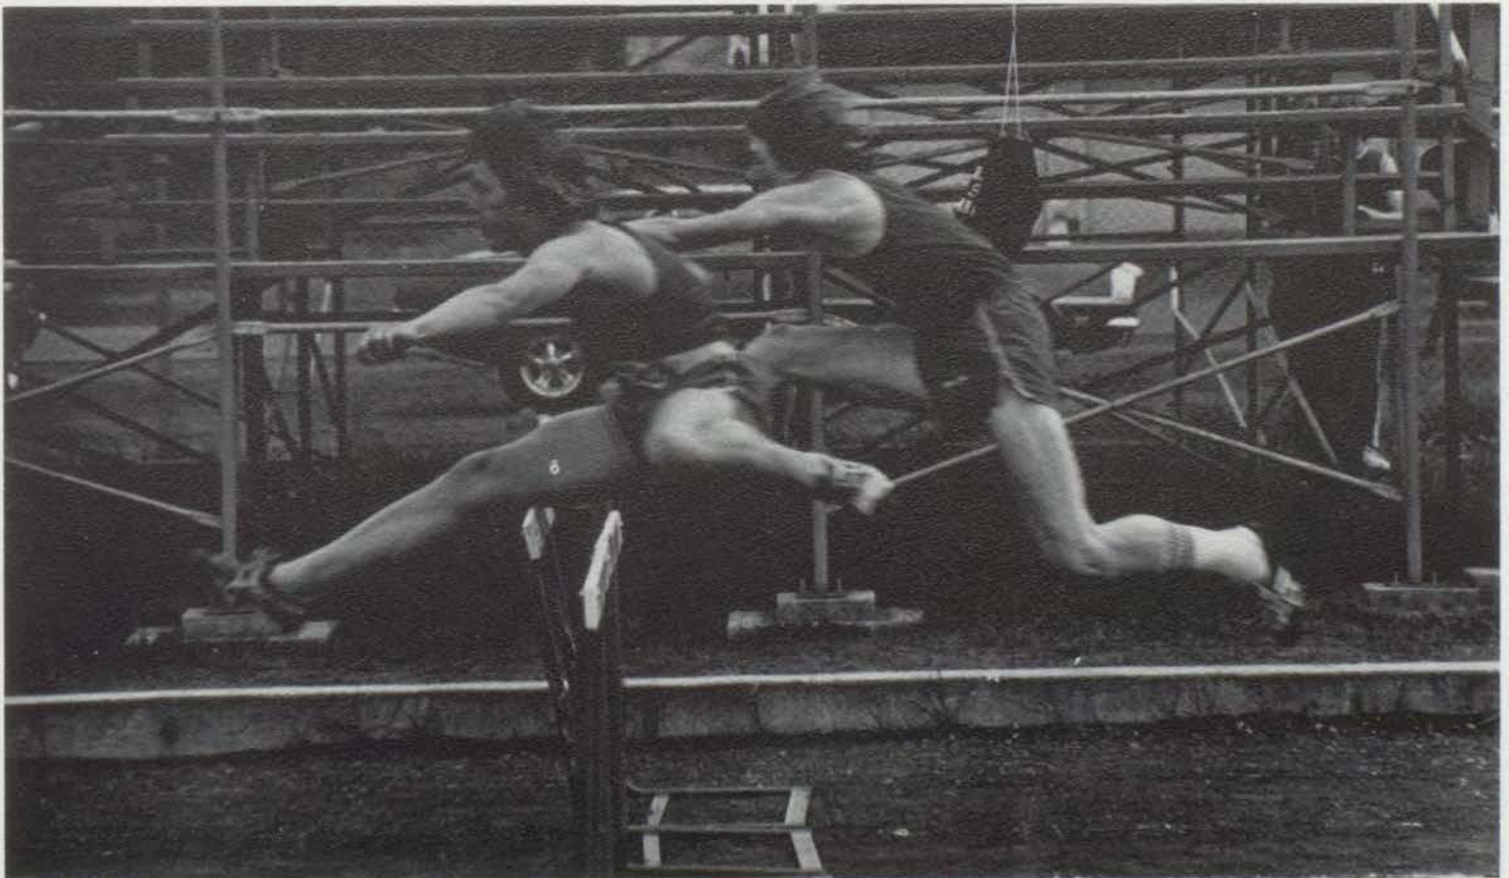

Harold Shannon executes a powerful disc throw as the event judge, Mr. John Foster, watches.

Scott Brady gets off to a quick start in the 220.

Peter Mangan intensely awaits the starting gun.

Steve Hallock takes the lead in the high hurdles.

Doug Williams prepares to land after his triple jump.

Steve Hallock clears the hurdle in good form.

Tim Weller breaks the school record of 13' 1".

Scott Brady gasps for air after a strenuous run.

Back Row: Manager Henry Hammel, Brian Anderson, Gary Estes, Eldon Grizzle, Rick Jefferson, Jim Graham, Steve Canaga, Todd DenHerder, Vic Graham, Manager Mark Clark.

Steve Canaga sprints his last hundred yards.

Chris Pedigo takes the curve in stride on his last lap.

The JV track team strives to develop depth for the Varsity team in the coming years. Being strong in many areas, they displayed real potential, not only in talent, but in the discipline and determination it takes to build a strong team. The team was able to complete a successful season despite conditions such as stormy weather and flooded tracks.

For the team's limited size, they performed admirably against their league opponents. The strengths they developed in the mile and two-mile runs will be an asset to the Varsity teams in the future.

The Freshman Track team coached by Mr. Ron Oglesby, drew the largest turnout in its history. Being both the coach's and boys' first year, it was a rewarding season. The team, thirty-two members strong, displayed an impressive example of determination and much more enthusiasm than past teams. A large number of the freshmen participated in the Junior Varsity meets which paid off with a very successful season.

Their efforts were especially successful in the areas of sprinting, pole vaulting, long distance, and high jumping. Of equal importance, however, were the desire they showed and the experience they gained which will be definite assets to future track teams.

Dave Wilkinson picks up his pace on the gun lap.

Lonnie Benham clears the second hurdle in the 110.

Girls Track

Susan Flora and Keith Nofziger enjoy the track meet together.

Debbie Zehner tensely awaits the starting gun.

Varsity Baseball

With the return of several experienced lettermen and the benefit of talented former Junior Varsity members, the Varsity baseball team became a leading member of the Valley League. The team was strong in both their batting and fielding abilities having good batting averages and few errors. Although they didn't score a great number of runs, they won many games on their defensive skills.

Head Coach Bill Croco was faced with persistent spring rains, causing the cancellation and rescheduling of many games. The rain, however, didn't dampen their spirits.

Bill Ray rips another single.

Coach Bill Croco makes a pitching change.

Doug Henderson watches to see where his flyball lands.

Jim Hostetler awaits the pitch to make a sacrifice.

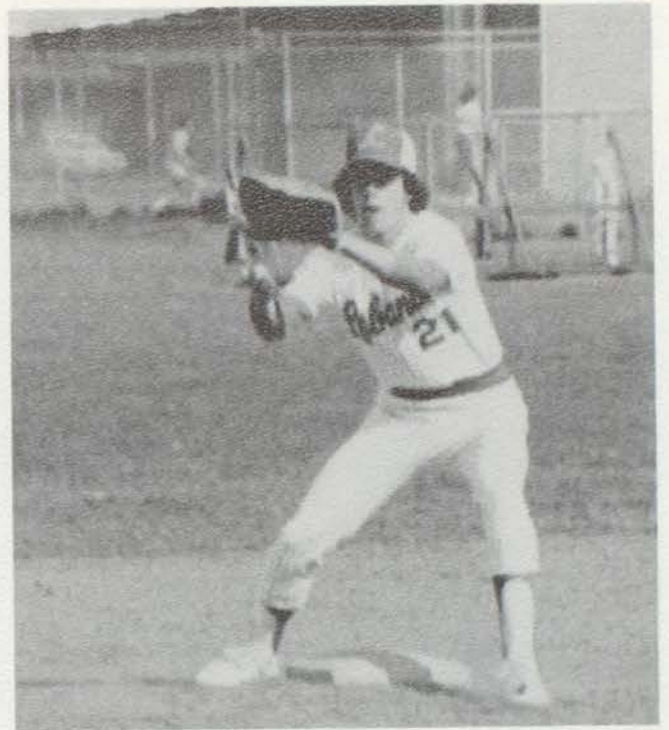

Mark Henderson lays down a bunt.

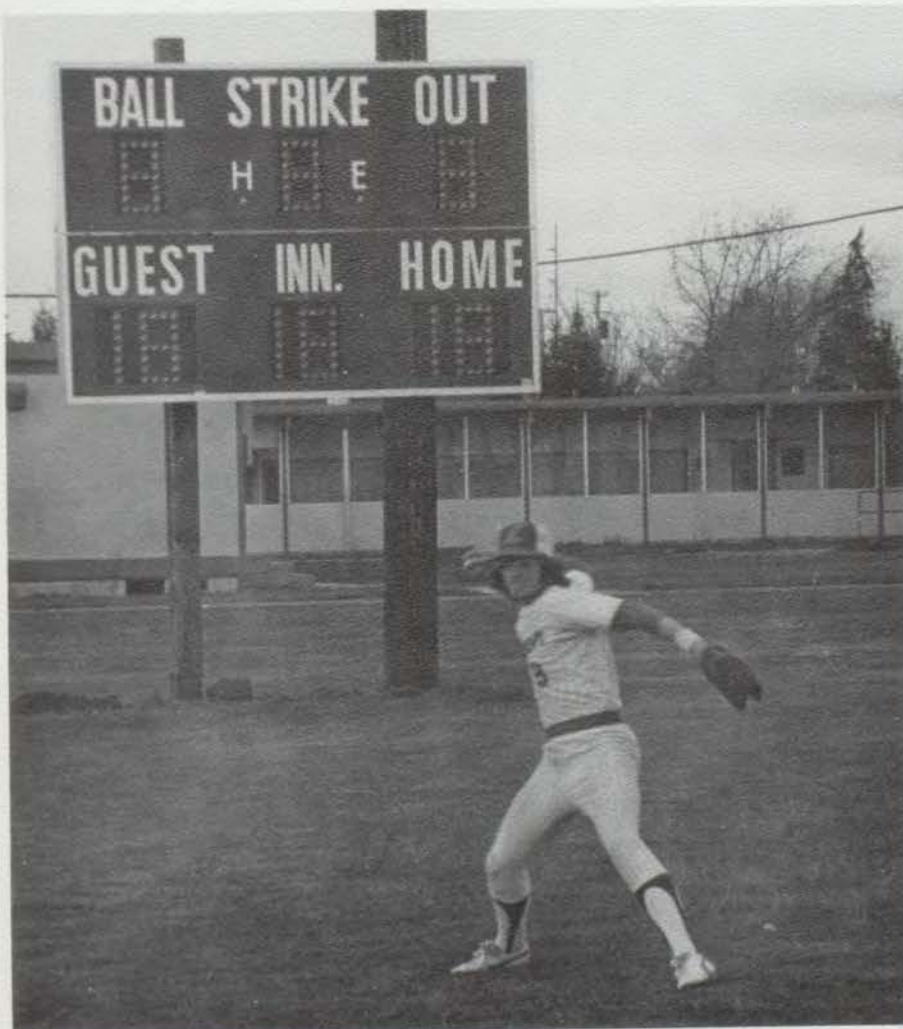

Doug Wirch shows good form on the mound.

Andy McClouskey takes the throw to start the double-play.

Chris Brannon throws one home from deep in left field.

Dave Keen coaches the runner at first base.

Mike McFarland throws another fastball.

The Junior Varsity team had the most successful season of the three baseball teams. Under the coaching of Mr. Mike Wilkinson, the team faced successfully the toughest of their Valley League opponents.

The fine pitching staff was backed up by the powerful batting abilities of most team members. The infield always came through in crucial plays, saving many games for the young Warriors in the closing innings.

Jim Peters waits for the decision of the umpire.

Freshman Baseball

The Freshman Baseball team, in spite of the ever-present rains, had a strong start in their first season of high school baseball. Their success was due in large part to a fine pitching staff, backed up a capable infield.

Under the coaching of Mr. Dean Stepp, the team developed outstanding abilities in the outfield and in base stealing.

Tim Porter brushes off after a slide.

Randy Hackstedt awaits a ground ball.

Golf

Don Pope blasts out of the sand trap.

A well-seasoned golf team, with four returning lettermen, they contended for the league title against the valley teams with tough competition.

Mr. Jim Roth coached golf for the first time in his career at Lebanon. The four lettermen returned to lead the varsity with each holding one of the top positions as during the previous year's competition.

Confident that the season would be a success, the team expected to place in the top four at district.

Rich Denker sneaks up on a putt.

Ken Richey measures a fairway lay.

Tom Kingsley hopes for a drive to the green.

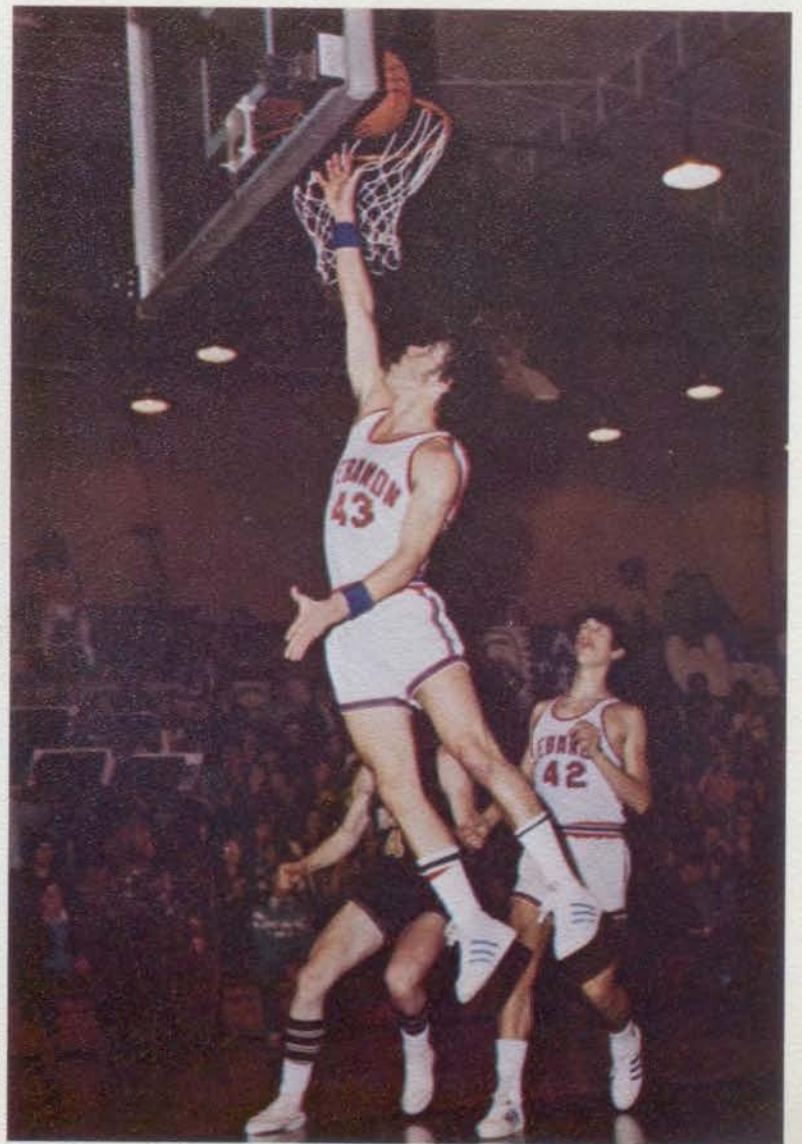

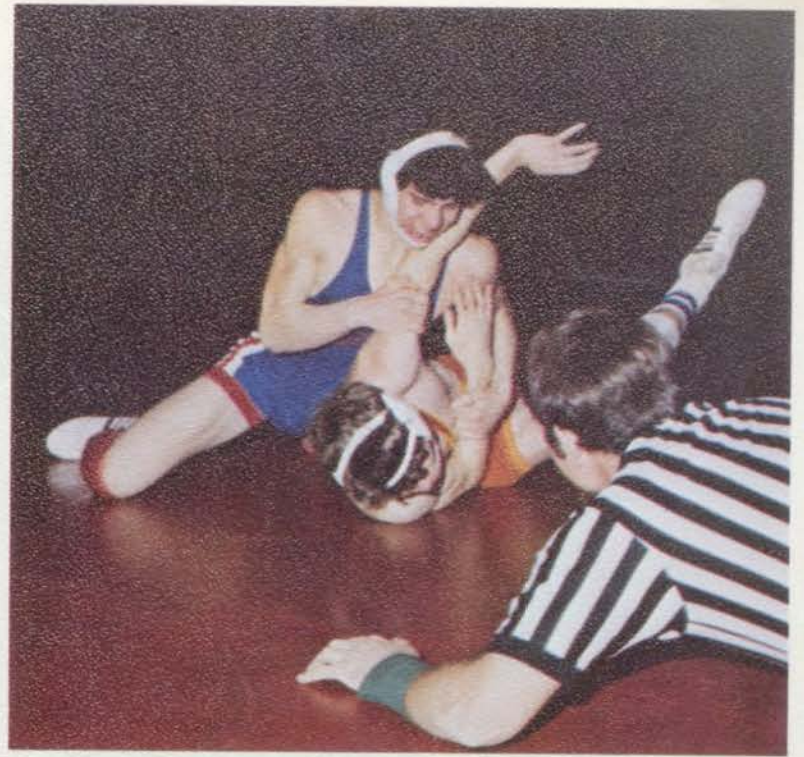

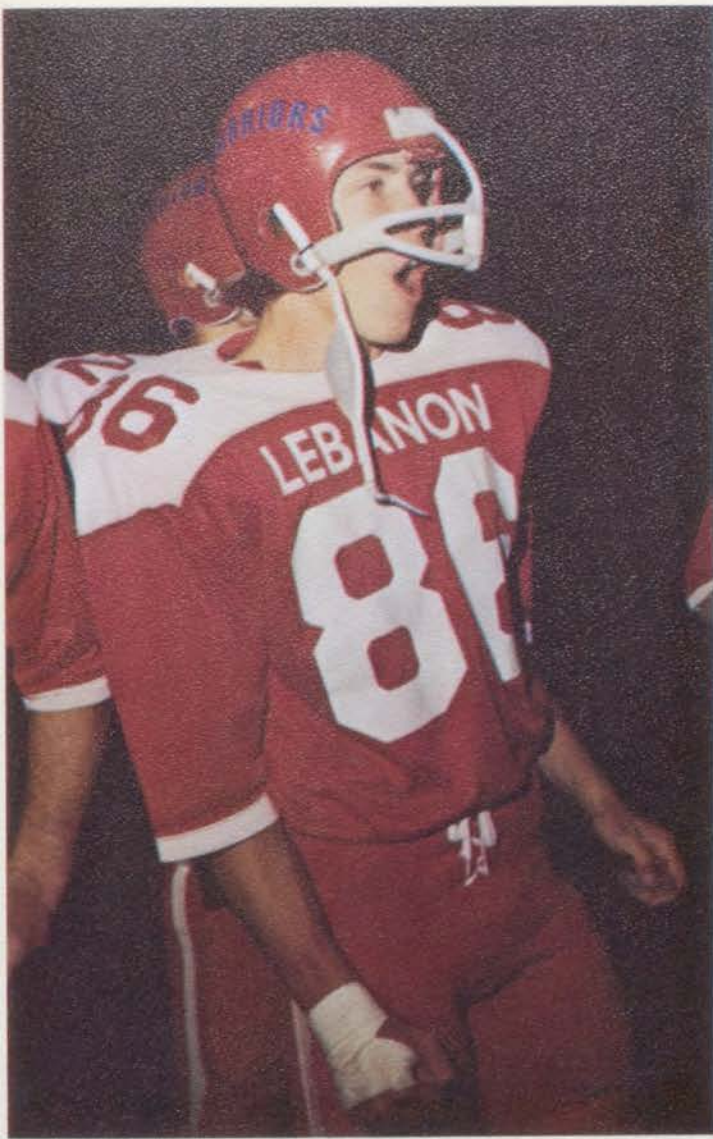

Mike Kirkelie tries for a heavy chip shot.

Boys' Tennis

Under the skillful guidance of coach John Nadig, the Boys' Tennis team showed a marked improvement in proficiency when they faced their tough opponents.

With many returning lettermen, the team was able to hold down a good position within the league standings. Throughout the season the team maintained their competitive drive.

Pete Burluson shows perfect timing in his serve.

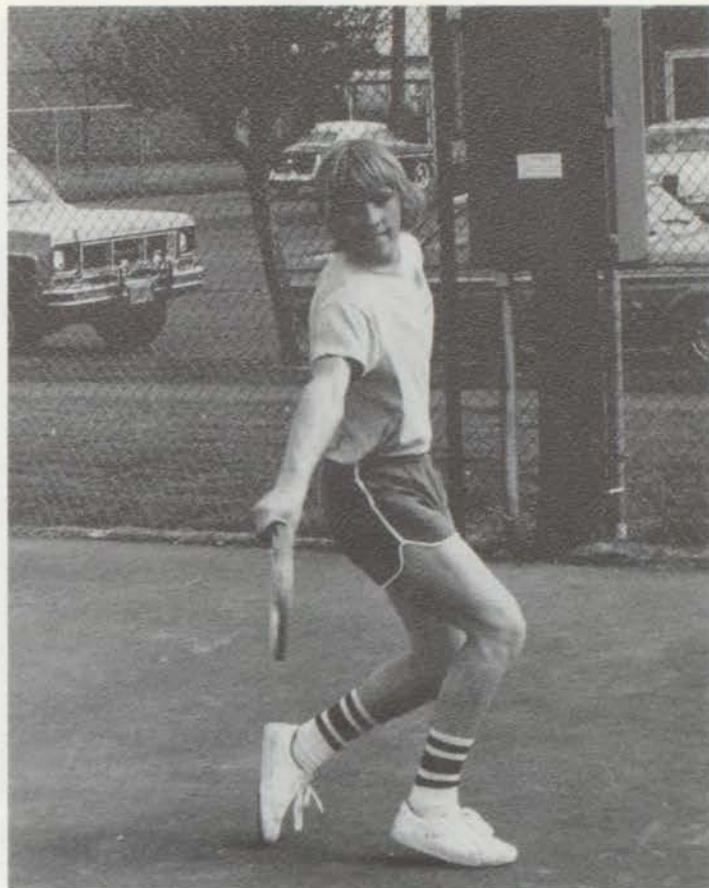

Tom Misa attempts a cross court volley.

Dave Phelps lays into a powerful backhand return.

Duke McDaniel serves a forceful ace.

Bill Drew slips a quick backhand to his opponent.

Girls' Tennis

Starting their first match of the season with a touring team from Bend, the girls showed a ready eagerness to get out and play for the weather had driven them indoors for most of their practices.

Since many sessions had been held in the gym, the girls tried their hand at selling plants in order to earn enough money for a ball machine. The ball machine had to wait another year as they were unable to raise the money needed.

Even though the team didn't have a winning season, the girls' perseverance was evident.

Julie Womack follows through on a forehand volley.

Susan Scott puts topspin on the returning serve.

Mary Ann Grieve smashes a backhand drive.

Michell Bauer begins the first set.

*There are places I'll remember all my life, though some have changed.
Some forever not for better,
Some have gone and some remain
All these places had their moments with lovers and friends
I still can recall
Some are dead and some are living,
In my life I've loved them all.
Thought I know I'll never lose affection for people and things that went before
I know I'll often stop and think about them,
In my life I've loved them all.*

Claire Barreto reads up on the current affairs in Argentina.

On June 23, 1974, Claire Barreto left Lebanon for Argentina, as a part of the AFS program. She lived with the Rogelio Nunez family in Alta Gracia, Cordoba, and returned to Lebanon on August 28. The following is her letter to the student body:

For the two short months I was in Argentina, I was in the middle of a different language and culture that in the beginning seemed to present problems. But because the Argentine people gave me their friendship, love, and understanding, my stay was a beautiful learning experience; not so much about a country, but about people.

The people I encountered showed me their customs and way of life, and allowed me to become a part of it. But more important, they gave a warmth that is an integral part of them and because of this warmth, I have their lasting friendships and my memories.

Through AFS and the people you come to know, you find your inner self growing and as the world becomes smaller, the future expands. May all of your futures expand, be it because of friendships with people from foreign countries or everyday encounters with people at home.

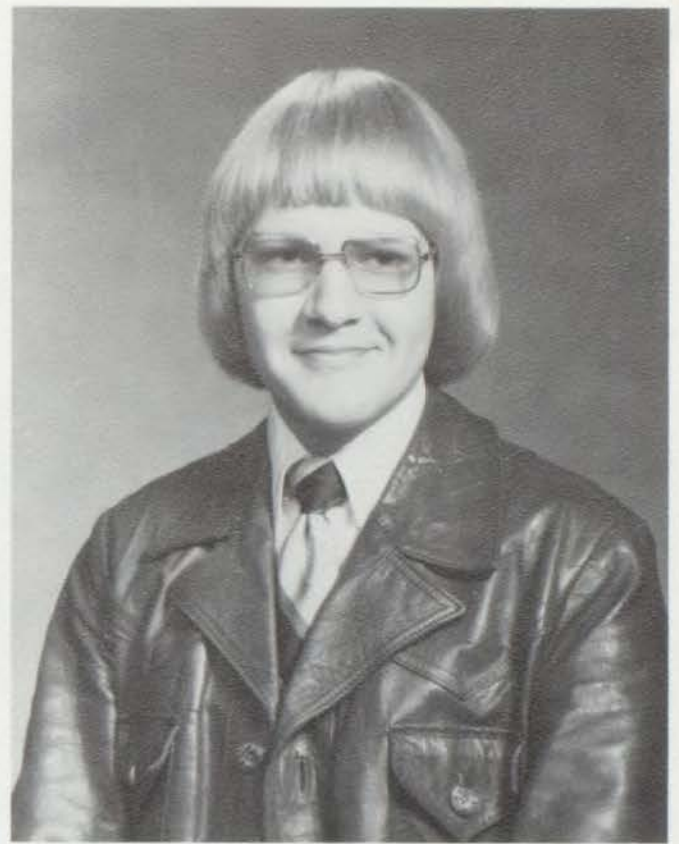

*Con carino,

Jorgen Johansen represents Denmark in the flag ceremony held in the library.

Jorgen Johansen left Denmark on August 9, to join the Melvern Haley family in Lebanon. He returned to his hometown of Esbjerg on June 27. His letter to the students of Lebanon High is as follows:

My Dear Friends,

I cannot believe how fast time has gone. I remember the night I came to Lebanon as if it was yesterday. But, strange to say, I also feel that I have lived here all my life. I have had so many experiences in Lebanon, and the United States, experiences which usually take eighteen years for a person my age to come through, but it seems to me that I have done it in one year.

I am so thankful that the community of Lebanon made it possible for me to come here and share a wonderful year with all of you.

I have enjoyed attending all the sports events, club meetings, plays and concerts in the high school, and it has been especially nice to meet so many different, kind-hearted people. Walking down the halls, I always received a smile, a little thing which made the day a little better.

I am very happy that I have had the opportunity to live like an American here in Lebanon, and it has been a fantastic year for me, learning so many things about you and even about myself. I want to thank you all once again for your kindness to me and I hope that I, in this year, gave as much friendliness and love to you as I received.

Love,

*Jorgen Johansen

From Cordoba, Argentina, Patri Fanesi came to live in Lebanon and to attend school. On August 8, she met with the Douglas Nesbitt family with whom she lived until February. From February until June 27, when she left for home, she lived with the Norman Morgan family. Patri's letter to the students is the following:

Dear Friends,

Right now, while I'm writing this letter, lots of memories come to my mind ever since the moment I first came here and you showed me your interest and friendship.

I don't like to talk about myself, but now I have to do it to tell you all the things I've gained being here in Lebanon and attending this school. I've gained in experience and matured a lot. I also learned to accept people by what they are, for the essence of a human being is his capacity to give and receive love and affection. And that, love and affection, is what I've found here . . . I think I'm being too serious. I'll try to be more explicit. This has been a farout year for me because you are all cool kids! Am I being more understandable? I hope so!

I wish all of you good luck in the activities you've chosen for your future. You deserve it! Thanks a lot for being you.

*Love,

*One day you'll look
to see I've gone,
For tomorrow may rain,
so I'll follow the sun.
Some day you'll know
I was the one.
But tomorrow may rain,
so I'll follow the sun.
And now the time has come,
and so, my love, I must go
And though I lose a friend,
In the end you will know.
One day you'll find that I have gone
But tomorrow may rain,
so I'll follow the sun.*

Keep on Truckin'

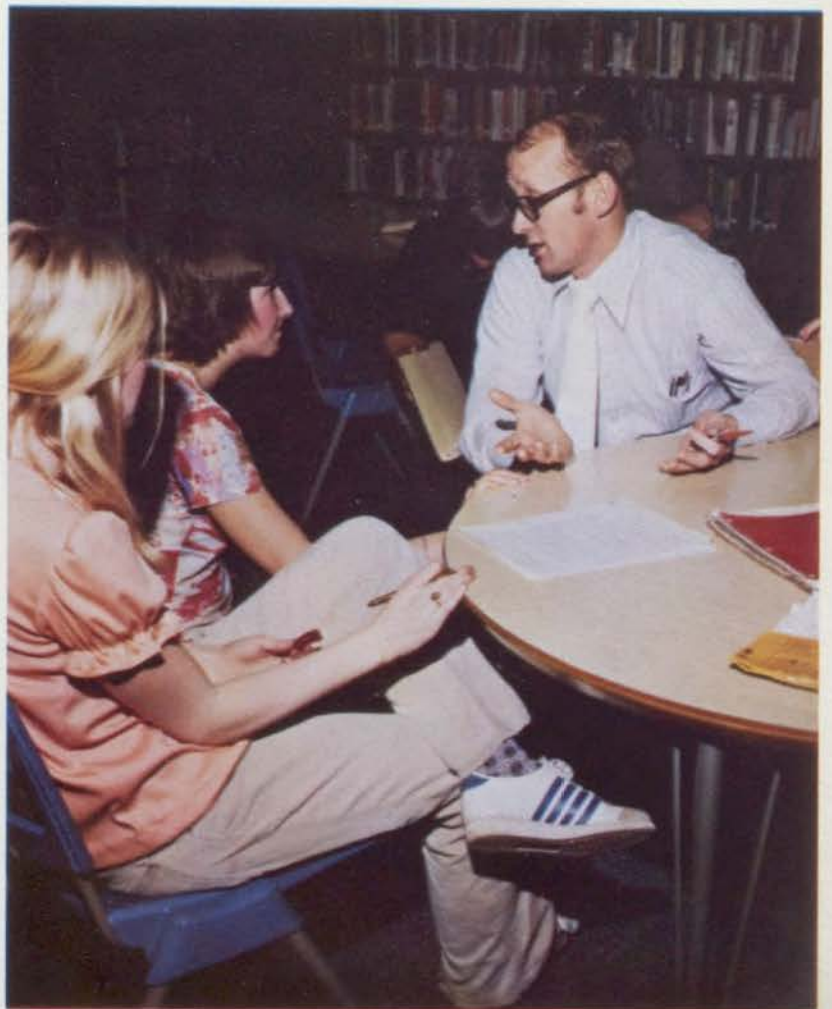

*Dream about memories
And life won't have you
For memories are but yesterday's cherished in the mind.*

*Dream about tomorrow
And life will reward you
Dreams are the children of freedom*

*Never to be restricted
And rarely to be lived.*

Carmel Duerr

Most people don't realize the work, time, frustrations, triumphs, defeats, and dependance on friendships it takes to produce a book. Without this year's Warrior staff and advisor, this book would not be in your hands to read. I wish to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you, honestly and sincerely, for giving it your all. I will never forget the many hours we spent together. Looking back on it now, it was a rewarding experience. We produced a "memory" book showing the world "The Way We Were."

Thanks Guys,
Edda Zerkel
