Physical description of property and statement of historical significance:

This one and a half story Colonial Revival house consists of the original T-shape and a lower wing added to the west. The steeply pitched gable end in the center of the south elevation contains a six/one, double-hung window. The window directly below on the ground floor has been replaced with a fixed single-light window and the head has been lowered. The front porch to the east has two round columns below a pedimented gable roof. The multi-light front door and square six-light window to the left both have cornice moldings. The side porch in the southwest corner has a less steeply pitched gable roof and chamfered posts.

Stairs from the front porch also project out towards the street along the east facade of the house. In the center of the ground floor is a large double-hung window with a multi-light upper sash, above which are a frieze, cornice and finials. In the north corner a similar window is capped by a returned eave. There is a six/one, double-hung window in the center of the gable end. All gable ends are clad with shingles while the first floor has shiplap siding and corner boards. An exterior red brick chimney with concrete kicks is located on the north elevation.
