Warrior in Focus

Even if you are not sporting the red and blue, you come to this school as a WARRIOR, therefore this book is about you. It could be a Friday, the last day of school before the weekend. You could be dressed up IN school colors for tonight's football game, or completely in black. No matter who you are, or what you wear, you are still a Lebanon Warrior. This book is dedicated to the students and staff who travel along the path of change, FOCUSing on each individual as just one piece of a puzzle that makes us complete.

Lebanon High School 2005 The Warrior Volume 74

1700 South Fifth Street Lebanon, Oregon 97355

Enrollment: 1,354 541-451-8555 www.lebanonhigh.com

Warrior in Focus

There are differences among us that are undeniable, unavoidable, and perfectly normal. The academies separated the students and staff and we have all felt it. Even the community has felt it and expressed its opinion in some ways. In order to bring students from all systems closer together this book takes a deeper look into what being a WARRIOR really means by FOCUSing on each of us.

There is lots of student voice, and people will be able look back and see their views and opinions in the book. Each person has their place in history; we have found that place in this school and recorded it.

"I can juggle." - Alan King, 12    "I hunt and fish everytime I don't work." - Zach Parker, 11    "I play piano. I used to twirl baton." - Sage Gerson, 9    "In Marvin P. Hulpe we trust!" - The Lonely Penguin, 12

Outside of school each of us found ways to have fun and to fill our time. For some it was travel, for many work, and most students eagerly sought that elusive 'free time.'

Often we spend free time with the ones we love. For many this meant family and friends. "I enjoy being with my son," said senior Jessica Lara, smiling proudly. "The first time holding him my whole life changed."

Some pursued their hobbies with zeal. The variety of hobbies took many forms: creating bands, making art, writing fanfiction, collecting dice... "I take old guitars and make new bodies," said junior Casey Davis, who customizes guitars for fun.

One thing remained the same, something that tied us all together. No matter if we would rather spend a summer day at the lake, or inside conquering the World of Warcraft, we were all Warriors. And, as sophomore Jennie Marshall put it; "We live for life."

Summer Vacation

It was Scorchin'

Sun tans, river bends, and dunes of sand; the summer was full of excitement for students on break. Hiding indoors from the massive heat and back-to-back sunburns were a few of the things students dealt with. Everybody had their responsibilities. Senior Alex Kuhns expressed his when saying, "I worked." Kuhns worked at a grass seed warehouse. Others unleashed their inner child. Senior Zach Hood showed his colors by announcing, "mmm... I ate a big red candle!" So whether you were the one who worked or the one who played, summer was unforgettable.

"We almost got attacked by killer bees, my brother [Andrew] and I. It was scary and I wanted to run but my grandma grabbed me and told me not to move and they flew right by," - Janell Pulido, 12

Italian Stallion, junior Garry Loar raises his fist in victory at the 9-foot-tall bronze Rocky statue, located in Philadelphia at The First Union Spectrum. "It was one of my goals to see the Rocky statue," said Loar. Loar spent three weeks in Philadelphia visiting family over the summer.

Homecoming

Back in time

Homecoming week brought a new sense of style, with each day came a different decade. From the 90's to the 50's, students brought outrageous sock-hop fun, disco fever, groovy get-ups, and all out spirit. Sophomore Joe Hill was one who dressed up. "I loved the panda suit, it was completely random!" said Hill. The junior boys dominated each and every class, including the teachers to a much deserved victory at Tuff Puff Volleyball. On Wednesday the junior and senior girls fought intensely for the bragging rights of winning the Powder Puff game, but in the end, each team proved to be equal with a tied score. "As I was running, I thought for sure someone had my flag, so I looked back and Terri Campbell was yelling, "keep running!" said junior Megan Vorderstrasse. Finally, finishing out the week with the homecoming football game and dance afterwards made for a memorable experience.

Sweet smiles, King Mitchell Swanson, and Queen Christine Molina are flooded with flashes from multiple cameras, all wanting to get a glimpse of the glitz and glam.

"I was told all I was supposed to do was lip-sync and then all of a sudden, I was dancing in front of the whole student body!" teacher David Kish

Did you have more fun watching or participating in homecoming festivities?

Joe Hill, 10

"Participating, because I got to dress up as a big, fuzzy, endangered animal!"

"Definitely participating, because I jumped off the balcony for my grappling hook skit. It was legendary!"

Ian Johnson, 12

Multi-talented artist, sophomore Jessica Purkerson has been painting and drawing since she was 10, "My parents found an art class for me because I liked to draw. I found out that I was good at it. When I have a picture in my head, I try to draw it."

Why do you create?

Remnants of a shattered childhood, and the shame and disgust in a hypocritical society.

-Travis Tacy, 12

My inspiration is that I can draw all what's in my mind and can so better express my fantasy.

-Salome Schneider, 12

I just draw because I feel like it...

-Eli Wilson, 11

My inspiration comes from the trials I have, my emotions, and where I stand in life. I create my drawings from what I feel at the moment.

-Melissa Cordero, 9

The wonders of beauty, another masterpiece created by sophomore Jessica Purkerson; Four Winds

The Recital "My heart is such would withstand all the disasters of the world. But.... when you said those words to me it shattered. Fate unknown."

Right: "Drawn for a friend," junior Michael Bolton expresses gratitude through a Dragon's Gaze.
Center: Inspired by the thought of a friend, junior Shartah Triplett is Truly Seeing.

Truly Seeing

Follow the moon light, a streak through the dark. A path that is waiting in this mysterious park. Searching for you. Waiting for me. Open your eyes, why can't you see? I'm here for you, don't sit down. I'm looking for you, but you're not around. My love for you is becoming an evanescence. I'm always happy when I'm in your presence. I'm frozen in place. Until once again I'll see your face, But you're no longer around. The end, I've hit the ground.

Art and Poetry

Your heart on paper

"Art is essential, it's essential to our lives," said senior Joanna Mcelhinny. Poetry is the mirror image of the inner person a poet has been able to portray into words. Art is an expression of one's inner soul, their life displayed on a once blank canvas. What may look like total chaos to one person, could be art to another.

It does not matter what people think, say, or do, this masterpiece belongs to those who understand. In order to interpret the emotions expressed, students must be able to relate to the artist and their work.

"Art is anything in the universe that is intended to be art," said freshman Eric Bowser. A person's art belongs to them, no one else and it can not be taken away because it is part of one's being.

- Kerry Wells, Teacher

Forget Me Not

Forget me not the day I rue, then I saw your eyes of blue. Evermore the life I know, what life I had belongs to you. Your poisonous personality. Your deadly nightshade. Enticing all of me, by you I'll be slain. For days and days I've seen no sign of you. For days and days my mind's blind of you. Then from nowhere you come back into my arms, still out of my reach. Through the wall to our heart, I still cannot breach. We stand together on icy steel. In this urban jungle where none can feel. So out it comes, the truth it runs. My love for you and yours for I, is matched by none accept the sky. Loving you I'll never stop. Forget me not I'll never stop. For me not the pain I've caused, the love I've robbed, each day of sorrow. Forget me not I'll love you tomorrow.

Left: In all of its vibrance, The Sun painted by junior Cori Lee. Center: Forget Me Not, Xavier Dickson shall not be forgotten, "I wrote this because it was the first time I had seen my friend in a long time." Right: Brian, "It's a painting of my sisters boyfriend Brian," said sophomore Olivia Zedan.

Freshman Orientation

"Life is not measured by the breaths you take but by the moments that take your breath away." - Logan Burt

"I'm dancing like a monkey" - Kelsey Nichols

Welcome to high school!

As another year starts more freshman enter the high school to be yet again the youngest group in school. The academies were helpful because most classes were in the same hall for each person. There was much less running across the school to get to class. "I thought that Freshman Orientation was helpful because it gave me a chance to find out where all my classes were before it got all crowded. It made the next day much easier and not as stressful," said Angealeigh Hutsell.

What is the best thing about being a freshman?

-Kristyn Livingston

"Being a Freshman is awesome because you get to hang out with friends. Being in high school Rocks!"

"The best thing about being a freshman is you have more freedom!"

-Sam McGehee

"My favorite time of day is 1 a.m." - Kimberly Mull

Right: Shake your pom-poms, senior Gabriel Magee and junior Andrew Walker support the powder puff teams.

"Holy Moly! I think it's so cool how everyone is so supportive of our sports programs. Like how Chris Triglia dressed up and ran in front of the bleachers at Volleyball games with Anticipation, student fans cheer our varsity football team at a home game.

Pride/spirit

School pride is high!

Games only lasted for so long, but our restless spirit was undying. The gym walls rang with the screams from freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors competing to be the loudest at pep-assemblies. Crowds were always full of Warriors expressing pride, enthusiasm and love for their school. Our faith has improved and impressed, going from very little pride to having every Warrior in the tribe cheer on their team. "No matter how bad our teams do, we're always behind them," said senior Alice Marshall.

Everybody has a different way of showing their appreciation of people's hard work. "School spirit smells like victory, when everyone comes together and has a lot of school spirit it gives the team confidence to win," freshman Colin McHill.

Top Left: Jump for joy, sophomore Kaitlin Thoma helps the crowd at a Varsity Football game get pumped up. Middle: Scream and shout, seniors Candice Molina, Christine Molina, Emily Flory, Shellie Norton, Andrew Hollingsworth and junior Matthew Slavenski celebrate the score of the varsity volleyball team at their first playoff game. Right: A leader in spirit, senior Chris Trilgia attended every game he could and always showed leadership when showing spirit. At every home football game, Trilgia dressed up and led the fans in roars of cheers.

"Now, trying to prepare myself for college, I'm taking what I learn to new levels and dissecting it more." - Holly Parmenter, 9

"My favorite part about the academics portion of school is

Students all come to school for their own reasons, but whether it is because of friends, fun, learning or pure force, there is no way to overlook the one connection that brings everyone here. The root cause of waking up early and attending class is to further our academic careers. No matter what aspects of school students like or dislike, there is something here for everyone. Senior Bobby Lara appreciates the technical field. He also understands that what he has learned in high school will help him on his journey through life. "High school has helped me learn skills I will use everyday," said Lara.

With the learning of these skills arises a problem many students face, procrastination. Sophomore Sean Stalley agrees, "I don't like projects because I always end up procrastinating and then staying up until 3 a.m. finishing them." Though many students do not share the same interests, all can agree that the best way to get through school is to come prepared.

Physical system

Rigor, Relevance, and Relationships are three words used frequently to define the foundation and principles guiding each academy and its structure. How do these words relate to Physical Systems Academy? Why is it important to ensure that these three words form the base from which our academy is shaped? Rigor is found in the Math and Science segments of the academy's curriculum. Setting high standards and offering advanced classes in courses of study aimed at Technology, Pre-Engineering and/or the Study of Law are necessary components for success in our academy. Relevance is established when we as an academy tie our course of study to "real life" experiences. The formation of relationships with three hundred students, their parents, staff and administration enables and promotes student success in our academy. We, as Physical Systems Academy, take pride in our rigor, relevance, and the relationships that we have formed, which ultimately translates into success for all our students.

Precision is everything, junior John Pitts drills out holes for a circuit board that he was putting together in his Digital Electronics class. "I enjoy electronics for the hands on work," said Pitts.

Evenly spread, junior Thomas Shanks pours concrete out into the bleachers of the school stadium. "Construction class is good practice for my job at Hillview Construction Company," said Shanks.

What is your favorite part of Physical System?

"Welding." - Nathan Gay, 9

"Electronic classes and drafting." - Christopher Nofziger, 10

"Mr. Robinson." - Austin Suing, 11

"The fact that I like a lot of my classes." - Jasper Hostler, 11

"The electives." - Gary Rivers, 10

"The options it gives you." - Amanda Chase, 9

"Less preps." - Michael Sloan, 10

"There is less drama, we don't have very many people from different systems in our hall." - Maegen Lawler, 9

Skill and talent, senior Cody Vasquez perfects the outline of his skateboard with a jig-saw in his wood shop class.

"I want to be an architect so I like doing all the hands on activities instead of bookwork. Like welding, I was scared to learn

Social system

Social Systems Academy is continuing to evolve into a wonderful community of students and staff who organize their learning and personal growth around the arts and humanities. Central to the academy are team-taught courses, the Social Systems Lab, and student projects and performances. Through these opportunities, our students explore their interests and use those interests to strengthen and personalize their learning. Some students are drawn to the Practical Arts and others to the Fine Arts as they find ways to demonstrate their academic growth and prepare for 'Life after high school.'

Social Systems Academy is an amazing blend of student musicians, artists, thespians, writers, historians, business managers and chefs! These awesome young adults brought us great moments like the plays, Metamorphosis and Crazy for You, standing-room-only concerts, exciting athletic performances, peace marches and intriguing art displays, to name only a few. They were supported in these endeavors by a caring and dedicated staff who worked hard to help every student find his/her unique place in this community of learners. "Thanks everyone, for a great year and the wonderful memories you've created together in our Social Systems Academy!" said Social System's Principal Peggy Blair.

I nformation system

"Change is not an easy process. I am proud of Information Systems Academy as we continue conversations that facilitate change, both in moving toward our future vision and in letting go of some past practices. Education must become relevant and meaningful to all of our students, designed and completed in a collaborative and active partnership. Our people expand and explore each other's thinking about what it means to learn and to demonstrate that learning. How do we challenge ourselves? How do we make certain that every Information Systems' graduate leaves us "college ready" whatever they choose to do in their futures? How do we problem-solve when it becomes difficult to work with a person or team? We reflect. We talk. We listen. We collaborate. We value each other. That is why we belong to Information Systems Academy. Together we believe in the incredible power of Design and Communication through Technology." - Information Systems Principal Leanne Raze.

Yellow wall, sophomore Catalina Bohna and juniors Tina Lee and Joseph Conrad share their picture about a book, The Yellow Wall. "It was a crazy story!" said Bohna.

"Techno music makes DECA kids go crazy!" - Briana Tracy, 10

From Poetry to Key club, many students involve themselves in extra curricular activities to expand their minds, make a friend, or simply to be a part of something. Every organization has roots of growing students who not only just go to school, but widen their thoughts and abilities through participation. Clubs have grown to become a huge part of every day life. "International club is very important, I get to travel the world before I get stuck in college," said senior Elisa Krueger.

These associations are not a mandatory involvement, but they can become an essential part of life, even possibly bringing success to future careers. "I'm in FCA and Generation Life because I thought it'd be a good way to be close to people with the same interests and beliefs as me," said junior Le Anna Bartholf. This year brought together individuals with a variety of interests who gave clubs and groups the qualities that made them unique. Join a club and find how rewarding it really can be.

Significant ASB Officers

You might think of ASB officers as just being a part of the leadership class. They are, but that's not the only thing they do. As ASB officer's they are leaders in the class and throughout the entire school. "I became a part of ASB because I love school spirit and I have fun being involved," said junior Alysia Furman. Many in ASB have been a part of student government since they were in middle school.

Catch up, senior Andrew Walnum takes time out of his Vice Presidential duties to focus his efforts on school work during Leadership class. Andrew was also a Mr. LHS contestant this year.

Good work, senior Mary Buchheit looks down at some class mates as they work on one of their many projects. "As the ASB secretary, I take notes and sign checks," said Buchheit.

Watch and learn, senior Andrew McHill watches senior Emily Flory make one of her many posters. McHill has been involved with student government since he was in middle school.

Let's get this show on the road, junior Alysia Furman and senior Andrew McHill walk into a gym full of their peers and prepare to start one of the school assemblies.

Leadership

The student leadership class is made up of those who want to make their school a better place for everyone. They make posters and organize activities around the entire school. "(My favorite project) is graduation because it's one of the happiest days of our lives," said senior Shellie Norton.

Sort them out, senior senator Shellie Norton organizes plastic beads that were used to make Beads for Babies bracelets. They were sold for the Mr. LHS Pageant to raise money for the Children's Miracle Network.

Make some hugs, sophomore Jonnie Atchley uses yarn to create a hug necklace. The necklaces were made of small pieces of yarn in a ball and when someone gave you a hug, pieces of yarn were exchanged.

"Hugs for everyone", sophomore Allie Stock contributes in the making of hug necklaces during leadership class. "Valentine's Day is my third favorite holiday," said Stock. "But I was glad when I was done making those necklaces."

Achieve National Honor Society

These are students who go the extra distance in school. They are required to maintain a G.P.A. of 3.5 or better, attend eighty five percent of the meetings, and have several volunteer hours each year. Members of National Honor Society are well respected throughout the community.

It's official, junior Nathan Weikel accepts his membership certificate at the induction ceremony held for the incoming juniors and seniors.

I'm listening, senior president Andrew McHill and NHS adviser Diane Michael go over the agenda for the following week's meeting.

Multitasking, seniors Christine Molina, Pamela Cowart and David Hawes have a bite to eat while listening at a meeting during lunch.

Give it a moment, juniors Alysia Furman, Amanda Groff, Blair Healy, and Nathan Hiebert wait patiently for the induction ceremony to begin. "It was a good experience," says Nate Heibert.

Front: Diane Michael, Sarah Mayfield, Pamela Cowart, Lindsey Aikin and Christine Molina. Second: David Hawes, Linnea Hiebert, Brittney Dowding, Candice Molina, Hustin Franzwa, Emily Flory, Tristan Lee and Andrew McHill. Third: Cortnee Hanson, Megan Hainz, Allison Cawrse, Tori Harvey, Bess Nichols, Elisia Krueger and Toni Rush.

"My favorite part about peer mediators is the fact that I get to help people help themselves." - Joshua McCaw, 10

Here to help Peer Mediation

Signs around the school announce peer mediators are here to help. "Peers can give another perspective about issues students are dealing with," said junior Taylor Overbeck.

Instead of talking to an adult about personal issues, you could ask a peer mediator for advice.

Listen up, sophomore Megan Adams sits and attempts to avoid the eyes of the camera, but avoiding a smile was impossible.

Lunch time, sophomores Macy Dirks and Mikki-Lee Williams have their lunch. Meetings were normally scheduled for the lunch period so more people could attend.

It's over, sophomore Arriana Serna makes a mad dash to the door when the meeting comes to a close. Serna tries to salvage the little free lunch she has left.

So much fun, junior Brittani Standing and sophomore Tysen Weber listen and converse over the information they are receiving from the meeting.

Young leaders S.T.A.R.S.

S.T.A.R.S. is a program where our students get to travel into the community and promote a message they believe in. "We teach them (6th grade students) how to say no and let them know that students today aren't ready for sex," said sophomore Megan Adams.

It doesn't take much to visit a 6th grade classroom and teach about the dangers and emotions that come with early sexual involvement, but it is a completely different story when it comes to setting a good example in the way the S.T.A.R.S. leaders go about their every day lives. When entering classes, the leaders are encouraged to refer to the 6th graders as students rather than kids, and connect with them on a friendly level, yet remain role models. "S.T.A.R.S. is a great opportunity to teach and congregate with young students, and you get sweet shirts!" said junior Tiffany Morgan.

Front: Kaitlin Thoma, Briana Tracy, Samantha Nervino, Tiffany Morgan, Jessica Vasquez, Aubree Mayfield, Taryn Durkee and Allison Haley. Middle: Eric McFetridge, Marta Barbosa, Amber Ally, Pamela Cowart, Lindsey Aikin, Janell Pulido, Tori Harvey, Megan Vorderstrasse, Rebecca Fillmore, Megan Adams and Tiffany Cornish. Back: Alysia Furman, Jesse Flick, Andrew McHill, Thomas Evans, Karisten Kilborn, Hustin Franzwa, Alice Marshall, Cindy White, David Sullivan and Kenneth Laub.

"S.T.A.R.S. sends a great message to students who may be pressured into certain situations they don't feel comfortable with." - Pamela Cowart, 12

"Sex is bad, don't do it!" - Katie Halberg, 10

"I think that S.T.A.R.S. is a good program because elementary kids look up to highschoolers and we set a good example, and they know the best way is to wait." - Ashley Henry, 11

"I joined S.T.A.R.S. because I feel that students should feel comfortable talking about sex without performing sexual acts." - Kenneth Laub, 12

"S.T.A.R.S. puts out a great message to the future generation." - Alysia Furman, 11

"S.T.A.R.S. is a fun way to influence students for the better." - Aubree Mayfield, 11

"I joined S.T.A.R.S. because I want to help educate 6th grade students that it's not safe to have sex at a young age." - Eric McFetridge, 12

Listen up! sophomore Amy Marker reads a fact that is presented to the 6th grade students during lessons.

My parents are not home, senior Karisten Kilborn and junior Trevor Pruitt role play a pressure situation while training the new-comers. This was Karisten's third year and Trevor's second year in S.T.A.R.S. "I have enjoyed getting to work with so many people who I probably never would have met outside of S.T.A.R.S.," said Kilborn.

Just say no, sophomore Morgan McGowan holds up a "STOP" sign during training. The new S.T.A.R.S. leaders were asked to hold up "CAUTION" and "STOP" signs when they felt that the role play situation they were listening to got out of hand.

A work of art, sophomore Ashlee Kingsberry tie-dyes her S.T.A.R.S. t-shirt. Each year, the teen leaders are given the choice to either tie dye their shirts or wear them in plain white. This gives the students a chance to show off their individuality, while still participating in a group with common morals and values.

Right: Sing Praise, sophomores Kenny Seather and Daniel Franzwa stand together during worship time. Middle: Keep a straight face, senior Kerrin Gabel is all smiles when she introduces the guest speaker of the week. Left: Heck yes!, senior Christopher Triglia flashes a goofy grin when the meeting ends.

"I like that all of us can get together and fellowship and build each other up. I love that we have a place to pray and worship." - Kerrin Gabel, 12

Believe Generation Life

At the end of the week students come together to listen to a variety of different speakers from churches all over town. They are trying to get all the youth pastors from town to come and speak. "It's challenging and cool at the same time to be president, there are a lot of responsibilities. I like talking to other believers my own age," senior Alan King said.

Moment of silence, Seniors Jared Barnett and Skyler Schlim participate in "See You at the Pole." Kids from all over pray for their school together on this day.

It's your turn to learn, teacher Jeff Stolsig participates in Generation Life. Although teachers are not allowed to lead the meetings, it's nice to see that some attend.

Double take, junior twins Brittany and Amber Pruett go to Generation life together. They are happy to have another thing to share with each other, a love for God.

Get into it, junior Jessica Silva does not pay attention to who is watching her. To her Generation Life is a time for worship. "God is my life. I live for Him," says Silva.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Students group together on Thursdays with the accompaniment of teachers Jeff Stolsig and Mardy Benedict. Being an athlete isn't a requirement, but the atmosphere is generated around athletics. "I like how it's student led, you just kind of converse back and forth with one another," said senior Andrew Hollingsworth.

Bow our heads and pray, seniors, Andrew Hollingsworth, Andrew McHill, and Lindsey Aikin eat while they participate in the FCA lunch meeting.

Kick back, teacher Mardy Benedict and Junior Tom Shanks kick back while they listen to the weeks FCA lesson. These are student led meetings designed for Christian Athletes but, anyone can go and they'd like to see you!

Take it all in, senior Jeffrey Meek has been attending FCA for two and a half years now and says, "I love the games, I like the subjects and the people are amazing," when asked what he enjoys most about the Thursday lunch meetings.

Speak your mind, senior Jordan Jantzi leads a group discussion during one of their Fellowship of Christian Athlete meetings.

Away with words

International, Poetry and Book Club

Language is how we communicate. Whether it is spoken or on paper, we find ways to interact with one another.

International club will travel to France and Spain to use foreign language skills they have acquired. To express their thoughts and inner feelings, poetry club members go to their paper and pencil. Members of the Faculty Book Club relate ideas about the books they may or may not have read at their monthly meetings. "The only rule about book club is that you can't talk about work," said librarian Beverly Smith. "You don't even have to have read the book."

Excitement, "I am really looking forward to all the good times that will come. I have been friends with all the members for quite some time and I can't wait to experience the world with them," said senior Toni Rush.

That's where I'm headed, sophomore Megan Tucker points out a map of France in the Information System's hallway. Being a French I student, she is excited to learn more about European culture.

Hit the road, "I think International Club is a great opportunity," said sophomore Ethan Crenshaw. "I get the chance to see things I might not be able to see again."

Ready to go, juniors Ashley Henry and Nichelle Fandiño are anxious to visit Europe. "It's going to be amazing to see the Eiffel Tower," said Fandiño. "We are going to make some good memories."

Look over here, junior Kelsey Blair looks over as one of her fellow poetry club members demands her attention. "Poetry club is a good way to hang out with friends and read and write about deep issues," said Blair.

Animated, junior Taylor Overbeck uses her hands and facial expressions as well as her poetry to showcase her emotions. "We don't always bring poetry to read. We discuss poetry we see in our world," said Overbeck.

On the web, junior Abigail Lundberg searches for a poem of hers on the internet. After a couple of interruptions she finally got through reading it. "I write poetry mainly for myself. A lot of it is too personal to share," said Lundberg.

Read to live, live to read, the Faculty Book Club meets monthly after school. They chose a book to read and then they enjoy snacks and each others company as they discuss the book. Front: Kimberly Fandiño, Debbie McIntyre and Melody Antons. Back: Carol Dinges and Debbie Edwards.

VICA Skills USA

Skills USA, also known as VICA, participated in a fall conference and spring competition. The Lebanon region is involved in baking and culinary arts. In the high school there are two state officers. "I was involved in Mrs. Clausen's cooking class and she encouraged a lot of us to join." says Shawna Atchison.

At your service, senior Camila Gaskey and junior Olesya Feshchenko serve the staff lunch on a half day.

Just a chuckle, senior Amber Zurcher laughs during a meeting. Zurcher is the vice president for region two. "We do the opening and closing ceremonies at competitions." said Zurcher.

End of the meeting, senior Shawna Atchison a state officer, walks away at the end of a meeting. "We put together the fall and spring conferences. We're basically the leaders." said Atchison about her role.

Hard at work, junior Shartah Triplett and senior Alexander Williams cook and clean during class. Taking Ms. Clausen's cooking class spurred them to join Skills USA. "I love cooking." said Triplett.

"My favorite memory of Key Club was going to the Soup Kitchen and seeing the people with such big smiles on their faces!" - Susan Silva, 10

Volunteers Key Club

They give up their free time to volunteer, a required 50 hours outside of the group activities. Why? "It's fun, and it makes you feel good that you helped someone," said junior Aubree Mayfield. Key club cleaned up the Oregon beaches, walked for diabetes, did coin drives, donated blood, and much more for our community.

Trashy chicks, senior Allison Cawrse and junior Alysia Furman hand out trash bags at the January Beach clean-up. Cawrse sports the bag-poncho look when the rain ponchos ran out.

New members, freshman Kyle Rush accepts his key club member card and pin, given to all new members. Key Club had several new members this year. "I joined Key Club because I wanted to help others," said Rush.

Tea Candle Party, junior Ashley Henry and senior Lindsey Aikin hang out by their boxes. "My favorite memory was the Cardboard Cram we had this year, when we made smores by tea and lit candles," said Aikin.

Santa's helpers, juniors Amanda Masog and Aubree Mayfield collected the most change on the coin drive for Toys for Tots and got to go shopping for toys. "Shopping for toys was fun. Knowing the kids would have a good Christmas really brightened my day," said Mayfield.

Buddies in Business

D.E.C.A.

It isn't all about business. The students involved in DECA know how to mix business with pleasure. After all the long, hard hours spent studying, the time traveling to their final destinations and competing, members let loose on the dance floor.

Being active in this club is a good way to prepare for life in the business world, and to have fun while knowing what is learned will be useful in the future in a big way.

"I am involved in DECA because of the great learning experience and how much fun the activities are. Plus it is a great extracurricular to put on college applications," said junior Damian Staten.

DECA gives you an opportunity for real life experience and a fun time with friends. - Chris Meek, 10

DECA has been a great opportunity for me to learn how to become a better leader and taught me how to apply what I have learned to real life. - Kalynn Alley, 11

DECA helps you succeed on the road of life. - Cory Lewis, 10

I love knowing that now I am more prepared for the future because of DECA. - Kayla Kingsberry, 10

Evening at the Empire, Kalynn Alley, Pam Cowart, Christine Molina and Candice Molina enjoy a cold but eventful night at The Empire State Building in New York. "That night we watched a couple get engaged, we saw all of New York from the sky and froze to death! We had alot of fun together," said Cowart.

"My favorite part of DECA is prepping for competitions and seeing myself excel in different areas of business. Staying in hotels and free time after competing is also fun," said senior Judd Wolfer.

"I like DECA because it prepares me for the future and I love meeting new people." said junior Tabatha Price.

"To me, DECA is one of the greatest experiences. You get to meet so many amazing people who share the same interests as you do," said senior Rachel Schoenthal.

"DECA kids are awesome. They were so impressive at the State conference. Most of them were in the top of their events." - Adviser Lily Edwards

Ice skating was just the break they needed to refresh them for more marketing business.

Tight squeeze, at a soil judging competition, junior Rachelle Alley felt a need for some humor and put herself into a big tractor tire. "I fit with room to spare! My butt was lifted because the tire rim was wet," said Alley.

Nice and cozy, freshmen Shayna Grissom, Amy Schmadeka, and sophomore Mikki Williams stand by the bon fire after a reef making project for Christmas. "It was really cold outside, I wish we had marshmallows to roast over the fire," said Schmadeka.

The perfect fit, freshman Arron Roles takes a seat into a Wrangler tractor at a mechanic shop that the F.F.A. went to. Their were numerous tractors that students were able to check out and learn from.

A trio, juniors Troy Vanloovan, Andy Ranken, and sophomore Dustin Herb sit down to have some lunch after a competition.

"What brought me to F.F.A. was I was asked to do a part in the leadership camp, and I liked it so much that I joined it for good!"

Left: Behind the ears, During a petting zoo at the highschool, junior Jessica Jacobson views while teacher Diane Michael and Ashlee Rhodes pet the lambs. Middle: Center Stage, while the whole F.F.A. club was in the commons for some group pictures, sophomore Kody Hayes looks out into the school. "I was looking for someone," said Hayes.

Right: Here piggy, piggy, sophomore Karlee Hermans takes her own little pig for a walk through the school while Brenda Bianchi heads back to the office.

"I was showing my baby pig off to bring in new members into the F.F.A. program."

Work the land F.F.A

Through hard work and dedication, the F.F.A. program and members have expanded into one of the largest clubs in Lebanon High School. With access to the farming life, many individuals have learned how to plant soil, judge competitions, and take care of animals. "F.F.A. is a way of life, and I feel it has the values and opportunities I need," said junior Rachelle Alley. This club has not only taught many young people the farming culture, but as well it has taught responsibility and work ethic. "I enjoy the agriculture experience I get," said senior Daniel May. This booming program has brought so much experience to many students and hopes of more participation in years to come.

In harmony

Multiple Choirs

Choir brings students together from many different social groups. While some find their niche in drama, some in musical theatre, and some in athletics or other various groups. They all share one common interest; the love for singing. "I joined choir because I enjoy connecting with other people who are interested in the same thing as me," said sophomore Ethan Crenshaw.

Students in choir not only sang in class, but got out into the community as well. They got to sing the national anthem at home football games, caroled for the entire school, and sang at the annual Christmas tree lighting. They also sang at fundraisers and asked for donations to help fund a trip to San Francisco.

Front: Abigail Lundberg and Jonathan Woods. Middle: Brittany Pruett, Liana Tunnisson, Michelle Smail, Tana Wilson, Charlotte Boegler, Ethan Crenshaw, Brittney Wolf, Bess Nichols, David Sullivan and Colin Salisbury. Back: Skylar Schlim, Josh McCaw, Kevin Wong, Scott Wilson and Terri McCaw.

"I have been singing since I started to talk, well that's what my mom told me." - Terri McCaw, 12

"My favorite part of choir is being a part of a group with the ability to make beautiful sounds."
- Colin Salisbury, 12

"I hope that I can go on to Broadway and pursue acting and singing as careers." - Ethan Crenshaw, 10

"Choir is nice because the people in there are just as weird as I am." - David Sullivan, 12

Left: Together we stand, senior Tori Harvey and junior Brittney Pruett participated in "Holidays In The Park." The choir group sang carols just after the tree-lighting ceremony. Middle: I stand alone, foreign exchange student Charlotte Boegler shows off her voice in auditions. Right: Bring us together, choir has brought many people together and helped form friendships that will last a life time. Senior Tana Wilson, sophomore Josh McCaw, seniors Fagan Clark and Bess Nichols all share their love for singing.

"I love hanging out with all my choir geek friends, and hearing all the work we've done come together and sound beautiful." - Bess Nichols, 12

California or bust, sophomore Ethan Crenshaw and senior Colin Salisbury sing outside of Shop N' Kart to raise money for a trip to San Francisco. The group sold Christmas wreaths and asked for donations.

"Being able to play a complicated piece of music makes me happy." - Taylor Overbeck, 11 "I've been in band since fifth grade." - Thadeus Samson, 10

Band Ten Hut!

To some, music is not just an important part of their life, but it is their life. "It's relaxing...at times" said senior Tori Harvey. For others, it is a way to express themselves.

Whether it be marching, concerts or showing up at seven in the morning, it takes dedication and time. As freshman Flint Yoder said, "Band is awesome!"

Watch your step, senior Angela Kilbourne "schleps" her music stand and instrument offstage to make room for the choir.

Ding dong ding, freshman Jacob Thompson concentrates on playing his part on the glockenspiel during one of the songs from the Winter concert.

Picking the lead, "The majority of the time we play covers of old rock songs, in which a guitar is an essential part, which makes it sound less bandy," said sophomore Sean Stalley.

Little horn, big horn, seniors Joseph Jorgenson, with his cornet, and David Hawes, with his mellophone, play "Green onions" in the homecoming field show.

Get ready to play, sophomore Frank McDaniel looks toward the band director for his cue to start playing. "Can we play yet?" He wonders curiously, waiting patiently.

Sound off, senior Joseph Jorgenson stands on the risers as he plays with the rest of Jazz Band A. He is one of five trumpet players enrolled in this zero period class.

An oncoming solo, "The key to soloing is to pretend you know what you're doing," said senior Lindsey Aikin focusing intently on her music, making her way through each measure of the song.

It don't mean a thing if it ain't got that swing, sophomore Benjamin Williams with seniors Tyler Scott and Joseph McCaw perform in Jazz Band A at a concert.

Jazz Band A: Front: Grace Nauman, Lindsey Aikin, Alison Krebs, Joseph McCaw, Meegan Robinson and Thomas Evans. Middle: Tori Harvey, Sean Stalley, Joshua McCaw, Claire Nauman, Minnie Phillips and Benjamin Williams. Back: Allison Carwse, Britny Stewart, Colin McHill, Laurie Newton, Joseph Jorgensen, Ian Avilez, Leah Suderman and Josh Head.

"My favorite part of band is Mr. Head yelling at the drummers to be quiet" - Christopher Yarber, 11 "Band is my stress reliever." - Aaron Budiselich, 9

Left: A new instrument? "The trumpophone is among the newest breed of super instruments," said sophomore Megan Tucker. Middle: "Dummer is one letter shy of Drummer" jokes sophomore Britany Stewart. Right: "Reed" the music! "I've done band since the sixth grade and I love it," said junior Grace Nauman.

Expressing oneself, senior Barbie McGehee lets her funky side show during a drama club meeting. "Barbie is an excellent rug. A perfect carpet. The dance routines she comes out with are kind of fun to do and kind of fun to watch," said Junior Trevor Lauffenberger.

Bad girls, juniors Taylor Overbeck and Claire Naumen discuss their mothers dating life in a scene at regionals. "Regionals is a really great way to make new friends, and compete in a fun way," said Junior Claire Naumen.

Grooming in Drama, drama club board members take a break from the stage to check up on their hygiene. "When I went to regionals there were three rounds we competed in and we rocked in all of them, www" said junior Scott Wilson.

Drunken sailor, senior Colin Salisbury plays a drunken Silenus that teaches King Mitus [played by Jonathen woods], a thing or two about appreciating life.

"A fantastic group of kids! They are supportive of each other, help each other improve their skills and have great fun together! It's been a great year."

Left: The effects of boredom, "We got bored at our hotel so we decided to paint our faces," said freshman Sydney Watts. Middle: Love is in the Air, seniors Tori Harvey and Ian Johnson act out a scene in the fall play [Metamorphosis]. "The wings were sweet, but Victoria Secret wouldn't stop calling (lol)," said Ian Johnson. Right: Farewell, "Even though the scene was depressing and a royal pain, it was still fun to do," said sophomore Josh McCaw.

Act two Drama Club

The characters changed but the crew didn't. They had a few come and go but most stuck together through thick and thin. Their passion and love of pretend lead to a great drama career in high school. With at least ten seniors leaving us this year, the show must go on. Sophomore Scott Wilson said, "It has always been an interest of mine to be in different clubs but drama stuck out like a sore thumb."

For some more than others saying goodbye to the stage and hello to the real world is going to be a real eye opener. For example senior Kyle Duttlinger said, "I'm going to miss the goofy times, especially, rolling off the stage from a couch. [That was a good one]."

Back: Ian Johnson, Jeff Meek, Alan King, Kyle Duttlinger, Patrick McGuffin, Trevor Lauffenberger, Ethan Crenshaw, Debbie Edwards, Jeannie Ogilvie and Joe Hill. Miranda Gestrin, Taylor Overbeck, Charlotte Boegler, Michael Salisbury, Kyle Rush, Julia Pelster, Salome Schneider, Morgan McGowan, Sydney Watts, and Minnie Philips. "I am a comedy kid hands down!" - Ethan Crenshaw, 10

"I have a condition...Dramakiditis...don't worry, I'm taking medication for it." - David Sullivan, 12

"I love Monty Python." - Charolotte Boegler, 12

"I love performing." - Tori Harvey, 12

"Drama club is fun and when I was younger I really wanted to be an actor." - Brittany Pruet, 11

"I did drama because it sounded like fun." - Brittany Wolff, 9

"I prefer drama because of the different emotional poles you get to explore." - Fagan Clark, 12

"Ewan McGregor is my freaking hero!" - Colin Salisbury, 12

Headlines Newspaper

Survivor. Big Brother. The Bachelor. Now, welcome the newest reality TV hit, Newspaper: Lebanon High!

Here everything is unscripted, uncensored and out of control. Here, there is new drama everyday. Here old habits die hard. Here you see first-hand the stress of deadlines and late night paste-ups. Here you experience the wrath of Hannah. Do not miss a single minute!

Deadlines Yearbook

Working diligently into the night and taking up residence in room 210 became common practice for members of the yearbook staff. Their passion for bringing the best possible book was second to none. With the hope of producing an award winning book they would not quit, coming in on holiday breaks and Saturdays, the job was to be done and done well

Giving Lessons, Yearbook Editor - in- Chief senior Melissa Cady gives newspaper ads manager a lesson in InDesign.

Editor Behind the Scenes, senior Sarah Mackie handling stress in the positive way. Mackie was the photo editor that may not of been in the class but was always on duty.

Studying the waves, freshman Aaron Budeselich waits for the perfect moment to snap an amazing photograph at one of our home swim meets.

Learning something new, seniors Karisten Kilborne and Hustin Franzwa experiencing the enthusiasm of proofing proofs.

Back: Pamela Cowart, Latisha Cordero and Jesse Flick. Second: Jenna Narrow, Morgan Brantner, Tiffany Cornish, Kristina Walker, Kyle Davis, Aaron Budeselich and Marissa Hulse. Third: Tina Dodge, Ashley Lefebvre, Hustin Franzwa, Sarah Mackie, Melissa Cady, Allison Haley and Aaron Scott. Fourth: Brianne Barton, Rebekah Johnson, Amanda Masog, Karisten Kilborn, Romaine Ashley, Arleta Balagot, Milo Dickson and Lena Anderson. Front: Aubree Mayfield, Jessica Silva and Cindy White.

What was an enjoyable moment?

"It was fun going with the group of girls that I went with. We got pizza before and just had a good time."
- Ashley Bilyeu, 12

"I had all my best friends with me, we went to Skippers before the dance and Shari's afterwards." - Jessica Lara, 12

"The best part was dancing." - Dillon Middleton, 11

"Formal was a blast! Everyone looked great and had fun. We made sure everyone danced up a storm."
- Natasha West, 9

How long do I have to smile? juniors Le Anna Bartolf and Josh Wolfenbarger wait patiently for the flash photography to end.

"I enjoyed the dancing because the whole atmosphere was positive." - Trevor Lauffenberger, 11

(I didn't go to the dance because) "I couldn't drive yet, I can now though."

Winter Formal

Roll out the red carpet

Lebanon High School sported it's own red carpet this year complete with cardboard pop ups, and flashing photography. Junior Le Anna Bartolf was asked about the moment she was pronounced queen; "I felt embarrassed because I didn't expect it and everyone looked at me and it was scary." The court was graceful and elegantly dressed, filling out their tiaras beautifully.

Those who were familiar with the formal dances knew right away what to do and where to go. Getting as close to the speakers and lights as you possibly can, worked for some people, while others were just getting used to the idea of dancing. "My favorite part was having the courage to get out on the dance floor," said freshman Amanda McDowell.

- Kody Hayes, 10

Miracles Everyday

Special Ed.

Many people come into the world to change a life, a place, a community. The Special Education department is full of many individuals who have succeeded in this aspect. These bright, young students have faced many challenges in their life so far, but have brought true meaning to our community of Lebanon, showing how special one really is. "My class is full of the most unique individuals in this school, the hardest workers, and they have the best sense of humor!" said Linda Seeno. From learning basic skills, to their very own Valentines Prom, our generation of miracles leads the way to a much fulfilled future. Struggles may be a bit harder for these students to overcome, but in the end a struggle will only make you stronger.

"My best friend is Mindy Hatmaker." - Krista Schwieger, 12

"My favorite thing is dancing." - Stephanie Felipa, 12

"I love cooking because it teaches me how to cook."
- Ashley Whitney, 10

"My favorite thing to do is sing with my friends and Thomas." - Marty Long, 11

"My best friend at school is Erika Krusee."
- Anna Yost, 10

"Everyday is interesting." - Linda Seeno

Left: The brick house, senior Krista Schwieger and sophomore Charles McDonald are grouped together to separate the newspapers. Middle: Water waves, senior Ashley Day swims with some friends, using a noodle to keep herself afloat. All the kids went swimming from 1:30 to 2:30 on Thursdays. Right: Spirit squad, seniors Stephanie Felipa, Elizabeth Felipa, and Erika Kruse, junior Marty Long, and sophomores Anna Yost and Charles McDonald are gathered together at one of our outrageous pep assemblies.

to do at school is hanging out with my friends and my best friend Izzie." - Ashley Whitney, 10

"My favorite color is green." - Anna Yost, 10

Helping hands, sophomore Ashley Whitney is guided by teacher Linda Seeno to roll around the rink in Lebanon for some all out fun.

Knowledge is power, senior Jessica Read has found something interesting to read, as she takes a moment to look over the daily newspaper. As well, Jessica helps to get the paper routes together that will later be delivered.

Caught ya, A boys hangout, freshman Andy Smith and junior Steven Kau take a break from skating at the skating rink to socialize and give the camera a quick smile.

Free floating, nice and relaxed, senior Brian Waltenburg helps to keep junior Marty Long floating on top of the water in the swimming pool.

V Volunteering/ Jobs

Get Involved

As we reach our mid-teens, the demand for money seems to increase rapidly. Main Steet, with just about every fast food joint visible, is the perfect place for teens to find a part time job. "I oversee youth programs and help run the activities. Whenever the kids need help with homework they come to me," said senior Rachel Schoenthal who works at the Boys & Girls Club. With the recent opening of A&W/KFC, Carls Jr., and Super Wal-Mart job opportunities are becoming even wider.

Of course, there are always those who choose to volunteer their time. Once again, our tiny town offers plenty of volunteer opportunities as well. Ranging from the Soup Kitchen, to the Hospital to Safe Haven. "I volunteer at Safe Haven and I foster animals. I foster kittens or pregnant cats and care for them until they're ready to be adopted," said senior Nicole Stone.

Do not let the size of our town be discouraging; make the best of the many opportunities.

Squeaky Clean, junior Joshua Wolfenbarger cleans up some dishes at Bings restaurant and still manages to keep a smile on his face.

Left: Clean um' up, senior Nicholas Pomeroy loves it when teacher Mark Whitson orders massive numbers of burgers for paste-up. Middle: Cute puppy, senior Nicole Stone works at the Albany Pet Stop where she deals with animals and customers. "My job is the best job I could have because I want to work with animals when I get older." Right: May I take your order?, junior Anna Beggs attentively listens to the orders of her customers.

"I pretty much fix the can machines at Safeway and sometimes bag some groceries." Jesse Flick, 12

Left: Wrap it up, senior Shawna Atchison wraps up a taco for one of the many high school age customers who eat at Taco Time. "I am the main closer, so I close the store with another person about five nights a week. Make food, and do lots of cleaning," said Atchison. Middle: Re-stack, junior Milo Dickson places extra cups next to the register at Taco Bell where he along with other students work after school or on the weekends. "I take orders and clean. Sometimes I make food," said Dickson. Right: Cheesy, senior Heather Krause makes one of the many delicious tacos offered at Taco Time here in Lebanon. "I enjoy my job because we really don't do anything and people we know always come in," said Krause.

Why do you volunteer?

"There aren't many people who volunteer today... Even something as simple as holding the door open for someone is appreciated. It's a good feeling."

- Allison Cawrse, 12

"I like to help people."

- Brittani Standing, 11

Seniors

"Well I was born in a small town- educated in a small town- used to daydream in that small town- but I've seen it all in a small town- had myself a ball in a small town- no I cannot forget where it is that I come from..."

- John Mellencamp

Can you believe that we have come so far as to say "we are graduating?" Who can remember when a dance consisted of snowballs and having the same pop songs being played three or four times. A serious relationship was reaching the three month mark, and if you told your best friend a secret, by the end of the day your worst enemy would know about it. When P.E. still allowed dodgeball and your fingertips had to reach the end of your shorts... Things have definitely changed.

In eighth grade, a huge tragedy hit New York and it affected everyone in this country. Lebanon, Oregon was no exception. When we are older and talking with our children about our younger years, we will be among the few who are old enough to remember what life was like before 9/11 and then live a life after it. How many of us know exactly what they were doing when they first heard the news? It has not even been five years since the attack and look at how much better we are doing. There was a great amount of growing up to do when it happened and we rose to the task triumphantly.

As freshmen we tried to understand an A/B block schedule with eight separate classes. We can say that we were the last to be loved by Mr. Woody, which, let's face it, was awkward. Sophomore year seemed slightly easier with a solid A block schedule, except for the heavy construction and a slight noise about "Systems" which made absolutely no sense whatsoever. Junior year the transition to trimesters arrived and now that slight buzzing of systems was screaming in our ears. Administrators said the systems were a big deal, but for us upperclassman they would be lenient, which we were grateful for. Finally the wonderful year of graduation arrived and the screaming was so loud it was all we could do to stand that one hallway we were supposed to stay in. Soon the only screaming we will hear will be ourselves, as we throw our caps in the air.

There are those who unfortunately will not be taking the walk. Whether they are just staying another year or they are truly unable to share the experience, we love them all the same and will carry them with us always.

Whether we are staying in this small town or going beyond it none of us will ever forget how we grew up to be who we are. We are the Lebanon Warriors, graduating class of 2006.

Two of a kind

Some memories can be made with a sibling or a significant other. Take junior best friends Kati Sly and Courtney Leland, "our moms worked together," said Sly. Or junior Mark Ekins and sophomore Katlyn Ellis's most memorable moment. "At a volleyball game, I had a Payday that I took into the store [AM/PM]. I went to the bathroom and my belt did not buckle and the manager thought I stole the Payday, so he told me to show my hands and when I did, my pants fell down." said Ekins.

Students shall experience many heart breaking and heart warming moments, but both will be carried with them, forever.

Middle: Fishy Lips, juniors Courtney Leland and Kati Sly make faces at each other during a moment of free time.

Right: One in a Pair, sophomores Nick Shoulders and Amanda Duncan smile comfortably together in the commons.

"Both of our moms knew each other and they were together a lot and so Angela (Baker) and I met and we have been best friends ever since." - Amanda Spaulding, 10

Left: Dazed and Confused, sophomores Aaron Scott and Olivia Zedan cuddle and comfort each other on a very cold day. The couple met three years ago, and have been together for two years. Middle: Follow the Yellow Brick Road, sophomore Amanda Spaulding and junior Angela Baker joke around while walking outside for a breath of fresh air. Amanda and Angela have been friends for the last fifteen years, because their moms know each other. Right: Hold Me! junior Eli Wilson catches fellow junior Derek Olson in mid-air. Eli and Derek met in the first grade while playing indoor soccer.

Showing their Expressions, freshman Tiazabrina Oliver and senior Tiffany Oliver stare down the hall while talking together. "I'm her role model," said Tiffany when asked why they are so close. Tiazabrina and Tiffany have gone through a lot and no matter the distance, they are both sisters and best friends.

Free Time & Hobbies

Musically in touch, senior Jonathan Woods strums his guitar during Scott Crowell's AP Language Arts class. Woods taught himself to play his freshman year and went on to take three guitar classes. "I've thought about getting a band together, but it never really worked out," said Woods. He is also actively involved in drama and choir.

"I am always working. That is where I spend most of my time after school during the winter. In the fall and spring I play football and baseball, though." - Ryan Ness, 11

What we do after 3:15...

How often we find ourselves contemplating what to do after the bell rings at 3:15 on school days. After all, Lebanon is pretty small. Despite the lack of activities around town, most people find their own way to occupy themselves.

Some are actively involved in athletics, clubs, or other extra curricular activities from school. Then there are those who go beyond what Lebanon High School offers. Senior Jonathan Woods, for example, as shown to the left, spends some of his free time practicing the guitar.

Above Left: En Garde! senior Gavin Pruitt displays his European sword. Pruitt collects medieval letter openers. He started at the age of 10, but since his last visit to the Renaissance Fair, he started collecting swords. Middle: Roll 'em, Jana Deppe, a German foreign exchange student, has collected dice for about two years. "I play Dungeons and Dragons, and you need a lot of dice to play the game. They are also weird looking things." Right: Dear Diary..., sophomore Susan Silva is caught journaling during school hours. "For me, journaling is just a way of understanding how I feel." Silva journals just about every other day, spending as much as a few hours and as little as 20 minutes in each entry.

What do you draw, and why do you do it?

"[I draw] pictures, because I have nothing better to do with my time." - David Sullivan, 12

"I like to draw stuff that may have different meanings because you are not restricted by what you draw."

- Lisa Hodgon, 11

"Free time?" - Brittani Standing, 11

Left: "Back in 1945..." junior Thomas Shanks takes us back into the mid 1940's with his collection of WWII Memorabilia. He collects "knives, guns, uniforms, medals... [and] a lot of books. Middle: Design for toddlers, "I build houses out of Legos and use them for inspirations for real house designs," said senior Katie Springer. She has been building with Legos since she was a toddler. Right: Vroom!, freshmen Holly Lanning drag races every weekend from March to November. She started racing at age 11. Her father inspires her. "My dad supports me; he races his Mustang."

Pep Assemblies

Total annihilation, "The seniors dominated the teachers. We were more enthusiastic in our performance," said senior Jordan Jantzi. With the help of fellow seniors Jesse Flick, Andrew Hollingsworth, Zach Hood, Christopher Triglia and Andrew Walnum, these "cowboys" got the crowd excited.

"The best part about pep assemblies is definitely the band. Who cares about court?" - Alison Krebs, 11

"All of the energy of the students is a really

"I enjoy watching pep assemblies very much. They make me laugh." - Sage Gerson, 9

Enjoy the show

Pep assemblies are a way for students to cheer loud, relieve stress, show school spirit and get out of class. For the teachers, they are a way to get their groove on. "We practiced everyday at lunch for...3 days," said Soc. Sys. teacher Nancy Bauer. "The seniors did a great job too, although their dance was rather obvious," said Bauer.

Even though opinions differ on the actual winner of the dance-off, both the teachers and the seniors pulled off a great performance.

Left: Unplugged, junior Seth Probert performed his skit for Winter Formal. When his cord was unplugged his princess Blair Healy came to his rescue with a back up battery. Middle: Bound together, "It was horrible. I was not ready for that," said sophomore Melissa Cordero. Cordero and senior Toni Rush ran the three-legged race for the girls soccer team. Right: Speak up, junior Alysia Furman does her job as spirit coordinator. "I was kind of nervous talking in front of everyone," said Furman. "We had some unexpected extra time so I didn't know what to say."

What is your favorite pep assembly memory?

LeAnn Bartholf, 11
"At Freshman Orientation, the freshmen ate cake with onions and gross stuff in it."

"Watching Katy Ellis shove a whole cheeseburger in her mouth!" - Megan Adams, 10

positive experience." - Kayla Kingsberry, 10

"Karisten has written a lot of songs. We're gonna put them to music with me playing bass and her on the guitar. We're gonna rock your world... at least 3 times a week. All

Don't try this at home, senior Codie Lindsey possesses the unique ability of swallowing her tongue. She discovered this talent at a young age, but does not advise anyone to try it because, "You might choke on your tongue."

Talents

I wish I could do that!

Talent. Everyone has something they are good at. Whether weird and out of the ordinary or normal and socially acceptable, our athletes and artists are not the only ones with talent.

"I don't get some of the things people can do with their bodies. Stretchy people are intriguing..." said senior Tyler Elijah. Often, people fail to realize that even small talents count. "Not only can I drive a stick, but I can talk on my cellular device and eat at the same time," said senior Zachary Hood.

People may have their different views of what talent really is, but it is inevitable that everyone finds something they strive to be good at. All it takes is a little practice, hard work and many, many days of boredom to discover your niche, or rather, your gift.

Top Left: Twist about, freshman Aaron Budiselich can rotate his feet inward more than 90 degrees. Middle: Behold our next Picasso, senior Rhory Costelow has been drawing since he was two. He likes drawing things that challenge others to exit their comfort zones. Right: Frame it high, a piece of Soc. Sys. teacher Scott Crowell's handmade stained glass shows it's brilliance. Soc. Sys. teacher Steve Quigley also creates stained glass artwork. The two make pieces both together, and independently.

Sports

"[Swimming] is an individual sport, and I like to play for myself." - Alan King, 12

I play [soccer] for the accomplishment you feel after winning a game... knowing you can do it." - Justin Albion, 9

To some, sports are a reason for living. For others, sports have proven to be either a waste of time or mere entertainment. Sports at Lebanon, however, have affected us all.

Whether in the middle of class, getting the release announcement for away games or it is on the field, making or breaking the game with your every move, sports are a part of our lives.

So our teams were not first in state every season... but that did not keep us from showing school pride at our sports events, or putting in our all at workouts.

Sport events gave us a reason to dress up, goof off, and just be ourselves.

Warriors!

Right: Reach for it, senior Jesse Flick catches a difficult pass. Middle: Put a smile on, junior Seth Probert studies the action on the field to get ready for the next play. Left: Warrior strength, sophomore Robbie Zaina, junior Nestor Carillo, senior Chad Anderson and the rest of the team's defense stop the opponents from moving the ball up the field.

"I like the game. I like to hit people." - Brent Trask, 12

"I always drink a twelve ounce can of Pepsi before the game." - Ricky Wuori, 12

On the ball

Varsity Football

Sports are all about the love of the game and the friendships formed. Through injuries and difficulties the team held it together and made it through the season. "It was all worth it when the fans stormed the field at the game in South Albany," said junior Seth Probert. Though there were too many losses, the excited and encouraging fans helped keep the team going. Senior Taylor Judys' favorite part of the season was, "After the South Eugene game getting pictures taken with everyone and talking about life after football and what we are going to do." For many, this was the last year as a student and player. Even though the season is over, the game and players will be remembered.

Senior Mitchell Swanson was recognized by his team as a key player. "He had about 15 tackles a game," said senior Jesse Flick.

"(My best memory was) football camp because I got to hang out with everyone." - Andrew Hollingsworth, 12

Dog Pile, juniors Isaiah Russell and Jason Pruett, and seniors Mitchell Swanson and Brent Trask all swarm in on the North Eugene player to make the tackle.

Rush 'em down

JV Football

This year's team had a lot of heart. Coming into the season they knew they wanted to prove themselves to the other teams in the tough Midwestern league. Winning three games was an improvement from the defeats they suffered last year as freshmen. "It was an all around team effort this year," said sophomore Russell Duerr.

This talented group of mostly sophomores has the potential to go far. "We came together as a team this year," said Duerr. As long as they stick together there is a good chance of success of the varsity level.

Keep hydrated, sophomore Derek VanAntwerp was recognized by his teammates as being a cool guy, a good leader, and great player. "I caught passes when we needed a first down," said VanAntwerp.

"We never lost confidence. We were always ready no matter what." - Brett Seiber, 10

"Winning isn't everything... it's the only thing." - Marcus Giese, 10

Stay away from the ball... sophomore Steven Castro shoves a Springfield player away as he attempts to make a break for it. "An important part of being a running back is keeping possession of the ball."

"The most amazing play of the season was when Steven Castro ran a kick-off return back with little time on the clock to win the game." - Colton Hackstedt, 10

Future Champs

Freshmen Football

"It was fun, we broke a losing streak. It was really a learning experience," said quarterback Brenton Bilyeu.

Through wins and losses, breaks and sprains, the Freshmen football team stuck together; forming friendships and developing skills. "We had fun and we got a lot better. The kids were great," said coach Jeff Stolsig.

Making memories out of wins, keeping their heads up after losses, improving and working with each other every step of the way. The future beckons!

Towering over the competition, "[Johnny Braun] is a touchdown scoring machine!" said fellow player Nate Jones.

Dead in his tracks, Justin Estes and Steven Pyle tackle an opponent to the dirt as he tries to gain the upper-hand and score a touchdown. "I love to tackle people," said Steven Pyle. "I love hitting people and not getting in trouble."

First: Nate Jones. Second: Zach Jones, Mitch Glasser, Lindsey Ness, Betsy Van Curler, Kendra Kommer, Ben Peters, Chris Padilla. Third: Austin Stewart, Nico Johnson, Coach Jordan Ford, Coach Jeff Stolsig, Coach Terry Deacon, Coach Rich Slavenski, Joel Aranda, Ben Buley. Fourth: Steve Pyle, Matt Wright, Wes Kinyoun, Daniel Bates, Ted Kraemer, Bradley Stagnoli, Brenton Bilyeu, Pavel Kokhanevich. Fifth: Cody Sweigart, Michael Duncan, Mitchel Brown, Gunner Murry, Jon Roosa, Amos Parmenter, Colin McHill. Back: Justin Estes, Blain Raymond, John Carlson, Jonathan Braun, Bryce Stubbs and Arron Roles.

"[This season] was awesome! I played football" - Kim Trask, 10

"Some of the football players needed improvement, but only some." - Tawny Edwards, 10

Left: The clock is ticking, players hustle on to the field after taking a well deserved half-time break. Middle: Two too many, the team piles on top of the competition, proving the Warriors are a forced to be reckoned with. Right: More than anguish, the team take a breather after a rough game of both brains and brawn.

Left: Full of Pride, sophomore Melissa Cordero and freshman Mandy Stevenson strive to be the best as they show off their mad skills in front of their opponents. Middle: Lending a helping hand, junior Le Anna Bartholf rushes out comfort to co-captain Melissa Cordero in her moment of dehydration. Right: I got this, freshman Coddie Marshall struts her stuff as goal keeper, after chasing down a stray ball.

"They had the best players because everyone who was playing was just amazing!" - Allison Haley, 10

Show no fear, freshman Mattea Godsey takes charge and shows her opponent what she's made of, with ambition in her mind and courage on the field.

Voted M.V.P., sophomore [Melissa Cordero] "Was a good captain, she gave 110% effort and was encouraging to the whole team," said Mattea Godsey. "She was willing to make many sacrifices for our team."

I'm Fine

Women's Jv Soccer

The future of the program is young, fresh and excited to make that next step in the coming years.

"Our players really proved themselves and strived to improve," said co-captain Emily King. With these improvements made at all levels by the girls' soccer program, the future is also bright.

"We started out, not so great. But at the end we showed a lot of great improvements," said goal keeper Coddie Marshall.

Front: Alaina Ward-Lehnert, Coddie Marshall, Randi Moncy. Middle: Carly Armstrong, Le Anna Bartholf, Lindsay Shanks, Mattea Godsey, Felisia Staup, Gina Elliott. Back: Michelle Morch, Mandy Stevenson, Coach Lindsay Fitchett, Emily King and Melissa Cordero.

"There are many memorable moments, too many to name just one." - Sierra Engler, 9

Give it your all Women's Varsity Soccer

The girls had a long three months filled with injuries and illnesses, but that didn't stop them from pushing forward and challenging themselves throughout the season. "My most memorable moment was when my teammate ran into me I broke my elbow," said junior Ashley Henry. Henry was out for several weeks but still came back fighting in the end. The hard work paid off and the girls pulled together for a win over Marshfield on the last game of the year. "Everyone did awesome and we all had fun," said sophomore Rosemarie Ragsdale. The Lady Warriors finished off the season with their heads held high despite their record.

Moving Up

Men's Varsity Soccer

The seniors on the boys varsity soccer team have been through some rough times in their high school soccer careers. For the past few years winning a game was not even heard of. This year was different. "I played soccer this season because I wanted to win and I felt we could do that this year," said senior Matthew Albion. All of the team's dedication and hard work paid off. They won 5 games; tied 1, and lost 8. Although it was still not technically a winning season, you would not know by looking at the team. Their spirits were high and they formed some great bonds.

Everyone is looking forward to next year. "Do better in the new league," advised senior Jonathan Orlando. "Make a name for yourselves."

Here I go, senior Matthew Albion was recognized by his team as a key player. For most games Albion played the forward position. "My favorite memory on the soccer field was my hat trick against Marshfield," said Albion.

*Front: Anthony Darling. Second: Michael Barish, Jonathan Orlando and Eli Wilson. Third: Elijah VanSpeyBrock, Gregory Thomson, Matthew Albion, Andrew McHill, Joseph Conrad, Michael Leisinger and Colten Schumacher. # Give 'n' Goal

JV Soccer

A season of teamwork brought the Men's JV soccer team a year to remember. Having 5 wins, 5 losses, and 1 tie the team was overall, very satisfied. "We watched the season go by with laughter, disappointment and triumph!" said freshman Christian Barajas. Throughout the time spent together, each player gained more than just having a good season, they bonded and became a unit. With a brutal 10-1 killing against Marshfield, and a last game victory over Sheldon, the season ended with great memories and some defeats. "It was the first win in four years against Sheldon," said sophomore Jeff VanEpps. With much success this year, next season will only bring more.

A player recognized for effort, freshman Michael Mackie is known for following through and bringing the "A" game when it was most needed.

Powder Puff

Homecoming week would not be complete without the excitement of the Powder Puff match between the Senior and Junior girls. Cute hair ribbons, flags on the waist, and war paint decorated the football field that chilly October evening.

Despite the fear that juniors would lose, as is tradition, they were able to keep up with the seniors in order to get a tie of 6-6. The score turned out to be a bit of a disappointment for some, and a celebration for others.

First: Le Anna Bartholf, Hannah Welker, Megan Vorderstrasse, Anjali Smith, Amanda Masog, Alison Krebs, Leah Suderman and Ashley Henry Second: Christina Morton, Nichole Barricklow, Rachel Fabiny, Jessica Engeseth, Jessica Silva, Megan Phillips, Ashley Floyd, Amanda Primasing, Karlee Dennis and Aubree Mayfield. Third: Courtney Leland, Jayna Engeseth, Brianne Barton, Tina Lee, Brittani Standing, Nichole Wimer, Rebekah Johnson, Jaleta Parmenter, Kimberly Trask, Hailey Opel and Marta Barbosa. Fourth: Jaqueline Nelson, Linda Loehr, Alisha Murphy, Jennifer Ford, Nichole Torrance, Holly Matz, Brittany Green, Brittany Murphy, Cindy White and Michelle Olson. Fifth: Alysia Furman, Terri Campbell, Ashley Flierl, Kathleen Hull, Kaitlyn Townsend, Kendra Kromer, Katie Lawrence and Rebecca Fillmore.

From the sidelines, seniors Terri McCaw, Katie Springer and Bess Nichols cheer on their fellow seniors girls from the sidelines of the powder puff game.

"I had no clue what Powder Puff was, but in Germany I have played something similar in P.E...Rugby?" - Lea Ulrich, 12

"Us girls can be tough and get dirty, too!" - Shellie Norton, 12

Left: Time is running out, the seniors girls hustle down the field for the next play while still in the lead. Middle: Rip and tear, juniors Kathleen Hull and Alicia Murphy stop senior Gina Cavallucci from continuing the play. Right: Down... set... the senior offensive line get ready to hike the ball for a final play.

First: Jacklynn Allison, Tiffany Tuttle, Amberly Saul, Janet Vanepps, Rachel Schoenthal, Heather Goss, Carmen Brantner, Kyra Sigler, Cami Bloom and Justeen Ruetters. Second: Ashley Hilton, Laci Bolman, Megan Hainz, Victoria Harvey, Barbara McGehee, Rhianna Giddings, Codie Lindsey, Nicole Stone, Alysse Adams, Candice Molina, Malisa Lowrey, Christine Molina, Amber Gaither and Hustin Franzwa. Third: Rachel Kennedy, Lea Ulrich, Camila Gaskey, Amber Ally, Janell Pulido, Elizabeth Rochefort, Gina Cavallucci, Tiffany Gutierrez, Ashley Justice and Shawna Atchison. Fourth: Kateryna Zhezhera, Katie Springer, Terri McCaw, Ashley Bilyeu, Shellie Norton, Amanda Jensen, Sarah Mayfield, Amanda Kleinschmit and Amber Zurcher. Fifth: Bess Nichols, Elisa Kruger, Lindsey Aikin, Mary Buchheit, Heather Krause, Larissa Delgado, Pamela Cowart, Stevie Froemke and Destiny Neuenschwander.

"Tuff Puff was quite fun, and I think that our class will dominate for the years to come." - Colin McHill, 9

"It was fun, but we got killed." - Justin Estes, 9

Junior Reign

Along with homecoming week comes the annual Tuff Puff matches of the classes. For a week, the old gym bleachers were filled with fans cheering on the males of their class as they played volleyball during lunch break. The seniors finished with a devastating loss to the sophomores, and the freshman team lost their first match against the juniors. It was the juniors who prevailed after three matches, even when put up against the teachers.

Mine! sophomores Colten Hackstedt and Marcus Giese both jump to set the ball in their game against the seniors.

T read lightly Varsity Waterpolo

All sports challenge you mentally and physically. Waterpolo is no exception. "I'd like to see some of the people that trash talk waterpolo players actually get in the water and play. Polo is one of the toughest sports mentally and physically that anyone can play," said senior Alan King. Waterpolo has an unwritten rule that what is under water stays underwater. If the refs don't see it, it's legal.

"You never know what might happen above or below the water. You have to be ready for ANYTHING!" said King. Most people may think that waterpolo players are just like every other athlete, but in reality they are some of the strongest and enthusiastic athletes.

"Coach Ray is like 70 and he runs with the team, he is a total bad-a." - Tristan Lee, 12

On your mark... Cross Country

Hard work, endurance and dedication are all required to excel at any sport. Many runners found that cross country is not only physically challenging, but mentally challenging as well. "I was most challenged when I was running and my body told me to stop but I pushed through," said freshman Ryan Hilpert. When the end of the race is in sight and your body feels like shutting down, mental power is all that can carry you to the end.

Memories were made that will last a lifetime. "My best memory is just laughing with the girls," said senior Candice Molina. Others remember certain races, personal records, and even disappointments. However, it is not whether you win or lose, it is your pursuit of the finish line.

A moment to relax, Cross country proves to be a very tiring sport. Many of the runners took advantage of every chance they could get to rest. Seniors Emily Flory, Tristan Lee and junior Derek Olson take a break from running.

Front: Jenna Narrow, Autumn Rae, Christine Molina, Amy Schmadeka, Amanda Groff, Amanda Martin and Candice Molina. Beach Bums, the team took a break from running and enjoyed a day at the beach. Seaside was not only an opportunity to bond with the rest of the team, but also a time to make memories. "My best memory was when I ate an earthworm at Seaside," said senior Dan May.

Second Round

Varsity Volleyball

Holding their breath, the crowd watched as the opponent hit a long shot out of the back court. The moment it landed, the gym erupted with screaming and applause.

Rushing the floor to congratulate the team on their victory, the mob was disappointed. The team had fled.

Like lightning they ran to the front lawn of the school. Adrenaline running high, the moment they had been waiting for since Sheldon had stolen a much wanted victory had finally arrived.

It was time to ring the victory bell...

"The Beast" junior Brienne Barton proved her nickname to be true. "She grew and came so far from last year to this year," said sophomore Alexis Nissen. "She was our best hitter."

My favorite memory was meeting all of the amazing girls and making friends. And of course, WINNING." - Lea Ulrich, 12

Left: Hammer time, sophomore Alexis Nissen winds up before spiking the ball. "I learned that I need to always be moving, talking and thinking to help my team," said Nissen. Middle: Get low, senior Melissa Bishop covered the hitter. Bishop was an asset. She played all around and was a powerhouse middle hitter. Right: Perfect Play, junior Tina Dodge passes the ball to junior setter Jordan Burrows. Junior Blair Healy waits to be set backside.

Left: Take that! Blocking was a big part of the varsity team's defense this season. Juniors Brianne Barton and Blair Healy defend the net. Middle: Ace, junior Courtney Lamb was a threat at the service line." She's one of the best servers on the team," said junior Tina Dodge. Right: Take a knee, senior Brittney Dowding passed the ball from her defensive position. Dowding proved to be a leader and took charge in the back row.

Stuff 'em, senior middle hitter Melissa Bishop and junior setter/outside hitter Jordan Burrows use their height and will, penetrating the net. "Jordan is an awesome volleyball player who is going to make it far," said junior Alicia Murphy.

"I like how we're a small town, but we're good. People wouldn't expect us to be as good as we are." - Courtney Lamb, 11

Left: Send it to the moon, junior Alison Krebs uses her quick reflexes to get under the ball. "My favorite memory is when the band came to the Sheldon game," said Krebs. Middle: "Start strong, stay strong," before getting into position, the starters said a cheer to get the team pumped up. Right: Extra effort, sophomore Allie Stock kept the team alive with her upbeat attitude. She hit the floor to save the ball every chance she got.

Swing away Freshmen Volleyball

Communication is an emphasis in sports. Athletes learn to talk to each other and their coaches on and off the court. "Lindsay was amazing," said Sarah Schoenthal. "She always talked to us about things."

Not talking on the court had its consequences. To fix the problem, the freshmen girls experienced a fair amount of conditioning. Every time a ball dropped or someone was in the net they had to run a set of lines. "Practices were run, run, and run some more," said Jenessa Sheets.

Front: Sarah Schoenthal, Ashley Comer and Jenessa Sheets. Middle: Megan Zaina, Amber Kimball, Chantal Kirby and Savanna Lindberg. Back: Sage Gerson, Cassandra Stewart, Coach Lindsey Gay, Hannah Suing and Nicole Miller.

All smiles, Megan Zaina was a positive role model on her team. "She always participated and worked hard," said team mate Savanna Lindberg. Her positive attitude kept the rest of her team positive as well.

Above: Celebrate! After making the play, freshmen Chantal Kirby, Jenessa Sheets, Nicole Miller, Megan Zaina, and Hannah Suing gather in the middle of the court to congratulate each other on a job well done. "Our team improved on communication this year," said Sheets. "Our skill level also improved."

Once we had to run 14 sets of lines. I thought you didn't have to run in volleyball." - Sage Gerson, 9

"The refs should all be required to wear glasses. All of them!" - Cassie Stewart, 9

Left: Out! Sarah Schoenthal and Amber Kimball follow the ball to the line as it proceeds out of the court.

Middle: Moose antler twins, Hannah Suing sets the ball during warm ups.

Right: "That is not German" foreign exchange student Lea Ulrich, not only got to be the manager of the varsity team; she also got to dress down and play a game with the freshmen team.

Left: Pass it up, sophomore Amanda Roadhouse unleashed her defensive skills to make a good play. Middle: Unity, the J.V. girls had a lot of fun together this season. They are all really close. "The best thing about playing for Lebanon is I get to play with all of my friends," said sophomore Kacey Setzer. Right: Total control, serving is the one aspect of volleyball that you have complete control over. Junior Nicole Wimer stepped up to the line with complete confidence.

"The most amazing play was when Cassie Kuhns jump served the game winning point." - Alyssa Molina, 11 "When the other team loses, they know they lost to a good team." - Rebecca Joplin, 10

T ransition

J.V. Volleyball

The junior varsity volleyball team went through many transitions this season. On the court they transitioned from offense to defense and from defense to offense. Off the court they transitioned from two coaches to one and back to two. They stayed strong through the whole situation and continued to bond as a team. "I learned that for a team to work you have to have team chemistry," said sophomore Cassandra Kuhns. "You have to have great bonding."

Follow through, junior Jennifer Ford sets to her middle hitter, sophomore Nicole Springer, during warm ups. "My favorite memory was when Nicole fell off the bus wearing her cowboy boots in front of a group of guys," said sophomore Morgan Brantner.

All around, junior Leah Suderman can do it all.

She can play back row and front row. She can hit and pass. If they were in trouble, they could look to Leah to make the play.

Dance Team

The Explosion were not as explosive this year. After winning state for the second time this millennium, the girls did not live up to the expectations set for them before the year began. Despite it all, they had fun.

"It was a blast. The adrenaline and the drama. It keeps us on our toes," said Info. Sys. sophomore Lindsay Nelson.

"Practices are fun, but the competitions are difficult," said Liv. Sys. senior Cammi Bloom.

Bloom is one of the more experienced members. She knows what it takes to win and she hopes to show the younger girls so the explosion can be loud again.

A dancing star, senior Barbara McGehee is known to be a very hard working and dedicated member of the dance team. "Barbie McGehee is an amazing dancer and an amazing person," said freshman Kayla Parker.

Women's Varsity Basketball

With only three players from last year's varsity team the girls had fight an uphill battle from the beginning. The ladies were optimistic after several pre-season victories. They started the league games by winning 2 of 4 games. Then the still tough warriors hit a slump. "We needed to play all four quarters to ensure a win but we could only finish three", said junior Rebekah Johnson. Even at the end of the season the girls were happy with each other. "I think we really came together as a team", said senior Carmen Brantner, "The scores didn't reflect how hard and well our team played through the games."

Stand tall, senior post Carmen Brantner does not mess around when it comes to basketball. "She was a good leader through how she performed on the court for our team," said junior Amanda Masog.

Fresh Start

Men's Varsity Basketball

The Varsity team welcomed some well needed new faces on the team this season. These faces were those of some talented Junior boys. With the new team ready to redeem themselves from last years season they put their all into improving their game. "[Compared to last season] I think that I have improved on my free throws," said senior Ryan Bolman. Practices were tough but they pushed through them in order to expand on their ball skills. "We work really hard and usually scrimmage for about 40 minutes," said senior Andrew McHill. With the fresh faces on the team and everyone doing their best in practice and in games the Men's Varsity Basketball team finished the season with eight wins.

Take charge, junior Dillon Middleton was recognized by his team as a key player. "He talks trash but he has the game to back it up," said senior and fellow teammate Jesse Flick. Middleton was one of the 8 wings on the team.

"My dunk has dramatically improved since last season. I'm averaging a dunk per game this year." - Jordan Jantzi, 12

My ball, senior post Cody Cowdrey catches a pass from a team mate and drives to the hoop while avoiding two players from South Eugene.

"I play center, I battle the really big guys. It is awesome and gets me aggressive." - Aaron Kuntzelman, 11

Men's Frosh Basketball

The Midwestern League was not very kind to this year's group of freshmen men. The season started off rocky as they began a losing streak. Not only did they lose games, they also lost players. By the end of the season they were down to only nine players. However, "Having fewer players made us stronger as a team," said Kyler Shanks.

Even though they were fewer in number the intensity these men had did not diminish with their lost teammates. They came through it and played like a team.

"He gits-er-done," said Ben Cramlet when asked about his teammate Aaron Beggs. "He's a good guy," said Jarett Hensley. "He has really improved." The opposing player is not able to stop him as he drives to the basket.

Fly like an eagle, Jarett Hensley proves that white men can jump as he flies through the crowd of North Eugene players. "I play point guard because you get to run the floor and dribble a lot," said Hensley. "[Coach] Ford really keeps me motivated," he said. "He tries to keep my head in the game."

"I just try to push myself." - Brenton Bilyeu. "I've gotten better at ball handling." - Sean Patel. "Practices involve lots of movement and activity." - Justin Estes

Left: Hit the square, Alex Geas attempts to make a lay-in. "My role models are my parents," said Geas. Middle: Triple threat, Chris Henderson waits until the right moment to pass the ball to his teammates. Right: Stuff him, Michael Mackie tries to block the opposing players' shot.

Left: Hit me, junior Isaiah Russell posts up big for the lob pass. "I love having the ball in my hands," said Russell. Middle: Wait for it, junior Wyatt King blocks out the other player from getting the rebound as junior Ryan Legee assists him. Right: Pass it on, "I feel that I have improved my defense and passing ability since last year," said sophomore Robbie Zaina. "The coaches have really helped me to move even without the basketball," said Zaina.

"I would like to play wing because you can drive to the hoop and score more." - Derek VanAntwerp, 10

"Hump is the man." - Russell Duerr, 10

Swat, sophomore Colton Hackstedt uses his gift of height to try and stop South Eugene from scoring. "It's been great playing on this team. We've come a long way this season," said Hackstedt. "The guys on my team pushed me so much this year."

Leadership, junior Robbie Roosa has taken charge this season. "I learned that I can score or pass to someone who can score," said Roosa.

"Robbie is a stud," said sophomore Tyler Price. "He is a leader," said sophomore Colton Hackstedt. Robbie also was a swinger on the varsity team.

Four Out

Men's JV Basketball

Hustle and flow.

That is not just a movie title, it also describes the 2005 - 2006 boys' JV Basketball season.

Their pressure on defense never relented, their tempo on offense never slowed. They were fighters all the way to the finish. The experience of the junior core showed through and rubbed off positively on all the younger teammates and made for a successful season.

Swimming

A completely new coach disrupted the fairly solid flow of the team's expectations of how things would be ran. When the season first started the swimmers did not really know what to expect of the coach and each other, but they figured things out well enough. "It has been cool to see all the new swimmers this year and how much better they've gotten since the beginning of the season." Said sophomore Kenneth Saether.

Many little memories can be incorporated to this year's season, but most of the team would agree with freshman Merissa Haynes in saying "The funnest part is bus rides, and when you race for the first time."

An outstanding leader, senior Tyler Scott was recognized for the way he treated all grade levels, male and females alike. "He is a team leader and keeps people in track." said freshman Ryan Hilpert.

Front: Cortnee Hanson, Megan Enright, Amy Buchheit, McKenzie Bender, Alyshia Benzo and Kendra Palinkas. Second: Merissa Haynes, Mitnetwork Vanover, Lindsey Aikin, Desirae Johnson, Bridget Saether, Devin Aldrich and Jennifer Meadowbrook. Third: Ryan Hilpert, Beth Cathcart, Aaron Vanepps, Sarah Vojnovich, Steven Castro, Tyler Scott and Trace Crossman. Fourth: Michael Vanatta and Coach Gus Arzner. Fifth: Mary Buchheit, Jeffery Vanepps, Alan King, Ricardo Jackson, Kenneth Saether and Jessica Coddington.

Swimming 132

"The trip to Redmond and Marshfield was a blast." - Cortnee Hanson, 12

Left: Stretch, sophomore Amy Buchheit pulls back a long stride in her fifty yard free style. Middle: I'm diving' in, freshman Ryan Hilpert shoots off the blocks for a far stretched dive. Left: Deep breaths, freshman Desirae Johnson paddles through the water giving her all. When asked if she had a moment that stuck out in her mind she responded; "when I fell off the blocks." At the beginning of a race, she was a little eager and jumped at the false start.

A little down time, a group of swimmers come together in a circle to get a little hyped up, cheer on each other, and show Willamette, that Lebanon, is ready to take anything on.

"The seniors had some cool talks on the way back from Marshfield." - Alan King, 12

Rah! Rah! Cheerleading

We all know who they are, and we can all agree that they have come a long way. Our cheerleaders show a lot of spirit and they support our school, as well as demonstrate leadership. "Boosting school spirit is my main goal in cheerleading," said senior Kyra Sigler. This years cheerleaders have trained very hard and it is evident. Along with growing in the number of girls who now cheer, they have sharpened their existing skills. "I've gotten better at jumps," said first year senior Tori Harvey. Utilizing all of the aspects these girls have, gives our school a great squad.

All "four" one, senior Kyra Sigler is the only girl to have been on the varsity cheerleading team all four years of high school during every season. "Everybody has always known me as the cheerleader with the long black hair," said Sigler.

Front: Falon Landers. Second: Kaitlyn Stone and Shalla Taylor. Third: Kyra Sigler, Tabatha Kingsberry and Sarah DeGras. Back: Andrea Greene, Jaleta Parmenter, Jordan Bertram, Britny Stewart, Kaitlin Thoma and Amanda Wilson.

"The most memorable moment was at our first pep assembly. Our music didn't work, but the band saved us with the fight song." - Tori Harvey, 12

Everybody do the Warrior Rumble! senior Tori Harvey, sophomore Kaitlyn Stone and freshman Savanna Lindberg are among the cheerleaders who lead the crowd at the Valentines pep assembly. "It's a lot of fun. I love getting to dance and yell," said Harvey.

Front: Amy Tacy. Second: Katie Lawrence and Ashlee Kingsberry. Back: Shawna Walker, Coach Kelsey Peterson, Sam Nervino and Susan Sutton.

Caught in the moment, sophomore Samantha Nervino and freshman Ashley Gaines show their more theatrical side before going back to entertain the crowd.

Left: Round and round we go, the equestrian girls practice a circular maneuver on the ground before they take it up with their horses. Right: Giddy up, junior Kathleen Hull steers her horse around the arena moving this way and that to impress the judges.

"My favorite event would be barrels, I would like to go further into that for rodeos to be a professional barrel racer." - Shayna Grissom, 9

Cowgirl U

Equestrian

It takes much dedication to go to the stables everyday and brush and take care of their horses, but for the equestrian team that is why they do it. They love their horses and being with others that enjoy the sport as much as they do. "I joined so that I could be with people that have the same interests as me and love horses as much as I do," said junior Alysia Furman.

Like a statue, junior Alysia Furman shows off her horse Mira at a showmanship contest. This is the third year Furman has been showing Mira.

Line 'em up, the drill team lines up and practices the positioning for their entrance maneuver, bringing them into the arena.

Two by two, juniors Alysia Furman and Kathleen Hull align their horses for the working pairs event. The girls are in the middle of a pattern developed by the rest of the squad.

Hey horsey, sophomore Mikki-Lee Williams stands with her horse Jackie. Williams has been showing Jackie for three years now.

Front: Bittany Dixon, Alexandra Melain and Mikki-Lee Williams. Back: Shayna Grissom, Britni Blau, Kathleen Hull, Jordan Wilson, Alysia Furman and Jordyn Collins.

Scalawags Robotics

Using their skills and experience, the robotics team came up with an individual design named "Pieces of 8." They were well known for their pirate theme and for winning the Imagery award. "I like designing, doing metal fabrication and welding," said sophomore Stephen Linville. Many of the students liked being able make things.

Catching a few Z's, sophomore Nathan Carrasco nods off while waiting for things to get started during the Robot Finals at OSU.

Fellow honors, sophomores Amber Poston and Ian Avilez decorate pirate hats. "Our team would hand out awards to other teams and that was from our theme of pirates," said Poston.

Buttons! to show some spirit the Robotics team collected buttons and stuck them on their project. "We collect them from other teams. We went to Portland and got a lot there. They were just handing them out," said sophomore Aaron Arevalo.

Flaunt what your mother gave you, sophomore Sean Stalley tries to distract the crowd from his teammates by flashing a bit of... personality.

Along with students and teachers from surrounding schools, LHS kids were enthusiastic to join an outside Robotics club. Sophomores Ian Avilez, Amber Poston, Timothy Dechellis, Stephen Linville, Francis McDaniel, Stacy Covell, Mark Bowser, Aaron Arevalo, Sean Stalley and freshman Eric Bowser were part of this group of kids.

"The green under glow of the robot car was amazing. There was so much excitement and energy from the screaming and cheering." - Stacy Covell, 10

Wave that banner high, sophomores Stephen Linville and Amber Poston walk by the Robotics teams' invention while their flag was being waved by fellow sophomores Sean Stalley and Ian Avilez. The banner showed off the same logo as their shirts; a skull with crossbones.

People

"I'm happy when it snows so much you can't come to school." - Kyle Duttlinger, 12

"I'll never be outworked..." - Mike Greene, 11

Day in day out students come to school, whether it's to expand their knowledge or their social skills. Take junior Charles Moncy for example, he says "I love sleeping!" And that is his form of entertainment. Another way to entertain oneself according to junior Terra Blackford is to "Party on!"

The year was full of excitement for favorite classes, no school days, friends and summer vacation. And let's not forget the dreaded finals or endless amounts of homework.

So whether you are the one sleeping and absorbing the knowledge by osmosis or you are the outgoing person in the back of the room encouraging people to look on the bright side, you fit into Lebanon High and are a true WARRIOR.

"If I had wings, I would fly to heaven." - Sarah Schoenthal, 9

"My biggest fear is death, because it's scary." - David Tracy, 11

In every hallway, juniors of all systems talk about it... we only have one year left.

As freshmen, we were here before the shift into academies. The dramatic change between freshmen and sophomore year has affected us, and the forced shift into academies has not gone unnoticed.

We have watched school pride go up, even though our records haven't changed. We have witnessed much of the change that has gone on at Lebanon High. And through all this, we have remained the class of 2007 - a class of change.

What is the best part about being a Junior?

"Next year I will be a senior and my classes will be fun," said Nichole Aho. Aho is in Social Systems and is still working on getting her required classes as a junior.

Danielle Denton, of Information Systems, said junior year is great because there is only one year left until graduation. "I won't have to go to school anymore!" said Denton.

Eli Wilson from Physical Systems said "You know a lot more people." He also thinks being closer to graduating and off campus lunches are an added bonus.

Living System's Josephine Olson said "Getting to sit on the upper classmen side of the gym at pep assemblies" is the best part about being a junior.

"I want to be working in the business and law fields," said Kalynn Alley from Social Systems. Alley is involved in Business Law, DECA, and Marketing 2.

Real Estate is what Dmitry Kleychinov wants to do when he gets older. "It is an easy job for me," said Kleychinov, a student in Information Systems.

Nicole Barricklow is one of the very few girls in Physical System. "I want to be an architect," said Barricklow. "I like working with others and designing."

Living System's Amanda Groff said, "I want to be a surgeon. I think it would be amazing to help people fix their bodies."

What do you think of your academy?

Erin Lee thinks that Social Systems "is good, better than Living." Formerly in Living Systems, Lee switched because Social Systems had more classes she liked.

Gwendolin Frye of Information Systems said "I like my academy because I get to have computer classes, like Web design." Frye wants to have a job in technology.

"I can do things hands on [in Physical Systems]," said Michael Rathbun. "It makes it easier to learn." Hands on work flourishes in this system.

Living System's Chad Greenly said "I like all the teachers in my academy, and the classes are pretty cool." Greenly has been in Living Systems for the last two years.

Camera shy?

Danielle Aldrich, Lena Anderson, Nekole Avants, Justin Barnett, Tierra Bodda, Sabrina Bryson, Eric Buckner II, Lucille Burton, Trevor Clark, Travis Coberly, Andrew Duva, Donald Flanigan, Ashika Foreman, Scott Forney, William Gaddis, Emily Harwood, Lisa Hodgdon, Austin King, Jenipher Larsen, Joshua Laub, Erin Lee, Andrew Lockwood, Yuriy Mikitchenko, Bud Moseley, Tiffany Nebergall, Jorge Negrete, Kristopher Olheiser, Tabatha Price, Raymond Rood, Felipe Sanchez, Danielle Slupe, Sara Smail, Jack Tacy, Michael Tarrant, Travis Tracy, Shartah Triplett, Kimberly Trask, Kristy Tucker, Brandon Ulm, Melissa Virrueta, Sean Walker and Aaron York.

Right: A little chilly out here, Colten Schumacher sports the popular new beanie trend in front of the high school. Schumacher played on the Varsity soccer team.

Small Schools blurred the image of the class of 2008, but these sophomores pulled together and created a clarity. They set goals and focused on their success.

Nothing will stop most of them, especially if it is on the road of education.

As the first group to begin in the Academy system they look forward to the continuing journey they face.

What new challenges await for next year? How will this class help create better academies?

Whatever challenges arise, we will overcome them and become better for it.

Best of luck and skill as Juniors.

What do you think about your academy?

"The classes are cool. I get to be with all my friends. Overall it is a good system."

Cody Cowart, Liv. Sys.

"Because there is art in my academy, I like it. That is why I picked it."

Nicole Allee, Info. Sys.

Remember when we...

This summer let's...

Next year we will...

Left: Stares to outer space, Samantha Nirvino and Shasta Huffman take a break during Amy Woodruff's design class and tune everything out for a moment. Middle: Hide me, seeing if she really could fit in a locker, Brittany Wade and friend Leah Platt take it upon themselves to try it. "I was too afraid to let her shut the locker," said Wade. Right: Wow! Karlee Hermans gets a big shocker from the close up shot, while getting ready to put some food in her mouth. "I was walking in the commons with a mouth full of gummy bears, and snap, there was the camera!"

"Freshmen are experiencing one of the great transition periods of their lives. You don't get too many in your life, and none of them are easy. In freshmen we see a wide variety of responses and behaviors to that transition," said Information systems teacher William Caffey.

For some of this year's freshmen, the transition to high school started the previous year. As eighth graders they were given the opportunity to take high school classes such as math and language arts.

While some started their freshman year in middle school and others chose to wait, they all experienced the same changes.

Freshmen

class of '09

"The grass is always cleaner on the other side" - Jarett Hensley      "Everyone is a gem, you just have to find the shiny part." - Emily King

"The best part about being a freshman is being able to laugh at your friends who are still in middle school." - Amanda McDowell

"A true genius is a man who does his homework." - Wes Husted

"I am happy when I eat candy or when I'm in Wal-Mart." - Emily Skipper

"Love is a four letter word." - Trevor Cook

"Love is horrible, wonderful, can be stressful, but is still really great." - Amber Lofton

"My favorite shape is a cross because it has an awesome meaning for me!" - Tedi Massey

"My favorite color is blue." - Javier Hernandez

"I love weightlifting." - Pavel Kokhanevich

"I am happy when that crazy senior guy Chris is yelling at games. He's an animal." - Jordan Bertram

"I like the shape of Florida because it's shaped like a fish." - Sean Patel

"Mid calf grey socks are comin' back!" - Brenton Bilyeu

If you could have one song stuck in your head for the rest of your life, what would it be?

"Bless the Broken Road because it calms me down." - Katharine Dunigan

"Badd by Mike Jones because it's funny and I like it" - Heather Adam

"Mission Impossible" - Trevor Cook

"My Humps by the Black Eyed Peas." - Desirae Johnson

"ACDC- Back in Black" - Billy Snook

"Before I Forget by Slipknot" - Daniel Schmidt

"None. The rest of my life is a long time, I hope." - Logan Burt

What is the best part about being a freshmen?

"Is there a good part about being a freshman?" said Michael Salisbury of Soc. Sys. Salisbury enjoys doing drama. "I like drama because you can be yourself."

Ryan Butler of Info. Sys., said he does not get teased as much. "Last year I got teased a lot." He also has more friends here. "I have some upper class friends."

Aaron Budiselich of Phy. Sys., likes "Having a variety of classes and being able to pick them yourself, rather than being thrown into the one with the least amount of kids."

"It's a whole new school, and I have a lot more friends," said Coddie Marshall. She plays soccer and basketball. She got kicked in the face once while tending to her goal.

Right: The occasional drill, "I love fire drills because you get out of class," said Matt Wolfenbarger. Middle: Boogie down, Juanita Cabe and Sydney Watts get their groove on at homecoming. "It was really fun and loud," said Watts, "Everyone was dancing, even a few people who previously said they wouldn't." Right: "What did I do this time?" said Corey Elliott as he pays attention during class.

Middle: Strummin' the guitar, Luke Armstrong takes a break from his normal activities to get a laugh from a few of his friends. "I like to relax by petting horses and playing guitar," he jokes.

Right: Ready to start the day, Lorena Birrueta, Karen Butcher and Aloha Elam wait patiently for the assembly to begin on Freshmen Orientation day.

Left: Peace and quiet, Kayla McConnell seeks refuge from the noise in the classroom. Middle: While you are out, your house could be redesigned by Brittany Milam. "I like interior design because it's a lot of hands on stuff," said Milam, "I like drawing a lot; I do it all the time." Right: Get back to work, Matt Wright, Bragi Weathers and Ian Williams take a break from their work to pose for the camera.

If you could be any cartoon character what would you be?

"I would be a ninja turtle because I want num-chucks." - Judah Fry

"Betty Boop because she's HOTT!!" - Kimberly Mull

"A ninja turtle because I would learn cool karate" - Nico Johnson

"Jerry the Mouse because he is really fast, small and beats Tom up." - Rose Fitzwater

"Lola Bunny because she makes Bugs Bunny's eyes pop out of his head." - Tedi Massey

"Mickey Mouse because he is rich." - Jarett Hensley

"Scooby Doo because he is famous and has an accent" - Emily King

What do you want to be when you grow up?

"I'm actually not really sure what I want to be," said Shelby Boucher of Soc. Sys. She enjoys taking, drawing and painting classes and "I like photography."

Colby Herman of Info. Sys. would love a job as a fashion designer. "It sounds like a really interesting job. It would be cool to start a trend or make other people look nice."

"I have thirty-two notebooks full of house drawings," exclaimed Kalista Knight of Phy. Sys. She wants to be an architect. "I've been drawing houses since I was six or seven."

Kyle Rush of Liv. Sys. likes crime and law. "I used to want to be a lawyer, but now I want to be a crime investigator. I'm going to try to take Forensics and Intro. to Law."

Middle: This is relevant because..., Tanezia Fox listens to someone respond to her question.
Right: Just chillin, Even though fire drills are annoying, they are a good practice in case of a real emergency. The time away from class and getting to see friends is always a bonus.

Left: I'll be there for you, the freshmen homecoming princes and princesses Justin Estes, Colin McHill, Christian Barajas, Amy Bloom and Jordan Bertram perform their "Friends" skit at the pep assembly. "The freshmen pretty much stole the show," said Bertram. Middle: Computerize it, Ian Nolan, Ben McCrory, Kayla McConnell and Dalton Lott pay attention to Pam Maeyaert during computer class. Right: A novel idea, reading is an essential life skill. "I read books a lot for Jenkins' class," said Alex Geas.

"We were really cold," said Beasley. Middle: Disturbance in the force, "I am creating distractions from the real tortures of math class," said Emily Skipper. Right: Filled with joy, Elizabeth Marquez enjoys a good laugh. "I love laughing. I do it almost everyday," said Marquez.

"I hate fast food, but I love Subway." - Jennie Marshall, 10

"I like fast food, it is fast and cheap." - David Hawes, 12

Most people do not realize how important ads are to yearbook. Without ads there would be a smaller, less colorful book. We get our support from community businesses and from our students' families. These people do not always get enough appreciation for their efforts.

The Warrior yearbook and ads staff would like to thank them. Thank you for helping us make our book to the best of our abilities and being our back bone. No one is obligated to support us, but many do. Thanks!

It is the hard work of the designers on our business staff who make these ads so unique and creative. Even though they are in the back, just as much work goes into the ads as anywhere else in the book. So please just take a moment and recognize those who provide community support.

Inspiration

She walks into my little room,
Never looking near gloom.
She pulls us up instead of down,
Going everywhere with no frown.
When everything is going wrong she'd shake her head,
And made sure she tucked us into bed.
When we could crumble and fall,
She would stand tall and became our wall.
Hiding all her tears,
Just to keep us from seeing your own fears.
To you who can handle all your frustration,
We just want you to know you're our inspiration.
Thank-god for your creation.
Sis, this is to you.

We love you SO much!! Good luck with your new life! You've always made us proud! Always!! Now go out and show the world.

Love Dad, Missy, Bobby, and entire Rancho family

GANGSTER BUNCH

Here's the low down of a group of fellas
Who were in their senior year of school
All of them were very fun, they were brothers
Found their chords at a thrift shop.

Til this one day when the chicas met the fellas
And they knew that it was much more than a hunch
That this group was more than jokes and gnoming
That's the way they all became the gangsta bunch!

Here's the low down of four young chicas
Who were busy with classes of their own
Always found together, making mischief
But they were all alone.

CAN'T TOUCH THIS! SENIORS 2006

"You've got a big heart. Keep it filled with happiness. You've got a fascinating mind. Keep finding new ways to grow. Keep yearning. Keep learning. Keep trying. Keep smiling. And keep remembering that a parent's love goes with you... everywhere you go." - Douglas Richards

*My little gentleman, to my grown gentleman. You have come a long way. We love you. Congratulations!
Love,
Mom*

nor can the rest of the crew in spite of what they sometimes think.

You faced and met deadlines, you struggled and learned to lead others and battled that oh-so deadly plague- Senioritis. Now, you will walk across that stage in Heath Stadium, throw your hats into the air, and begin a new journey.

May what you have learned through 'the Pub Room' serve you well in these travels.

Only the best of everything in life to each of you! Be sure and visit once in awhile.

Sincerely, Whitson

*Janell,
Follow your dreams with a positive attitude.
What ever you choose to do we know you will succeed. You have grown into an amazing young lady and we are so very proud of you.
Love Mom, Dad and Andrew*

Left: Excuses, excuses, Lori Randall is in charge of the attendance office. She enjoys working and interacting with the students. Middle: Right at home, "One of my favorite parts of working here is the staff. They are like a second family," said Lori Stolsig. Right: Master of Schedules, Sue Thompson is our official registrar; she is organized, smart and "likes to play boogie woogie on the piano."

Left: Can I help you? "Coming back to LHS is great because I get to see all of the kids from Green Acres grow up from kindergarten to high school," said Lori Henderson. Middle: Smiles, Jamie Stinson, Becky Hood and Linda Horner can be found nestled in the back of the office. Right: Small town values, "I like watching the students grow and learn," said Brenda Bianchi. "In small towns you get to know people better."

Left: Clean up crew, Sheri Hite, Jon Jensen, Ron Ellis and Trina Giguere arrive at school at 3 p.m. and stay well into the night to make our school beautiful. Middle: Jam session, as Facility officer, Art Boykin maintains the school and the grounds. Right: If you can't take the heat, get out of the kitchen, "The kids are great here," said Rena Schrock. "Serving breakfast in the morning for the kids is the best part."

THE RETURNING

At the beginning of trimester one a group of completely new students who had the promise of bringing much success to the yearbook showed up for the first time. A group of brand new seniors joined and had a lot of work to do. They quickly learned that yearbook was not one of those show up and get an 'A' classes. Romaine Ashley had been in yearbook class before, but had a bigger role this year as a page designer. "There's so much involved and it takes so many extra hours outside of the actual class," said Ashley. Each student is expected to meet the requirement of at least six hours outside of class each deadline. The time can be spent taking pictures of sports or other extracurricular activities, or coming in before school, during lunch and after school to put in time. This yearbook staff pulled it together in the end to produce a book that makes their fellow WARRIORS, IN FOCUS.

The Warrior, Volume 74, was produced by the yearbook staff at Lebanon High School in Lebanon, OR and was printed by Herff Jones, Inc. in Logan, UT. The theme WARRIOR, IN FOCUS was developed by Editor Melissa Cady and her assistants. Cady also designed the cover. The Warrior cover incorporated a four-color design which was embossed and finished with UV and matte lamination. The four-color end sheets were printed on white Vibracolor paper. The book's 208 pages were printed on Premier 100# paper. It also includes a 16 page Spring Supplement distributed at registration. The 2006 volume includes 48 pages printed in full color. Fonts used were AHJ Molehill, AHJ Palladio, AHJ Bernhard Tango, AHJ Cheltenham Condensed and AHJ Cheltenham Condensed Light. Pages were submitted to the plant via FTP. The Warrior was produced using Adobe InDesign CS, on Apple Macintosh eMac computers. Digital photos were taken with 6.3 mega pixel Cannon Digital Rebel cameras and 3.1 mega pixel Cannon S1 cameras. The 900 copies of the book were sold for $50 before December 15th and $55 after December 15th. The Herff Jones yearbook representatives were Bill and Cindy Dubé and the plant customer service representative was Chris Speth. Many thanks to all who made this book possible!

"Whelp, it's been great, but like they say all good things must come to an end. Always shoot for the stars and enjoy life." - Andrew Mchill, 12
